

McCullough and Carson in "Oh Sarah" at the Pantages.

BY LEONE CASS BAER. FAY BAINSTER is to have a new play in the autumn and "East is West" will be released for stock.

When Lenore Harris sailed for England on the Olympic a fortnight ago, she was acting as the body of Barry Baxter, the young English actor who died several weeks ago as the result of an injury sustained in Chicago while acting in "Hubbard's Eighth Wife."

She is Terry, the diminutive dancer of the B. F. Keith circuit, has married Roy Sedley, the leading man in her act. They were married secretly in Los Angeles last week.

J. A. Johnson, manager of the Pantages theater, promises one of the best bills of the season, commencing with tomorrow's matinee.

Jack McLellan, a funmaker whose original methods and ideas of humor have made him a favorite in vaudeville, and Miss Carson, his charming assistant, will appear in "They Like 'Em Rough" Feature of New Hippodrome Bill.

Another especially fine bill is that which opened at the Hippodrome yesterday with "Around the Clock," a pretty music and dance revue.

Carl McCullough is a popular comedy star who has been appearing in the Shubert productions the last several years and he is returning in new songs and stories.

part of France, including many of the Paris suburban lines. When the Western railway was taken over by the French government it was thought of as an experiment to determine whether the railway systems should be likewise government owned.

Spurred by urgent necessity to cut out all waste, the French government began to consider this perennial leak in its finances. A parliamentary commission was appointed to make a thorough investigation.

The Western system, it may be remarked, has a tonnage of 1500 miles out of the total French railway tonnage of 24,744 miles. Of course the decision is still in the hands of the government.

When the influenza epidemic raged in camp Dick succumbed among the first, his energy sapped by the extra work he had been doing for the last few years.

When Dick was graduated from law school, he became a lawyer and engaged in the practice of his profession.

After carefully reviewing the situation, declarator sees, however, that he has played two of dummy's commanding diamonds he can then lead dummy's remaining trump.

After trumping the adverse spade at trick 2 he leads a commanding trump, to which all follow. He then follows with another trump, confidently looking for the same result.

Auction Bridge

BY ANNIE BLANCHE SHELLEY. THE declarator, no less than the adversary, is frequently in doubt as to his discard, notwithstanding that he has the advantage of seeing and playing the two hands.

When he is running with a long established suit in the one hand he is often compelled to make discards from the other which are extremely perplexing and call for the utmost care.

Here is a hand which illustrates the importance of unblocking by discards: ♠ Q J 10, ♠ A K Q, ♠ 8 7, ♠ 6 5 4 3 2, ♠ A 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2, ♠ A K Q J 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2.

The dealer, bids a heart, at which declaration the hand is played. Should Z fail to take advantage of the situation as revealed by his own and the dummy's hand he would lose four tricks (one trump trick and three club tricks).

Declarator, taking a rapid inventory of his two hands, sees that he will make a grand slam if he can get rid of his three losing diamonds and make a successful finesse in trumps.

Declarator, seeing that clubs are entirely against him and that both he and dummy will be compelled to follow three times should the adversary, who holds the commanding trump, shift the lead to clubs, realizes the expediency of postponing the trump lead unless he has first discarded his three clubs.

Trick 3 with the small spade, which dummy wins with queen, dummy then leads his two commanding diamonds and then his commanding spade, declarator on these three tricks discarding his three clubs.

This is known as the discard of losing cards in the one hand on commanding cards in the other, in order to be in position to ruff the suit in which one holds the losing cards. This is an extremely effect-
