VANCOUVER, Wash., Aug. 19 .-Special.) - George Seader and Henry fasar of Portland were arrested by he police last night on a charge of having liquor in their possession.
The liquor was found in a milk bottle in an automobile parked at Main and Fifth streets.

Before Frank E. Vaughan, justice of the peace, today they said they got the liquor in Portland and were delivering it to a sick man in the country, but they could not think of where they got the liquor, or the name of the sick man to whom they were going to deliver it. They were fined $199 and costs each.

To show that his climb of the Middle Sister was not an accident, young Robert Penland, the seven-year-old husky, was one of those making the ascent.

The ascent of the North Sister on Tuesday was made by five Mazamas who set out late in the morning for a try at the challenging peak. The Mazama outing committee had ribbon badges printed for those who ascended the Middle and South Sisters, but printed none for the North ters, but printed none for the North Sister, because its peak was consid-

(Special.)—Judge George B. Simpson has granted a non-suit in the case of Frank Bracha against the Spokane, Portland & Seattle Railbourd Company, in which Bracha sued the company for $50,000 for damages arising from the death of his wife. He sued as executor of the estate of his wife.

The judge stated in his order that it was not shown that the company was negligent, but the company to the west lost some elevation in getting around the spur. Here the real fun began. A small ice flow, extremely precipitious, had proved a barrier to other attempts, but Pendland roped the other members of the party together and cut ice steps to the very end of the ice against the wall of rock. Here on a very small shelf the party worked its way across. On the return one of the party slipped off and but for the ropes would have been dashed to pieces far below.
