PORTLAND'S list of distinguished visitors this summer is large. The visitors have inspired many social affairs of unusually large proportions and attractive arrangement. The society set is looking forward to the visit of the vice-president and Mrs. Coolidge, their two sons, and Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Stearns of Boston. The party will arrive next Saturday. Sunday evening Mr. and Mrs. Wallace McCannan will entertain the vice-president and his wife at dinner, and Monday evening Mr. and Mrs. Ernest W. Hardy will fete them at a similar affair. A luncheon is being planned in honor of the women in the party for Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. Robert N. Stanfield.

Mrs. James S. McCandless, wife of the Imperial potentate of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, was received cordially last week. She was honored at a luncheon Thursday at the Benson hotel by Mrs. George W. Stapleton, wife of Judge Stapleton, who is president of the Progressive Business Men's club. Covers were placed for Mrs. McCandless, Mrs. Babson, who is traveling with her; Mrs. George L. Baker, Mrs. George H. Hill, Mrs. A. H. Lea, Mrs. J. G. Mack, Mrs. W. E. Grace, Mrs. W. J. Hofmann, Mrs. A. L. Tetu, Mrs. William Flebig and the hostess.

Thursday evening the visiting Imperial potentate and his wife were honor guests at a dinner of 40 covers at the Benson. Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Tetu were hosts.

The week was marked by a number of teas and luncheons. The sub-debutante set is quite active this season. Miss Edna Pollman of Baker, who is visiting Mrs. Leon Nitchy, and Miss Elizabeth Beschke are among the popular visitors.

A beautiful wedding of Wednesday evening took place at the G. E. Bruere residence, when Miss Elizabeth Bruere became the bride of Mr. Harry Goldstein of Spokane. The bride was one of the most feted of the season.

An interesting announcement is news of the engagement of Miss Nellie Hemenway and Earl Carl Price. The wedding will be solemnized next Thursday evening at the home of the bride-elect's aunt, Mrs.

Roscoe R. Giltner. Another wedding planned for this week is that of Miss Janet Peters and Leonard Melville Sloan of Seattle, which will take place on Saturday.

Of wide interest is the notice from Vancouver barracks to the effect that General and Mrs. Richard M. Blitchford will remain at the post this autumn. They have so endeared themselves to Portland society that this news doubtless will cause great pleasure.

Miss Josephine Felts was the motif for an informal tea given Thursday afternoon by Miss Valentina Prichard. Miss Felts has returned recently from Bryn Mawr, where she has completed a course in children's social service work. In the fall she will go to Philadelphia, where she will continue her work.

Mrs. L. Vanduynt entertained with a beautifully appointed luncheon at the Hotel Portland yesterday. Covers were placed for six.

Friday afternoon Miss Margaret Cook entertained with a bridge tea. Miss Edna Pollman of Baker, Or., was the honor guest. Presiding at the tea table were Mrs. Frederick Nitchy and Mrs. William House.

A number of out-of-town guests were the inspirations for a luncheon, when Mrs. Lloyd Bates entertained on Wednesday afternoon. Twenty-two guests enjoyed the affair, which was given at the Waverley Country club.

Mrs. John Eben Young and her daughter, Miss Elsa Young, have been enjoying a few days at the beach.

Mrs. Gordon Forbes entertained Tuesday evening at a beautifully appointed dinner.

Mrs. John S. Parke entertained at tea on Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Harrison Corbett, Mrs. John Forbes and Miss Rosanne Rodebush were honor guests.
