Miss Helen Tutthill, who has returned from the East.

Byron, Misses Anna and May Gieberger, Mrs. Wagner, Mrs. George Viane, Misses Florence and Irene Walgrave, Mrs. Cuthbert and Mrs. Gus Blank.

One of the pleasant features of the past week's events among the members of the Security Benefit association was the wedding supper given by Mr. Ruth Dickenson, at her home at 1377 Portsmouth street, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Allen, who were married on July 28. Following the feast the floors were cleared and dancing was the programme until the midnight hour, when the bride and bridegroom were treated to the usual shower of rice. The newlyweds were then commanded to stand up, when the state manager of the association preferred charges against the bridegroom for having kidnapped one of Kirkpatrick council's fairest maidens and making her his bride without asking the consent of the council members, the sentence of the court being a lifetime parole to the "lady in question." The couple were presented with a solid silver bread tray, with the congratulations of the guests.

Mrs. Clara Catin entertained in honor of her sister, Miss Bertha Hansickie of Wyoming, and Mrs. W. B. Douglas of Trail, B. C., Tuesday afternoon. The afternoon was spent at five hundred, high honors going to Mrs. George Ferris, after which refreshments were served by the hostess.

Mrs. R. S. Shaw entertained with a week-end party at her summer home near Kary, Or. Guests, who motored from Portland Friday, returning Sunday, were: Mesdames W. F. McKenney, R. Nicholls, G. Brandenberg, Hugh Knipe, C. W. Lillie, J. Holste, C. Willett, R. Tanscher, E. L. Dimmitt, F. Currihan, G. Littleton and James Neace.

Mrs. Rude Tanscher entertained the Harmony club Wednesday. Prizes were won by Mrs. Tanscher, Mrs. Holste, Mrs. G. Brandenberg and Mrs. Dimmitt. Mrs. Nelson Gay and Mrs. Hugh Knipe were guests of the club.

The cheerful club entertained Mrs. Wilbur C. Bear at her home, 933 East Eighteenth street North. The party was a baby shower, honoring Mrs. Beatty. Many gifts were attached to a large umbrella decorated with sweet peas. Appropriate readings were given by the members and ice cream and cake were served.

WEDDINGS.

Maine-Carlson.
A very pretty wedding was that of Miss Selma M. Carlson to Lionel L. Maine at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. J. O. Freck, August 13. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. H. Griffith of the First Christian church in the presence of relatives and a few friends.

The bride was attended by Miss Helen Kruppke, and the bridegroom's brother, Byron Maine, was best man. Lyman Warnock sang two solos, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Ewart Edwards.

The bride wore a white dress of Canton crepe, daintily beaded, and carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses. The bridesmaid was dressed in white organdie and carried pink sweet peas.

The rooms were beautifully decorated in pink and green, sweet peas and gladioli, together with wood fern and clematis. Refreshments were served in the dining room, Miss Mildred Druschell and Miss Esther Kruppke assisting.

Lindley-Schuckman.
Many in Portland will be interested to learn of the marriage in Santa Rosa, Cal., August 6, of Sterling Laddney, Lindley, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Lindley, and Miss Flora M. Schuckman. The ceremony took place in the garden of the bride's home under a bower of ferns and blossoms.

Jenne, a former Portland schoolmate and chum of the bridegroom, now of San Francisco, was best man. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. E. Ingram of the Presbyterian church. Many out-of-town guests were present and many gifts were received by the young couple. The bride is a brunette of striking personality and charming disposition. Mr. Lindley has built up a successful business. The Lindley family removed to California from their long-time Portland residence three or four years ago and have a large circle of friends. The bridal couple, after a honeymoon motor trip, will be at home after September 1 at 1940 Fourth street in Santa Rosa.

Wolf-Spady.
A pretty home wedding was that of George Wolf and Miss Katherine Spady, which took place Saturday evening, August 12. The marriage

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS RELATED BY THOSE MOST CONCERNED

Coffee Overturned in Lap of Woman Wearing Beautiful Gown of Shimmering Green Taffeta Brings Forth Icty Sarcastic Remark.

I WAS recently invited to attend a formal banquet. I was placed beside a decidedly cold and snooty middle-aged woman who is noted for her sarcastic remarks.

