being called upon to give Seattle neo-betterment of conditions for women and law enforcement.

A subject that will receive special attention from the clubwomen is the direct primary law. A resolution unanimously adopted by the convention provides that each club shall devote at least one meeting to consideration of the primary law in view of changes that have been proposed. The resolution was introduced by Mrs. Ogden W. Dean of Portland, who advocated revision of the law. contending particularly that the names of all candidates should appear on one ballot.

Law Enforcement Urged.

This was the only action on the promary law taken by the convention, according to Miss Julia Spooner, a member of the resolutions committee, who discussed the subject yesterday in the absence from the city of Mrz. Millie R. Trumbull, chairman of the committee. One newspaper report from the convention gave prominence to a stacement that the women had passed a resolution in opposition to changes in the primary law. Miss Spooner said yesterday that such a resolution was neither passed nor considered, and she and other convention delegates agreed that there was not the slightest basts in fact for the tion delegates agreed that there was anot the slightest basis in fact for the

With the serious charge of having mpersonated government officers with the purpose of extortion against them, Henry Hoegli and E. H. Car-penter were ordered held to the fed-eral grand jury for investigation yes-terday by Kenneth Frazer, United at $1500 each.

Tom Maguire, sasistant United States attorney, pressed the charge against the pair, it being shown by testimony at the hearing that the men went to the home of P. Ferraris, 509 East Fifteenth street, before 7 o'clock on the morning of Decoration day and told Ferraris they were government officials. Hoegli was said to have flushed a badge of some kind. They went to the basement and found a quantity of wine, taking some away, ostensibly as evidence.

The two men then demanded, according to Ferraris, that he furnish $500 cash ball at once, declaring him ot do so and he was directed to ac-impany them to the station. He was ally partially dressed and as he sat in his bed tying his shoes he saw oegli wink at Carpenter and at once aspected the pretended officers were

The end of the school year also marks the conclusion of the first term of the Rev. Eugene P. Burke as president of Columbia university. Under the leadership of Father Burke many innovations have been put into operation which have proved highly successful.

Father Burke announced yesterday that a pre-medical course will be added to the university curriculum next year. Dr. William Shea probably will handle some of the pre-medic teaching. Pre-law and Engineering courses will also be included next year. The installation of new machinery for the engineering courses is contemplated.
