

ALL CANDIDATES FEAR MR. MCCOTT

Eleven Days Remain Before Issues Go to Voters.

QUICK COUNT EXPECTED

With the double system of judges and clerks, the counting board going to work at 10 A. M. on May 10, the results should be known by midnight of primary day, save where there are very close contests.

A sporadic opposition is raised against N. J. Sinnott, incumbent, in the second congressional district, with James Gwinn of Pendleton. The Sinnott opposition is, apparently, most active in the vicinity of Pendleton.

Much Trouble Caused

Seven county commissioner candidates, with two to nominate, have caused much trouble among the groups who plan issuing "tickets." While overshadowed by the gubernatorial and national committee contests, the fight for county commissioner is far from being a tame affair.

HOMAGE TO MOTHER TO BE PAID MAY 14

"Her Favorite Flower" Will Be in Evidence.

OBSERVANCE NATION-WIDE

Mothers' Day Will Be Celebrated Here and in All Parts of Country Next Sunday.

Homage to the mothers of America will be paid by a grateful nation one week from today, "Mothers' day," on which the sons and daughters of the country give thanks for the splendid women who reared them.

The virtual token of gratitude will consist in line with the custom of recent years, in the wearing of "her favorite flower." Widespread plans for the nation-wide observance of the day have been adopted.

In churches and in prisons, in the huge cities and throughout the sparsely settled districts, in congress and in the lesser legislative halls, the citizens of the country will pause for an instant sometime during the coming week to do honor to the "mothers of America."

When the day was first generally observed a few years ago white carnations were the flowers used to typify filial affection and devotion.

Girl's Devotion Emulated.

To Miss Anna Jarvis of Philadelphia belongs the honor of establishing "Mothers' Day." Some years ago Miss Jarvis, who was teacher in a Sunday school in Philadelphia, wore a huge bouquet of white carnations to church in memory of the birthday of her mother.

The idea of honoring mothers on a special day each year spread throughout the city, and the next year practically every church and Sunday school in Philadelphia set aside the second Sunday in May as "mothers' day."

By the third year the observance was nationwide. With the increasing observance of the day came a great demand for white carnations as official flowers for the occasion.

"Her Favorite" Readit.

Prices finally became so high that florists themselves took remedial measures and the custom of wearing "her favorite flower" rather than white carnations resulted.

NEW SCHOOL HEAD HERE

W. C. WEIR MEETS PACIFIC UNIVERSITY TRUSTEES.

Belief Expressed Campaign Will Strengthen Finances and Increase Student Attendance.

The belief that the student body of the Pacific university, Forest Grove, would be largely augmented and the school put in a strong position financially by the active campaign which is to be started this summer was expressed by W. C. Weir, new president of that school, who was in Portland yesterday to meet with the trustees.

The new president, who was formerly in charge of the field work of the Washington, which was chosen to succeed President Clark at a meeting of the trustees here in Portland last month.

"I am confident of the future of Pacific university," said Mr. Weir in discussing the college with members of the trustees. He announced that his plan would be as soon as he assumed charge July 1 to develop an active organization which would first re-establish the finances of the college and also build up an endowment.

The new president was advised that he would be given complete executive and administrative charge of the school. He was scheduled to leave for the east on the 5 o'clock train last night. He is en route to Crete, Neb., where he will organize an endowment campaign for Doane college, a Congregational school. He expects to be gone six weeks, after which he will return to begin his work at Forest Grove.

It was announced that no immediate expansion in building was contemplated. The members of the faculty have been re-elected for next year.
