

STANFORD HIGHLY DUPLICATE

Team en Route for Invasion of Oregon.

Varsity to be Played

Following Two-Game Series at Eugene Quintet Will Go to Corvallis for Two Contests.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Palo Alto, Cal., Jan. 21.—(Special).—Ten members of the Cardinal basketball squad are en route aboard the Shasta limited for Eugene, where they will play a two-game series. From Eugene they go to play the Aggies at Corvallis Friday and Saturday nights.

The Stanford team is one of the lightest that has worn the red and white uniform. The forwards, Captain Davies and Skip McElroy, are probably the best in the league with the Oregon college, have been high-point scorers against other teams in California.

Some 800 persons attended the matches and were given a great amount of entertainment. The Stanford team is one of the lightest that has worn the red and white uniform. The forwards, Captain Davies and Skip McElroy, are probably the best in the league with the Oregon college, have been high-point scorers against other teams in California.

Warner intends at least to put a tried lieutenant on the "Farm" to supervise and install a new system until the great master of the game is himself able to assume the reins. An attempt will be made by the board to have the Stanford spring practices so as to give his personality to the preliminary work and get his system properly underway.

The new $100,000 pavilion, undoubtedly one of the best basketball courts in the country, is being finished and merry-making Friday night at a huge party given by the board of athletic control to dedicate the structure.

The new hall is of enormous size, though the basketball court is of regulation dimensions. The floor is carpeted, frosted over, support the hoops. They are the first of their kind to appear on the coast, though they are used in the east.

Several spring swimming meets are to be staged in the new auditorium swimming pool under the auspices of the Pacific Athletic association. The junior diving title, the breast stroke title, the 100-yard race will be decided. Coach Brandtman has developed some fast swimmers and divers who should take several titles in the meet.

Dick Richmond, star guard on the Cardinal basketball team, is the leading dramatic artist of the university. He took the lead recently in Wallace Reed's play, "The Charm School," in the new auditorium.

A Cardinal fencing team will enter the amateur fencing tournament in San Francisco this week. Last season the Stanford fencers won a first and second in two events and were awarded the Pacific coast championship in the junior and novice classes.

The Cardinal team will enter the amateur fencing tournament in San Francisco this week. Last season the Stanford fencers won a first and second in two events and were awarded the Pacific coast championship in the junior and novice classes.

Forty men were selected last week on the Cardinal team for the annual dual wrestling meet with the Olympic club of San Francisco. The Cardinal matmen have been working several months in the gymnasium to give the clubmen a tussle for honors.

The Cardinal matmen have been working several months in the gymnasium to give the clubmen a tussle for honors. They will play the Aggies at Corvallis Friday and Saturday nights.

The Cardinal matmen have been working several months in the gymnasium to give the clubmen a tussle for honors. They will play the Aggies at Corvallis Friday and Saturday nights.

The Cardinal matmen have been working several months in the gymnasium to give the clubmen a tussle for honors. They will play the Aggies at Corvallis Friday and Saturday nights.

The Cardinal matmen have been working several months in the gymnasium to give the clubmen a tussle for honors. They will play the Aggies at Corvallis Friday and Saturday nights.

The Cardinal matmen have been working several months in the gymnasium to give the clubmen a tussle for honors. They will play the Aggies at Corvallis Friday and Saturday nights.

The Cardinal matmen have been working several months in the gymnasium to give the clubmen a tussle for honors. They will play the Aggies at Corvallis Friday and Saturday nights.

The Cardinal matmen have been working several months in the gymnasium to give the clubmen a tussle for honors. They will play the Aggies at Corvallis Friday and Saturday nights.

The Cardinal matmen have been working several months in the gymnasium to give the clubmen a tussle for honors. They will play the Aggies at Corvallis Friday and Saturday nights.

The Cardinal matmen have been working several months in the gymnasium to give the clubmen a tussle for honors. They will play the Aggies at Corvallis Friday and Saturday nights.

The Cardinal matmen have been working several months in the gymnasium to give the clubmen a tussle for honors. They will play the Aggies at Corvallis Friday and Saturday nights.

