almost every living heart and hearthsponsibility means the disobedience of the law of God.

The church must serve all people, the unprivileged and the givileged alike, and amust continue to stand for merey, charity and compassion toward those who are in trouble; but beyond that it must stand for social justice, remembering that Jesus Christ died for all and that one soul is in his sight, and should be in the sight of his disciples, as precious as another.

Those who are in positions in business, professions or any calling in life where they have the service of others, whether as wage-earners or in any other relation, should recognize the right of the employed to full opportunity for seif-development. The welfare q human life should be emphasized above the value of property. Wages sufficient for a wholesome living should be the return for efficient service and the more that can be done in making the employer and the employed partners in business with a feeling of common and friendly interest and mutual service, the better.

We understand that it Christian social service means following the example of the master, who came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to mean obsellence to the law of God. Thou shalt love they neighbor as thyself, and it is our work to bring the members of the church to realize this and so to fill out the ideal of Christ toward humanity.