During the last course my elbow accidentally came in contact with her cup of coffee and the contents immediately descended into her lap. She wore a beautiful gown of shimmering green taffeta on which, as you may readily imagine, the scalding coffee had no pleasing effect.

I managed to stammer an apology and she replied icily, "Please do not be disturbed, as I did not care for the coffee anyway." E. A.

Weren't Hard To Carry.
As I was going to school one day a girl friend of mine said they had so many peaches my sister and I should come over after school and get them. So we took several large baskets and went over to get them.

When we got there her mother stood in the door and said, "Tillie, I guess there is enough for each to have one." C. H.

My sudden surprise a broad grin appeared on his face and many giggles were heard from the students around me.

Being Properly Impressed.
Being the oldest clerk in our department, and occasionally left in charge, I rather felt the dignity of my position and was careful that the newer clerks did likewise.

During a big sale of men's shirts, many were unfolded by customers. As the stock was quite new to all of us none knew how to fold them again, with the result that the hundreds of boxes began to look untidy.

Examining a shirt which had not been folded properly, I finally mastered the problem sufficiently to enable me to straighten up the stock in my care. The boss called the clerks together around the desk after working hours, and told them to watch carefully while I folded and planned a shirt back in shape.

Imagine my chagrin when a clerk broke the silence with: "Keep it up and you'll be able to get a job in a laundry any old day." E. G. W.

Imagine my embarrassment when the boxes which I had picked up were only display boxes and were all held together on the opposite side with a wire.

Unexpected Candor.
My most embarrassing moment occurred one day last winter. I was attending a church bazaar with a friend of whom I was very fond. All went well until we came to the pillow booth, where I made my horrible break. Quite confidentially I told her: "Now, some of those pillows aren't so bad looking, and some of them are really quite good looking, but did you ever in your life see one in as poor taste as that?"

My friend looked at me queerly for a moment and then said: "Tillie, admit it is in poor taste, but then, you see, I am rather noted for my lack of taste, and I made that." I made a hasty exit, and have not since had the courage to face her, though she insists on considering it a joke.

Perhaps That Cured Her.
A friend and I were making some purchases in a grocery store. She always samples things before buying.

Seeing something new to her in a barrel, she asked the clerk about it. Before he had time to answer, she put some of the contents into her mouth. It was soap flakes. L. M.

bridegroom. The bride's gown was of periwinkle canton crepe. She carried a shower bouquet of sweet peas. The bridegroom is connected with the Idaho Power company, Pocatello, where the young couple will make their future home after taking a few short motor and camping trips out of Portland.

Arct-Hovitt.
Last Tuesday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Howitt, in Gresham, Or., occurred the wedding of their daughter, Elizabeth A., to Homer L. Arct of Winlock, Wash. To the strains of a wedding march played by Mrs. James G. Kelly, an aunt of the bride, the bridegroom entered, attended by his best man, Earl Dove of Kalama, Wash., followed by the bride, accompanied by Miss Vivian Hevel, bridesmaid. They met under a canopy of yellow golden glow and goldenrod, entwined in a background of Japanese clematis. The ceremony was pronounced by Rev. Albert S. Heley of the Gresham Methodist Episcopal church. Previous to the ceremony Miss Edna Howitt sang "I Love You," accompanied by her sister, Miss Lelia Howitt. Only the immediate families and a few invited guests from out of town were present.

The bride was attired in a dark blue taffeta silk and the bridesmaid were blue satin of a corresponding shade. After the congratulations, a buffet lunch was served. At a late hour the couple left for a short trip to the beach, after which they will go to Winlock for their future home. Mrs. Arct has been the domestic science teacher in the Winlock high school for the last three years, and last season also coached the girls' basketball team of that school. Mr. Arct is a business man of Winlock, and well known in the community. They will be at home to their friends after September 5, at the latter place.

Cooper-Colwell.

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Smart, Chelatchie, Prairie, Wash., when Miss Edna Colwell, sister of Mrs. Smart, became the bride of Harold F. Cooper of Powers, Or. Rev. E. B. Reese, pastor of the Yacolt Methodist Episcopal church, officiated. The ring ceremony was used. The bride wore a dainty gown of blue organdie and carried a bouquet of bride's roses and sweet peas. The attendants were Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Brazelton of Portland. After a wedding supper Mr. and Mrs. Cooper motored to Portland and from there they will go to Powers, Or., where they will make their home. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Smart, Mr. and Mrs.