The Cardinal matmen have been working several months in the gymnasium to give the clubmen a tussle for honors. They will play the Aggies at Corvallis Friday and Saturday nights.

The Cardinal matmen have been working several months in the gymnasium to give the clubmen a tussle for honors. They will play the Aggies at Corvallis Friday and Saturday nights.

BANTAM CHAMP LEAVES WITH FAMILY FOR FIGHTS IN ENGLAND.

JOHNNY BUFF AND BABY BUFF.

A picture calculated to make any aspirant to the bantamweight crown—and there are many—gnash his teeth: Johnny Buff, with Mrs. Buff and baby James Adam Buff, on S. S. Baltic, sailing away for England. Mr. Buff, the sporting editors all say, will garner much fine gold in England, and perhaps a title or two (first or second). But the bantams in this country are complaining loudly because he didn't stay and give them a chance at the championship. Each and every one of 'em says Johnny could make more money here and each and every one hints darkly that the champ is dodging him, and him only. But Johnny really doesn't look worried, does he?

JOHNNY BUFF AND BABY BUFF. The year just beginning promises some notable developments in those lines of sport and recreation depending on saddle and harness horses. Portland has the best management of a few important steps taken in horse sports, but the increasing interest shown by horse lovers has reached a stage here that is excitingly making the sport out of the incidental feature class and place it among the important ones in the sport life of the community.

A generation ago the horse was a factor in both domestic and industrial life. As a mode of transport and the tractor has decreased his utility until he has been relegated to two spheres, antiquated and from which he will not be dislodged. The farmer will continue to use horses in spite of the increased use of tractors and horse lovers, a class larger than is ordinarily supposed, and growing, will continue to use the horse as a means of recreation and sport.

In three years the night horse show of the Pacific International Livestock Exposition, which is held annually at A. P. Fleming, has placed itself among the leading equestrian exhibitions of the country, both in size and in quality. The show is a success in promises of even more improvement. A large portion of the success of the academy are the two main elements Portland horse people have given it, and also the local interest in sport horses is partly due to the success of the show.

There are at the present time a few more than 100 saddle horses in Portland, and for these there are no riders. The number of riders is about 65 and are privately owned, mostly by members of the Portland Hunt club and the riding academy. The riding academy is owned by H. M. Kerron, manager and proprietor of the Portland riding academy.

The hunt club and the riding academy are the two main elements Portland horse people have given it, and also the local interest in sport horses is partly due to the success of the show. The riding academy is owned by H. M. Kerron, manager and proprietor of the Portland riding academy.

There are at the present time a few more than 100 saddle horses in Portland, and for these there are no riders. The number of riders is about 65 and are privately owned, mostly by members of the Portland Hunt club and the riding academy.

The hunt club and the riding academy are the two main elements Portland horse people have given it, and also the local interest in sport horses is partly due to the success of the show. The riding academy is owned by H. M. Kerron, manager and proprietor of the Portland riding academy.

There are at the present time a few more than 100 saddle horses in Portland, and for these there are no riders. The number of riders is about 65 and are privately owned, mostly by members of the Portland Hunt club and the riding academy.

The hunt club and the riding academy are the two main elements Portland horse people have given it, and also the local interest in sport horses is partly due to the success of the show. The riding academy is owned by H. M. Kerron, manager and proprietor of the Portland riding academy.

There are at the present time a few more than 100 saddle horses in Portland, and for these there are no riders. The number of riders is about 65 and are privately owned, mostly by members of the Portland Hunt club and the riding academy.

The hunt club and the riding academy are the two main elements Portland horse people have given it, and also the local interest in sport horses is partly due to the success of the show. The riding academy is owned by H. M. Kerron, manager and proprietor of the Portland riding academy.

There are at the present time a few more than 100 saddle horses in Portland, and for these there are no riders. The number of riders is about 65 and are privately owned, mostly by members of the Portland Hunt club and the riding academy.

The hunt club and the riding academy are the two main elements Portland horse people have given it, and also the local interest in sport horses is partly due to the success of the show. The riding academy is owned by H. M. Kerron, manager and proprietor of the Portland riding academy.

