Pansy Seed Worth Weight in Gold

Largest Farm of Its Kind in World Yields Enormous Profits

By DAVID HARRIS

MRS. DARWIN BISHOP of Los Angeles, California, the world's greatest grower of pansies, has expected a small profit on her crop this year, but $100 an acre and all the flowers gone by the time the sale was made, was much more than her expectations! Roughly speaking, the profit on pansies is from 150 to 200 dollars per acre, and Mrs. Bishop's pansies bring a price that is the envy of many farmers. And to think that she started her pansy enterprise only a few years ago! But it was worth it. Mrs. Bishop, who is known as the "Mother of the pansy," was one of the first to try the new plant and her success has been nothing short of sensational. Her pansies have been sold at prices that would make any farmer envious. In fact, she has even been known to sell pansies for as much as $100 per bunch! It is said that the best pansies in the world are grown in Mrs. Bishop's garden, and her pansy farm is the envy of many other growers. But how did she make such a success of her pansy enterprise? She started with a few pansies in her garden, and gradually increased her stock until she had a farm of 20 acres. Today, her pansy farm is the largest in the world, and she is known as the "Mother of the pansy." Her success is not just due to her knowledge of the plant, but also to her marketing skills. Mrs. Bishop has been able to sell her pansies at prices that are far above what other growers are able to sell theirs for. This is due in part to her ability to cultivate the right kind of pansies, but also to her skill in marketing. She has been able to sell her pansies through a network of distributors, and her reputation as the "Mother of the pansy" has helped her to secure high prices for her flowers. Mrs. Bishop's success has not gone unnoticed, and she has been recognized for her contributions to the world of pansies. She has been awarded numerous prizes and has been acknowledged as the greatest grower of pansies in the world. And it all started with a few pansies in her garden. So, if you want to be successful in the world of pansies, you should take a lesson from Mrs. Bishop and start small. With determination and hard work, you can achieve great success in the world of pansies.
