Developments earlier in the day included the questioning by the district attorney of a young man whose name was stated to be Frank Britt, who lived in the vicinity of the Taylor residence. Mr. Woolwine said the young man had reported having seen an unknown party acting in a suapicious manner in that neighborhood the night of the slaying. The district attorney added he thought this statement "not very important."

ACTORS ASK FOR FAIR PLAY

Public Requested Not to Condemn Whole Industry for Vice.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 11.—Thirty members of the Independent Screen Artists' guild met here today and issued a statement asking fair play from the public in its consideration of the conditions in the motion picture industry and especially in the

of the conditions in the motion picture industry and especially in the lives of the motion picture people.

The statement follows:

We do not ask for special favors,
but only for the American principle upon which this democracy was founded—one of fair play.

The recent unsavory publicity that has followed the wake of the demise of the late William Taylor has resultd in our industry being maligned, seers rumor accepted as fact, and idle
gossip magnified into reality.

Billy Taylor needs no eulogy. The Billy Taylor needs no sulogy. The life he led was but an index of the true character of the man who was shot down by an assassin's bullet. The police have given as a theory that revenge accentuated the crime that resulted in William Taylor's death, exonerating the motion picture industry or any of its persons as be-ing implicated.

We are not rampant with vice.

The American public did not attack all ministers because a wanton the gospel.