There are at the present time a few more than 100 saddle horses in Portland, and for these there are no riders. The number of riders is about 65 and are privately owned, mostly by members of the Portland Hunt club and the riding academy.

The hunt club and the riding academy are the two main elements Portland horse people have given it, and also the local interest in sport horses is partly due to the success of the show. The riding academy is owned by H. M. Kerron, manager and proprietor of the Portland riding academy.

There are at the present time a few more than 100 saddle horses in Portland, and for these there are no riders. The number of riders is about 65 and are privately owned, mostly by members of the Portland Hunt club and the riding academy.

The hunt club and the riding academy are the two main elements Portland horse people have given it, and also the local interest in sport horses is partly due to the success of the show. The riding academy is owned by H. M. Kerron, manager and proprietor of the Portland riding academy.

There are at the present time a few more than 100 saddle horses in Portland, and for these there are no riders. The number of riders is about 65 and are privately owned, mostly by members of the Portland Hunt club and the riding academy.

The hunt club and the riding academy are the two main elements Portland horse people have given it, and also the local interest in sport horses is partly due to the success of the show. The riding academy is owned by H. M. Kerron, manager and proprietor of the Portland riding academy.

There are at the present time a few more than 100 saddle horses in Portland, and for these there are no riders. The number of riders is about 65 and are privately owned, mostly by members of the Portland Hunt club and the riding academy.

The hunt club and the riding academy are the two main elements Portland horse people have given it, and also the local interest in sport horses is partly due to the success of the show. The riding academy is owned by H. M. Kerron, manager and proprietor of the Portland riding academy.

There are at the present time a few more than 100 saddle horses in Portland, and for these there are no riders. The number of riders is about 65 and are privately owned, mostly by members of the Portland Hunt club and the riding academy.

The hunt club and the riding academy are the two main elements Portland horse people have given it, and also the local interest in sport horses is partly due to the success of the show. The riding academy is owned by H. M. Kerron, manager and proprietor of the Portland riding academy.

There are at the present time a few more than 100 saddle horses in Portland, and for these there are no riders. The number of riders is about 65 and are privately owned, mostly by members of the Portland Hunt club and the riding academy.

The hunt club and the riding academy are the two main elements Portland horse people have given it, and also the local interest in sport horses is partly due to the success of the show. The riding academy is owned by H. M. Kerron, manager and proprietor of the Portland riding academy.

There are at the present time a few more than 100 saddle horses in Portland, and for these there are no riders. The number of riders is about 65 and are privately owned, mostly by members of the Portland Hunt club and the riding academy.

The hunt club and the riding academy are the two main elements Portland horse people have given it, and also the local interest in sport horses is partly due to the success of the show. The riding academy is owned by H. M. Kerron, manager and proprietor of the Portland riding academy.

There are at the present time a few more than 100 saddle horses in Portland, and for these there are no riders. The number of riders is about 65 and are privately owned, mostly by members of the Portland Hunt club and the riding academy.

The hunt club and the riding academy are the two main elements Portland horse people have given it, and also the local interest in sport horses is partly due to the success of the show. The riding academy is owned by H. M. Kerron, manager and proprietor of the Portland riding academy.

WHOSE INCREASED AT REST

More Than 100 Saddle Animals Now in Portland.

TOTAL OF RIDERS IS 250

Hunt Club and Riding Academy Are Main Organizations Promoting Horsemanship.

By R. V. HALLER. The year just beginning promises some notable developments in those lines of sport and recreation depending on saddle and harness horses.

A generation ago the horse was a factor in both domestic and industrial life. As a mode of transport and the tractor has decreased his utility until he has been relegated to two spheres, antiquated and from which he will not be dislodged.

In three years the night horse show of the Pacific International Livestock Exposition, which is held annually at A. P. Fleming, has placed itself among the leading equestrian exhibitions of the country, both in size and in quality.

The hunt club and the riding academy are the two main elements Portland horse people have given it, and also the local interest in sport horses is partly due to the success of the show.

