BORING, Or., May 26.—Dear Richet: I have a black south and ing better than the one shown in the May Elite on page 33, No. 1810 D. In the satin I would eliminate the pockets and for one of your height would wear a sash of goodly proportion. The Paisley georgette will combine prettily and if your sleeves are not worn or marked, would you not like the lower half of the new material rather than the antire sleeve? Close your waist at the side front rather than at the

For your mohair there is a smart model shown in the Butterick Quarterly, page 19, 3351. In the type of dress which the mohair demands the separate sleeves of the thinner material is not in the best of taste.

The gleeve, as shown, will, be cool. The hand work used on the biouse will be effective done in the black rope silk and a very interesting border can be worked in the block design with your own squares in materials as the guiding line. Wear the wide taffett assh with this frock rather than the style shown rather than the style shown.

centralia. Wash.—Dear Madam Richet: I am sure glad to see your advice in the newspaper again. I have written once before and not hearing from you through the newspaper, gaze up hopes of ever doing anything to these clothes. The sample of net, can I make that up for a waist, and how? The sample of net, can I make that up for a waist, and how? The sample of net, can I make that up for a waist, and how? The secrett is 4½ yards, 40 inches wide, how can I make this up? I want it pretty suitable for any occasion, I mean street or evening. The white lines, I have plenty of for a dress but do not know how to make it up. I suppose the goods would be more aport goods. The finer plece of white I would like to make up into some kind of a dress or sait for summer.

In the plaid worsted goods I have a skirr plaited in front and gathered in the back. It has four seams front, back and hips, The insket wha an Eaton. I have all of it. Can this be made up in a different dress or the Eaton changed into some new effect this summer? I am 40 years old, 3 fect 5 inches in height and have plenty of color. I wear my skirts 40 inches long. Be frank and if I cannot use these samples, all right. Hope to hear from you this time.

Your set will make up nicely and will be attractive if made after the model as shown on page 28, No. 5832, Butterick Quarterly, summer number. Combine with your net the orchid taffeta or georgette which will give more character to your blouse. Use the material you decide to combine as the front and back
