RESULTS OF ALLIED CONFERENCE ON TURKEY.

Return of Turkey to Europe is assured by agreement to concede all nationalist peace terms.

British reversal of policy regarded as great diplomatic victory for French.

PARIS, Sept. 23.—(By the Associated Press.)—The return of Turkey to Europe was assured tonight when Great Britain, France and Italy at the final session of the allied conference agreed unanimously to concede all the nationalist peace terms. The Turkish claims to eastern Thrace to the Maritza river and including the ancient Turkish capital of Adrianople were approved as peace terms that can be supported by France, Great Britain and Italy in a joint invitation sent to Mustafa Kemal Pasha, the nationalist leader, to a peace conference to be held at Venice at the earliest possible date.

The Kemalists must agree in return not to enter the present neutral zone along the straits, nor make any crossing elsewhere, and must accept complete freedom of the Dardanelles, the Sea of Marmora and the Bosphorus, preferably under the league of nations.

Immediate Meeting Urged.

The invitation which was cable tonight by M. Poincare to Kemal Pasha personally urged an immediate meeting of the allies and the Turkish and Greek generals at Mudania to formulate terms of an armistice pending the conference. It was regarded as virtually certain that Kemal would accept the conditions and a reply is expected from Smyrna in a day or two.

M. and completed the 230-mile trip to Yuma at 1:30 P. M., more than an hour behind her schedule. The delay was due to a forced landing at Ajo, Ariz., owing to motor trouble. “Flying Circus” Fatality Witnessed by 25,000.

FIVE ENLISTED MEN VICTIMS

Big Bomber Crashes After War Maneuvers.

LIGHTS PLAY ON SCENE

Huge Craft Bursts Into Flame After Striking Ground in Mineola Exhibition.

MINNEOLA, Sept. 23.—First Lieutenant Raymond E. Davis, United States army air service, and five enlisted men were killed when a huge Martin bomber plane crashed to earth at Mitchell field late tonight.

The enlisted men killed were: First Sergeant Thomas Benfield, Corporal David E. Stiven and Privates Edward H. Kane, Henry Ray Nichols and Irving M. Whitney, all stationed at Mitchell field.

Accident Cause Mystery.

A report of the accident as given out several hours later by the adjutant's office at the field said that the plane had been inspected shortly before leaving the field and that the cause of the fatal accident probably never would be known.

The report said, “the plane passed out of the rays of the huge searchlights which had been arranged and used in the high air maneuvers. The plane approached a steep angle and then suddenly went into a nose dive.”

“There were no lights on the plane as it fell. The crash occurred some distance from the field.”

Autopsies Under Way.

Arnold P. Evers of Amityville, who was driving on the main road to Garden City, stopped his car and crossed into the field where the plane was burning. He pulled the first of the bodies from the wreck.

Major Weaver, commanding the field, who ordered an immediate investigation of the accident, issued the following statement:

“This accident is exactly like a number of other accidents in that the direct cause probably never will be known. The plane had been inspected previous to the flight and was practically new.”

All of the men killed with the exception of Davis were attached to the Sixth Air Park, stationed at Mitchell field. Benfield's home was in Chicago; Stiven's home was in New York; Nichols came from Car Hill, Texas, and Whitney from Ashburnham, Mass. Kane's address was not given.

Conflicting Reports Circulated.

Although the plane fell in sight of 25,000 persons and a DeHavilland plane which was flying near the bomber at the time of the accident landed in a field nearby within a few minutes, many conflicting reports, which could not be confirmed, were at once in circulation.

An order from Major Weaver stating that no information was to be given pending a preliminary examination by army officers retarded the work of gathering the facts.

Only a charred body was found in the seat of the plane which Lieutenant Davis had occupied. He was a veteran of the world war and was officially credited with one German plane. The bodies of Kane and Benfield were found clear of the wreck.

The injured were terribly battered, but for a short time the surgeons thought they had a fighting chance of recovery. They died soon after reaching the field hospital.

Wreck in Scattered Fragments.