There are at the present time a few more than 100 saddle horses in Portland, and for these there are no riders. The number of riders is about 65 and are privately owned, mostly by members of the Portland Hunt club and the riding academy.

The hunt club and the riding academy are the two main elements Portland horse people have given it, and also the local interest in sport horses is partly due to the success of the show. The riding academy is owned by H. M. Kerron, manager and proprietor of the Portland riding academy.

There are at the present time a few more than 100 saddle horses in Portland, and for these there are no riders. The number of riders is about 65 and are privately owned, mostly by members of the Portland Hunt club and the riding academy.

The hunt club and the riding academy are the two main elements Portland horse people have given it, and also the local interest in sport horses is partly due to the success of the show. The riding academy is owned by H. M. Kerron, manager and proprietor of the Portland riding academy.

There are at the present time a few more than 100 saddle horses in Portland, and for these there are no riders. The number of riders is about 65 and are privately owned, mostly by members of the Portland Hunt club and the riding academy.

The hunt club and the riding academy are the two main elements Portland horse people have given it, and also the local interest in sport horses is partly due to the success of the show. The riding academy is owned by H. M. Kerron, manager and proprietor of the Portland riding academy.

There are at the present time a few more than 100 saddle horses in Portland, and for these there are no riders. The number of riders is about 65 and are privately owned, mostly by members of the Portland Hunt club and the riding academy.

The hunt club and the riding academy are the two main elements Portland horse people have given it, and also the local interest in sport horses is partly due to the success of the show. The riding academy is owned by H. M. Kerron, manager and proprietor of the Portland riding academy.

There are at the present time a few more than 100 saddle horses in Portland, and for these there are no riders. The number of riders is about 65 and are privately owned, mostly by members of the Portland Hunt club and the riding academy.

The hunt club and the riding academy are the two main elements Portland horse people have given it, and also the local interest in sport horses is partly due to the success of the show. The riding academy is owned by H. M. Kerron, manager and proprietor of the Portland riding academy.

There are at the present time a few more than 100 saddle horses in Portland, and for these there are no riders. The number of riders is about 65 and are privately owned, mostly by members of the Portland Hunt club and the riding academy.

The hunt club and the riding academy are the two main elements Portland horse people have given it, and also the local interest in sport horses is partly due to the success of the show. The riding academy is owned by H. M. Kerron, manager and proprietor of the Portland riding academy.

There are at the present time a few more than 100 saddle horses in Portland, and for these there are no riders. The number of riders is about 65 and are privately owned, mostly by members of the Portland Hunt club and the riding academy.

The hunt club and the riding academy are the two main elements Portland horse people have given it, and also the local interest in sport horses is partly due to the success of the show. The riding academy is owned by H. M. Kerron, manager and proprietor of the Portland riding academy.

There are at the present time a few more than 100 saddle horses in Portland, and for these there are no riders. The number of riders is about 65 and are privately owned, mostly by members of the Portland Hunt club and the riding academy.

The hunt club and the riding academy are the two main elements Portland horse people have given it, and also the local interest in sport horses is partly due to the success of the show. The riding academy is owned by H. M. Kerron, manager and proprietor of the Portland riding academy.

There are at the present time a few more than 100 saddle horses in Portland, and for these there are no riders. The number of riders is about 65 and are privately owned, mostly by members of the Portland Hunt club and the riding academy.

The hunt club and the riding academy are the two main elements Portland horse people have given it, and also the local interest in sport horses is partly due to the success of the show. The riding academy is owned by H. M. Kerron, manager and proprietor of the Portland riding academy.

There are at the present time a few more than 100 saddle horses in Portland, and for these there are no riders. The number of riders is about 65 and are privately owned, mostly by members of the Portland Hunt club and the riding academy.

The hunt club and the riding academy are the two main elements Portland horse people have given it, and also the local interest in sport horses is partly due to the success of the show. The riding academy is owned by H. M. Kerron, manager and proprietor of the Portland riding academy.

