

FRANCE HOLDS KEY TO GERMAN FUTURE

Concessions Must Be Made if Problem Is Settled.

FRENCH FRANC FALLING

Economic Experts See No Hope of America Helping Under Present Conditions.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 8.—(By the Associated Press.)—Solution of the German financial and industrial problem rests with France, in the opinion expressed today by well-informed economic experts of the United States government.

Viewed from the economic angle, the German situation, it was declared, was solely a question of German credit, which rested upon the reparations terms.

German Credit Believed Nil. Under present reparations conditions, some officials regard Germany's credit as practically nil, and with a loan from the United States government out of the question, it was seen how funds from private sources could be raised in this country.

France, in view of some officials, is facing two courses with respect to Germany, either the maintenance of the present attitude of standing firm and taking eventual German payments or granting of reparations concessions, permitting Germany to make some payments in the near future with the resultant increase in French stability.

France's Future Uncertain. The French franc, officials pointed out, is falling, as well as the German mark, and it is believed here that a more stable German currency would be reflected in an improvement of the French exchange position.

The probability of Germany's failing to make the reparations payment of 50,000,000 gold marks on July 15 was not regarded by officials as foreshadowing any serious economic consequences, as it was explained that it would be only a postponement of payment.

LONDON, July 8.—(By the Associated Press.)—Officials said today that, while no formal representations had been made by the British government looking to the participation of the United States in allied efforts to rehabilitate Germany, the subject had been discussed for some time in diplomatic and official circles.

It is generally pointed out in financial quarters here and elsewhere in Europe that in the present state of Europe's financial depletion little can be done by the allies to restore Germany's shattered economic structure without the assistance of the United States.

GERMAN POLICY SCORED

(Continued From First Page.) and the republic is colorless, dull and unglorious, with only the tremendous burden of its predecessor debts, then naturally the belief arises among the people that the old times, with their orderly, spruce conditions and their low prices were best.

The masses readily believe that their illness is the result of a fever.

Policy Arraigned Scathingly. Given such ignorance, one can readily imagine the effect on the unpolitical German mind of the following series of declarations since the year 1918:

- 1. We were not defeated in the war, but betrayed by the socialist democrats, the Jews and the pacifists on the eve of triumph.
2. We were cheated of our promised rights by a faithless enemy.
3. Since then we have been insulted, robbed, dishonored by breaches of the treaty, by the extortions of reparations commission, by annexations and by the presence of black troops on our soil.

These statements daily have been hammered into millions of German minds by innumerable papers and magazines. The effect of such newspaper has sprung up, thriving wonderfully on the glorification of nationalism, militarism and monarchism. They have conducted an anti-Semitic campaign and have agitated preparedness for revenge. Their thirst has come largely from directing by nationalist business men. Many of these publications are directed by ex-officers, mostly naval, and they have been propagated by letters of recommendation from the Hohenzollern princes.

Attacks Are Tolerated. The republican government has tolerated all of this and even (in the reparations, Silesian, Rhineland and other disputes) has accused the victors of breaking their word, not realizing that such declarations would only bolster up the national feeling. From this belief, that outside Germany only scoundrels live, scoundrels who wish to ruin Germany and started a war against the innocent German empire for that purpose, it is a short step to a fanatical persecution of all who do not join in the propaganda for revenge, but who desire Germany's spiritual regeneration and hope to see the day when Germany will take her place with the other nations, striking for a purer international morality.

The bill for the protection of the republic provides stern punishment, even death and confiscation of fortunes, and partly reasonable but largely brutal measures to prevent the murder wave from growing. But we must doubt their effectiveness, especially when we know that in the second largest German state, Bavaria, Crown Prince Rupprecht again is living in the royal castle and reviewing troops, that monarchy still is alive behind the re-

GERMAN PAPER REVIVED

ILLINOIS STAATZEITUNG TO BE PUBLISHED AGAIN.

One of Oldest Newspapers in America Long Factor in Local and National Politics.

CHICAGO, Ill., July 8.—The Illinois Staatszeitung, one of the oldest newspapers in America and ranked in its time as the leading German language American newspaper, will once more come into being tomorrow.

The announcement of the initial issue of the paper states that a number of this city's leading professional and business men are behind the venture to revive the publication.

The Illinois Staatszeitung passed into the hands of Otto Doederlein, former United States consul at Leipzig, Germany, during the second Cleveland administration, at a recent receiver's sale.

The paper was founded in 1845 under the name of Volkfreund. In 1847 the present name was adopted and for 75 years its political and social influence was a factor in the shaping of local and national affairs.

Franz Hoffman, preacher, banker, farmer, national economist and lieutenant-governor of Illinois, was its first editor. Among the men of the Staatszeitung, whose names are linked with the country's history, may be mentioned Brentano, Vocke, Raster, Rapp, Mannhardt and the two Hoising.

The strength of its leadership consisted in a faithful interpretation and application of the ideals of true Americanism; and notwithstanding the fact that it had linked its destinies to the victorious character of the republican party, its chief concern has been the welfare of the people, and an uncompromising demand for honesty in politics and political offices.

Its decline began before the world war. And when internal financial troubles were added those incident to the war fever, it collapsed.

DUBLIN, July 8.—(By the Associated Press.)—There has been a remarkable response to the provisional government's call for volunteers to assist in putting down the republican revolt in this city alone nearly 2000 men have been enrolled for military service.

Prisoners Are Taken.

Substantial progress in the campaign being waged against the republicans by the national forces in the provinces is indicated in today's official communique. More than 50 prisoners were taken at Arklow, County Wicklow; Droghda, on the Louth Meath border; Newton Cunningham, County Donegal and Ballymore Eustace, County Kildare.

The town of Ferns, in County Wicklow, which has been strongly held by the irregulars, has been captured and the garrisons made prisoners. In the Ennis Corry district parties of irregulars are reported to be roving about the country seizing food and clothing. Droghda is completely controlled by the national forces, the communique said.

National army troops operating from south Dublin and Curragh almost completely an encircling movement around the Brittas-Blessington-Kilbride area, into which large numbers of the irregulars had retired, army headquarters announced this afternoon.

Operation Is Success.

The operation has been completely successful, it was declared, more than 100 prisoners being taken and the remainder of the irregulars dispersed southeastward into the mountains. Most of the arms and ammunition of the insurgents were taken. The men captured included the leaders, A. MacDonnell and G. Boland.

The enveloping movement was carried out on a front of from 15 to 20 miles, the almost complete encirclement being brought about by troops, many of whom were only training and fresh from other strenuous operations, the statement declared.

There were several casualties among the nationals and the wounded included Commandant Dinneen. Some of the volunteers were killed early in the operations. Architects estimated that it will require four years to rebuild the areas devastated during the recent fighting in the city, this not including replacement of the Four Courts building.

The Irish Independent suggests an Irish loan of £20,000,000 for reconstruction.