The impact of the plane had been so violent that pieces of the wreck were scattered over an area of 300 feet.

Preliminary investigation of the crash is being conducted by the adjutant's office at Mitchell field.

GRAND ARMY RALLIES TO DEFEND LINCOLN

RESOLUTION RAPPING CONFEDERATES PROBABLE.

Richmond Convention's Criticism of Slain President Is Repeated by Union Men.

DES MOINES, Sept. 23.—(By the Associated Press.)—Echoes of the cannon which belted against the seceding states of the south 60 years ago may be heard in resolutions to be adopted by the representatives of the Grand Army of the Republic encamped at its business session next Thursday, condemning the action taken by the Confederate Veterans in their national gathering at Richmond last June.

The name of Abraham Lincoln, the idol of the men who are assembling here for their annual reunion which begins tomorrow, was assailed by the southern veterans, Grand Army men declare in the resolution adopted by their organizations which asserted that Lincoln personally conceived and impelled the war of the rebellion. The statement of the Confederate veterans may be answered, although officials of the Grand Army speaking unofficially, say that the charge probably will be ignored.

Closely linked with the action of the Confederate veterans is said to be the determination to resist a proposed amendment to the constitution which would give the president the power to suspend the writ of habeas corpus.

FIRE DOES $15,000 DAMAGE TO CHURCH

CENTRAL PRESBYTERIAN EDIFICE SWEEPED.

Blaze of Undetermined Origin Breaks Out in Building After Choir Practice.

Fire of undetermined origin last night caused damage of about $15,000 to the Central Presbyterian church, East Thirteenth and East Oak streets. Fire, smoke and water swept the interior, but the exterior, with the exception of portions of the roof, was unharmed. The pastor declared he thought that the fire was set by an incendiary.

The church was decorated for “rally day” today. The choir had practiced, and at 9:30, when J. W. Selcher, choirmaster, and the organist left the building, they said there was no sign of fire. The flames were discovered by Mrs. William Jones, 48 East Thirteenth street, who smelled smoke and called to neighbors.

When the fire apparatus arrived the interior was a mass of flames that broke through the roof before water could be put on it. A call for more apparatus was sent in, and Chief Young took personal charge of the force. It was 45 minutes before the blaze was out.

The church is a large wooden structure, built in the style of 19 (Concluded on Page 3, Column 4.)

POLITICAL FIGHT IS TO BE HOT ONE

Decks Clear for Action in Fall Campaign.

OLCOTT IS TO BATTLE PIERCE

Compulsory Education Bill Kept in Foreground.

EFFORT IS ORGANIZED

Democrats Have Defections to Governor and Republicans

Defections to Klan Man.

With a two-man race for governor and the decks cleared for action, the fall campaign will be under full steam in a few days and a very tropical and acrimonious contest is assured. The lines will be even more sharply drawn in the November general election than was the case in the primaries and there is a persistent, studied and organized effort to make the so-called compulsory educational measure the predominant issue.

The line-up is Ben W. Olcott, republican, and Walter M. Pierce, democrat. Having effaced himself by withdrawing as an independent candidate, Charles Hall has simplified the situation.

Incidentally Hall, who arrived in Portland from Marshfield yesterday, says “I am out of politics,” and says he has nothing to add to his statement of withdrawal.

Each Party Has Defections.

There are defections from the democratic camp to Olcott and defections from the republican ranks to Pierce. How near these changes to balance, if at all, can only be discovered when the votes are counted November 7.

Pierce supporters express great confidence since Hall quit the race, admitting that had Hall remained in every vote he received would have been a loss to Pierce and a gain for Olcott, for the Hall vote would not swing to the republican nominee in any circumstance. Pierce supporters, properly defined, include the Ku Klux Klan and the Federation of Patriotic Societies. Among what would have been the normal Pierce supporters, the old-line democrats, there is dissatisfaction with the course the democratic nominee is pursuing.

Thousands Desert Democrats.