There are at the present time a few more than 100 saddle horses in Portland, and for these there are no riders. The number of riders is about 65 and are privately owned, mostly by members of the Portland Hunt club and the riding academy.

The hunt club and the riding academy are the two main elements Portland horse people have given it, and also the local interest in sport horses is partly due to the success of the show. The riding academy is owned by H. M. Kerron, manager and proprietor of the Portland riding academy.

The hunt club and the riding academy are the two main elements Portland horse people have given it, and also the local interest in sport horses is partly due to the success of the show. The riding academy is owned by H. M. Kerron, manager and proprietor of the Portland riding academy.

JUNIOR BASKETBALL LEAGUE CHAMPIONS.

VIKING FIVE WINS AGAIN

OREGON UNIVERSITY BEATEN BY 40-TO-26 SCORE.

Visitors Have Everything Their Own Way in First Period.

Checking is Close.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, Ore., Jan. 21.—(Special).—In a much more closely contested game than the first of the series, the Vikings were again victors over the Oregon team by a score of 49 to 26, tonight. The visitors had everything their own way in the first period, annexing a total of 19 points while the varsity was only able to make 5.

A feature of the initial period was the close checking by the Vikings. Oregon was able to break through their strong defense only a few times in that period, and all of the points scored by Coach Bohler's five were made on long shots. Coach Bohler replaced his entire team, with the exception of Zimmerman, after the first ten minutes of the initial half in an effort to break down the defense of the Vikings.

In the second half the varsity was more successful and came back with a strong, aggressive attack that all but swept the Vikings off their feet. Eddie Edmondson, sent in his string of fresh substitutes, however, and managed to stop the varsity's rally.

Stelle, the lanky center of the northerners, was high point man for his team with five field goals. Rocky played a brilliant game for the varsity and annexed ten points. Coach Edmondson, sent in his string of fresh substitutes, however, and managed to stop the varsity's rally.

The varsity succeeded in breaking up the Washington passes much more frequently in the second game than they were able to do in the first of the series, which was played last night. Both teams played ragged ball at times and the score was not as fast as the first. Score: Oregon, 49; University of Oregon, 26.

Ed Thorpe Enforces Instructions to Letter in Discipline.

Spectators at the N. Y. U-Toronto basketball game at York school on Saturday night, Jan. 20, were one reason why Ed Thorpe has been able to make the Violets teams the most powerful court machines in this part of the country, says the Gazette. Just before the close of the first half a local player who had been cautioned about trying long shots after several warnings, in a similar nature against Columbia last night, tried and perfected the prettiest shot of a field goal from the mid-court mark. Before the crowd was fully aware what had happened and while the cheer leaders were getting ready to celebrate, the player had yanked the successful culprit out of action and was giving him a short rest off the court.

Football is compulsory for the freshmen of the University of Indiana next year. Aroused by the lack of interest manifested among some of the younger students at Bloomington last fall, Roscoe Minton, coach of the Hoosier plebes, has won the approval of the faculty and alumni to a new system which excuses from the gridiron only those possessing a physician's certificate of disability. The new plan also has succeeded in having all social engagements put under the ban during the season.

Vancover Teams Win. VANCOVER, Wash., Jan. 21.—(Special).—Two basketball teams of the Vancouver high school were victorious over the Seattle team in the 1911 Infantry team from Vancouver barracks by a score of 22 to 16. The second team of the Vancover high school defeated the Stephens Athletic club of Portland, 14 to 14.

Harry Stone Beats O'Brien. MELBOURNE, Australia, Jan. 21.—Harry Stone, Australian boxer, defeated Tommy O'Brien of America, on points in a 28-round bout here today. At Sydney the Filipino boxer, Jamito, defeated Frankie Monroe, of America, on points in 20 rounds.

Myrtle Point Five Victors. NORTH BEND, Ore., Jan. 21.—(Special).—The Myrtle Point basketball team upset the Stephens Athletic club of North Bend high school, tonight last night when they defeated them in a score of 23 to 18.

