The Fall Silhouette As Paris Sees It

See Page 11, This Section

We have heard many rumors as to the lines that the fall wardrobe will follow, but not until the first complete shipment of apparel arrived could we with confidence define the new mode.

The materials-aside from the ever soughtfor Tricotine and Canton-carry many such new names as Duvet de Laine, Marleen, Panvelaine, Tarquissa, Marcova and Cachemire Duvetyne. They all seem marvelously soft and velvety looking, falling into the most exquisitely draped lines. The suit jackets are long-very long-and the skirts have consequently been lowered several Dresses, simple as to line, show variations in treatments of sleeves, drapings and girdles.

Hundreds of advance models in fall apparel are now on display in the Fourth Floor Apparel Salons.
