Louise Croody in "Good Morning, Dearie"

Thelma Power in "The Wandering Jew"

BY ELIZABETH LONERGAN. NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—(Special.)

The past week saw five new openings, and, incidentally, an equal number of closing of shows that had come to Broadway recently.

Again Mr. Dillingham has scored with a new musical show. He certainly knows how to put them over. It is called "Good Morning, Dearie," and has Louise Croody as star.

The new Helen Hayes play, with a cast composed mainly of boys and girls, proved to be a delightful little comedy of life of the sort that Booth Tarkington loves to describe.

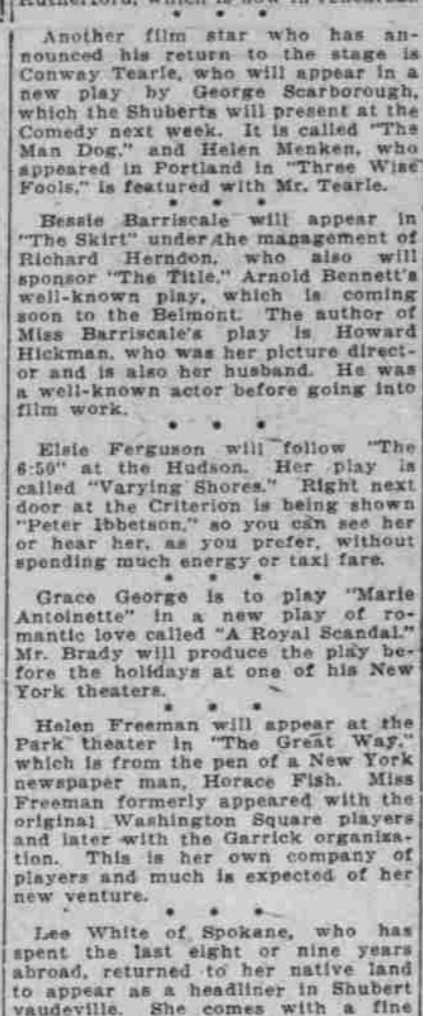

Another tense drama of sea life in "Anna Christie" Eugene O'Neill's latest play. The scenes take place in a New York saloon of the old type and on a canal boat.

Sothen and Marlowe opened their Shakespearean season with "Twelfth Night." Miss Marlowe, as fair and slender as ever, appeared in her favorite role of "Viola."

Billie Burke tried out her new play in Washington the other night and

ARTIST WANTS BRAND NEW STUFF AND SURELY GETS IT

Pure White Soul Nearly Creaks After Listening to Qualifications for New Plot—Author Falls On Desk.

ARTIST AND PURE WHITE SOUL.

ONE day a pure white soul that made Sonnets by hand was hiding in its apartment and embroidering a Canto.

Presently he put his Mitt to the Mandar and began to indite with a pearl-handled pen on Red Paper.

The artist was a muscular person with an Ashen Complexion and a Sult Next to his Ear.

How subsequent events have faltered those hopes is only too well known. The vision of the reformers seems to have been lost in a maze of petty quarrelling, public monies have been spent in wrong directions.

The crux of the whole far-eastern position is China, and the attitude adopted toward her by other nations. The talk of armaments on the part of America, Japan and Britain arises not so much by anything they stand to lose in the way of their own national possessions or territories.

China First Consideration. Representatives of America, France, Britain, Japan and China are meeting at Washington to discuss a problem that arises mainly because of the last-named country, and it is essential, therefore, that the position of that country should be first considered.

It is interesting to study the course of recent history in China because it affords a starting point from which to see the threatened danger and much better to study the wider problem. In the closing years of the life of that wonderful figure, the empress dowager, there were insistent demands on the part of many for constitutional reforms and for the abolition of many corrupt practices.

The abolition of the youthful emperor and the proclamation of a republic were hailed throughout the civilized world as marking the beginning of an enlightened regime and as the starting point for a new China

FINELY LEVIED HELD JUST

Steamship China's Officers Catch Opium Smuggler; Penalized.

HONOLULU, T. H.—Captain F. W. Wise of the China Mail Steamship liner China is attempting to induce the United States government to accept as true the old copybook exercises, "honesty is the best policy" and "virtue is its own reward."

The ship's officers seized the package and turned it over to government officials when the China docked. The vigilance and action of Captain Wise and the officers was praised highly at the time by Acting Collector of the Port O'Neil.

These fines Captain Wise is attempting to have remitted, pointing out that the ship's officers frustrated the smuggling plot and that the seizure was entered on the vessel's log immediately after it was accomplished.

MORE PINEAPPLES GROWN

Paper Mulching Process in Hawaiian Islands Proves Success.

HONOLULU.—Hawaiian sugar and pineapple planters, hampered by a shortage of field workers, have turned to science for a solution of their difficulties "with encouraging results."

The paper-mulching process is simple, and to a layman it would appear to be a simple matter to consist of covering the field with a specially prepared paper strong enough to prevent the growth of weeds.

JAZZ FAILS IN MEXICO

American Musical Comedy Does Not Appeal Strongly to Natives.

MEXICO CITY.—American "jazz devils" have come to Mexico City and have made their synecopation popular, but theater-goers in Mexico have failed to appreciate an American comedy as recently presented by a company of "girly-girly" girls direct from Broadway.