Stanford Off to Eugene. PALO ALTO, Cal., Jan. 21.—The Stanford University basketball team left here tonight for Eugene and a game with the University of Oregon quintet, the first of a four-game series to be played in the northwest. Two games will be played at Seattle with the University of Washington and one at Pullman with Washington State college.

Goldendale Beats Stevenson. GOLDENDALE, Wash., Jan. 21.—(Special).—The Goldendale high school quintet defeated Stevenson high school of the Puget Sound league basketball game by a final score of 44 to 21. A preliminary game between the girls' teams of the schools was won by Goldendale girls by a score of 23 to 12.

Mount Angel Five Wins. FOREST GROVE, Ore., Jan. 21.—(Special).—Mount Angel college basketball team won from April, 1912 to 12, in the normal gymnasium Friday night. The visitors led in the first half and the game was closely contested until the last few minutes of play.

With the Hoopars. South Parkway will play the McMinnville American Legion basketball team tonight at the Pacific university. The game will be played at 8 o'clock. The McMinnville team is coached by Coach M. L. Brown. The Pacific university team is coached by Coach M. L. Brown.

Ed Thorpe Enforces Instructions to Letter in Discipline. Spectators at the N. Y. U-Toronto basketball game at York school on Saturday night, Jan. 20, were one reason why Ed Thorpe has been able to make the Violets teams the most powerful court machines in this part of the country.

Football is compulsory for the freshmen of the University of Indiana next year. Aroused by the lack of interest manifested among some of the younger students at Bloomington last fall, Roscoe Minton, coach of the Hoosier plebes, has won the approval of the faculty and alumni to a new system which excuses from the gridiron only those possessing a physician's certificate of disability.

Vancover Teams Win. VANCOVER, Wash., Jan. 21.—(Special).—Two basketball teams of the Vancouver high school were victorious over the Seattle team in the 1911 Infantry team from Vancouver barracks by a score of 22 to 16.

Harry Stone Beats O'Brien. MELBOURNE, Australia, Jan. 21.—Harry Stone, Australian boxer, defeated Tommy O'Brien of America, on points in a 28-round bout here today.

Myrtle Point Five Victors. NORTH BEND, Ore., Jan. 21.—(Special).—The Myrtle Point basketball team upset the Stephens Athletic club of North Bend high school, tonight last night when they defeated them in a score of 23 to 18.

Stanford Off to Eugene. PALO ALTO, Cal., Jan. 21.—The Stanford University basketball team left here tonight for Eugene and a game with the University of Oregon quintet, the first of a four-game series to be played in the northwest.

Goldendale Beats Stevenson. GOLDENDALE, Wash., Jan. 21.—(Special).—The Goldendale high school quintet defeated Stevenson high school of the Puget Sound league basketball game by a final score of 44 to 21.

Mount Angel Five Wins. FOREST GROVE, Ore., Jan. 21.—(Special).—Mount Angel college basketball team won from April, 1912 to 12, in the normal gymnasium Friday night.

With the Hoopars. South Parkway will play the McMinnville American Legion basketball team tonight at the Pacific university. The game will be played at 8 o'clock.

Ed Thorpe Enforces Instructions to Letter in Discipline. Spectators at the N. Y. U-Toronto basketball game at York school on Saturday night, Jan. 20, were one reason why Ed Thorpe has been able to make the Violets teams the most powerful court machines in this part of the country.

Football is compulsory for the freshmen of the University of Indiana next year. Aroused by the lack of interest manifested among some of the younger students at Bloomington last fall, Roscoe Minton, coach of the Hoosier plebes, has won the approval of the faculty and alumni to a new system which excuses from the gridiron only those possessing a physician's certificate of disability.

Vancover Teams Win. VANCOVER, Wash., Jan. 21.—(Special).—Two basketball teams of the Vancouver high school were victorious over the Seattle team in the 1911 Infantry team from Vancouver barracks by a score of 22 to 16.

Harry Stone Beats O'Brien. MELBOURNE, Australia, Jan. 21.—Harry Stone, Australian boxer, defeated Tommy O'Brien of America, on points in a 28-round bout here today.

LATE HAP HOGAN
ROMANTIC FIGURE

Work Seen in Salvation Army and as Painter.