Thousands of democrats have deserted Pierce for Olcott because of his statement for the school bill. Among the most personal and intimate political advisors of Pierce there is resentment at him for making the statement, their contention being that it did not belong in the campaign proper but was a separate matter. The statement has, to some extent, disrupted the democratic party. Few of the acknowledged democratic leaders but will privately admit their anger at the party candidate.

On the other hand, the kluxers and the federation have buried the hatchet and have gone over to Pierce in a body. Or at least their leaders have. Of course, a good percentage, probably one-third, of the members in the groups are democrats.

Programme Is Forced.

According to gossip, the kluxers “put it over” the federation of patriotic societies. The federation forced its programme of candidates in the primaries and the kluxers had to accept, but in the latest turn of things, the kluxers has outgeneralized the federation.

Hall was not the first choice of the kluxers in the primaries, but the federation had the whip hand. When Hall lost his recount contest against Olcott for the republican nomination the kluxers officers began working for Pierce. The federation next brought out Decks cleared for political battle. $1,500,000 BLAZE HITS ATLANTA, GA.

FIRE IN RETAIL DISTRICT IS UNDER CONTROL.

Flames Break Out About Midnight and Sweep Through Block Before 2 A. M.

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 24.—After doing damage generally estimated by the police and fire department officials at from $700,000 to $1,500,000, a fire that started in the heart of Atlanta's retail business district about midnight apparently had been brought under control shortly before 2 o'clock this morning.

Fire which started here shortly before midnight cut a wide hole in the center of the downtown business block surrounded by Whitehall, Alabama and Broad streets and the Western & Atlantic railroad yards.

With the flames almost completely surrounded, firemen had difficulty in getting at it, and the blaze was jumping high into the air, with a moderate wind blowing towards the northwest and heavy sparks flying toward other buildings in that direction.

Thirty minutes after the fire was discovered it had practically wiped out a building occupied by the Kress 5 and 10-cent store and had spread to the Childs hotel, which faces on Broad street. The McClure building, next door, was burning slowly, an automatic sprinkler system apparently holding the fire in check in this structure.

Heavy sparks were flying, and an awning high up on the sixteenth-story Fourth National Bank building was seen to catch, burn and the embers drop.

Lieutenant Robert Wagner of the Atlanta police force stated that what appeared to be an explosion started the fire in the second floor of the Kress store. From there the flames spread to the L. F. M. department store and to Eisenman's clothing store, three doors to the north and facing on Whitehall street.

The flames leaped over a small alley in the rear of the Kress store to the Childs hotel, which was burning shortly before 1 o'clock.

ROPING EXHIBIT UNUSUAL

35,000 Pack Stands Hour Before Show and Thousands Forced to Stand to See Events.

PENDLETON, Or., Sept. 23.—(Special.)—Necessity for additional seating capacity at the Round-up was made imperative today, when the Round-up fans crowding into the grandstands and bleachers totaled approximately 35,000 nearly one hour before the show. Thousands were forced to stand but continued to pour in until the Round-up grounds seethed with humanity.

Off went the first event promptly on the minute. Bucking bulls, horses and steers took the center of the stage and after tossing off their riders demoralized the arena.

Three horses finished together in the cowboys' pony race.

Gilbert McIntosh again took the spectacular stage coach race, whipping his galloping string into new speed.

Cowgirls' Relay Thrilling.

Only 34 seconds separated the four entries in the cowgirls' relay race for the championship of the world, when the final race was called. A perfect start was made by President H. W. Collins. Mabel Strickland lost her second horse on the change and forfeited the race as her speedster steered to empty saddles around the track.

Lorena Trickey on C. R. Irwin's string, who had the best time for the first two days, again captured the final day's event, by a easy lead with record time. Vera McGinnis on Harry Walter's string, second for the first two days, took second today. Danna Card, riding Paul Landrum's string fourth in time for the first two days, came in to second place when Mabel Strickland lost out. The race was most thrilling and, not having pajamas large enough for him, the hospital attaches improvised a sleeping garment out of sheets.