CAREER IS VARIED ONE

Malcolm MacLean, However, Thinks That Jack Kearns Deserves Tie With Hogan.

BY MALCOLM MACLEAN. CHICAGO, Jan. 21.—(Special).—Who is the most romantic figure in the world of sports the past ten years? The late Hap Hogan, who managed and coached the Chicago Cubs for some years, came mighty close to the distinction. He was a varied life—army member and sign painter.

A few evenings ago, while glancing through the obituary book, I came across a postcard received years ago from the coast. On one side were the words, "I'll see you soon, and on the other, in colors, a figure of a boxer and another of Jack Kearns, holding a globe in his hand.

These words were printed on the card: "Handsome Jack Kearns, sportsman, promoter, manager of boxer, and one of the latest proteges, Fighting Billy Murray, middleweight champion of California."

Jack Kearns, the man who brought out the Atlanta, Harry Forbes, Honey Melody and Fighting Dick Hyland, former auto driver, cow puncher and writer in a restaurant.

Let's call it as we see it. The recent brilliant success of college football throughout the land brings up the fact that sport is of comparative recent origin in our institutions of learning.

At Minnesota the first football was brought by Alf F. Pillsbury, in later years secretary and treasurer of the Pillsbury Flour Mills company. He owned the trademark, object, and lent it for all the games played at the Gopher campus that year.

Minnesota laid its first football in 1858 and the university generously appropriated the magnificent sum of $100,000 for the equipment. There was no question in those days about professionalism. The players helped put the field in shape, bought their own uniforms, and the expenses and chipped in for the football itself.

The Gophers wanted to meet the University of Michigan eleven the season of 1889, and the game was nearly scheduled when the Wolverines demanded a guarantee of $10,000, it was considered too high and the arrangements fell through.

Bill Brennan, now of the Southern league staff, was umpiring in the western league years ago, and happened to be in Pueblo, Colo., where Brennan was staging a morning after afternoon battle. Pueblo and Denver were great rivals then, and Brennan called a Pueblo man out for cutting third base in the morning game. He had the same kind of a situation at the morning game, and again the Pueblo runner was declared out.

Some mutterings came from the crowd, but Brennan paid no attention to the morning but another of the same sort was more than the enraged populace could stand. The mutterings in the crowd were of a different nature. "The moment the game was over the police rushed to Bill's aid, as did also Jim Flynn, the Pueblo fireman, one-time challenger for the world's heavyweight title, who happened to be on Brennan's side, seeing nothing in the situation where Bill put up his arms. Brennan's side, the police, Flynn and the mob reached the coming home where Bill put up his arms. Brennan's side, the police, Flynn and the mob reached the coming home where Bill put up his arms.

Towards last evening Brennan gave bunny. The pangs forced him to sit on the floor, and he was carried to the house to venture forth to a nearby restaurant to bring back an armful of cooked food.

"I'll never forget what I ordered," laughs Brennan. "A bowl of soup, a salad, some pork chops, soft boiled eggs, a piece of bread, and a drink of beer. Believe me, I was hungry. I glanced under the drawn curtain in my room and saw the porter get through the crowd at a right angle. It seemed like hours before he reappeared, carrying a loaded tray in his hands. The mob was suspicious, and stopped him. I could hear what was said, plainly.

"Here, where're you going? Who's that for?" demanded one of the tough ones. "P-for de umpire," stammered the porter.

"That, the fellow took a swift kick at the tray, and the precious pork chops, soft boiled eggs, etc., splashed on the ground and on the porter's clothes. "I went hungry until the next day."

St. Paul Gets Yank. Walter Christensen, an outfielder, who joined the New York Americans last season, was released recently to the St. Paul club of the American association.

NEW
GUARANTEED
PARTS
FOR ALL CARS

Spiral and Bevel Ring Gears and Pinions Differential and Transmission Gears Axle Shafts Springs Connecting Rod Bearings Wrist Pins Universal Joint Parts Bushings, etc.

Large, complete stock on hand. Workmanship and material guaranteed. Liberal discount to