

TIERNAN AND WIFE ARE RECONCILED

Blood Test to Fix Parentage Now in Doubt.

DEFENSE NOT COMPLETE

Hearing to Be Resumed Tomorrow. When Poulin is Expected to Testify.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Sept. 23.—Will the blood test determine the parentage of the 10-month-old son of Mrs. Augusta Tiernan, wife of Professor John P. Tiernan, of Notre Dame...

That was the question asked most frequently while the court, which is hearing the paternity case, took a half holiday and recessed at noon today without the defense having completed its testimony...

The fact that the Tiernans had opened negotiations some time ago with Dr. Albert Abrams of San Francisco, who says he has evolved a system of relaying a statement of the percentage of an infant through vibratory blood tests...

Professor Tiernan, after being shown the dispatch from San Francisco, admitted that he had been in correspondence with Dr. Abrams concerning the making of blood tests in the case of Mrs. Tiernan's youngest child...

Speculation as to when the case will draw to a close is equalled by the interest shown in the future step may be taken. Either side has the right to take an appeal if not satisfied with the ruling handed down by Judge Ducomb...

HOLMAN BACKS PROJECT

COMMISSIONER INSISTS ON TERWILLIGER EXTENSION.

New Resolution to Be Introduced to Provide Re-Veiling of Proposed Road.

In the face of a report by prior viewers, three in number, to the effect that a proposed extension of the Terwilliger boulevard to Dunthorpe "would not be a public utility nor a commendable part of parcel of the road system of Multnomah and Clackamas counties," County Commissioner Holman will introduce three new resolutions seeking the establishment of such a road...

New viewers would have to be appointed and report on the project. Already more than $200 has been spent by the county in surveys along the proposed right of way. The road planned is an ambitious project, which would cost more than $100,000.

The viewers' report on virtually the same project, which is being approached at a different angle by Commissioner Holman, follows in part:

"Pop about one mile from the city boundary this proposed road would pass through land that has been platted into building lots and lands that have been improved to some extent, all of which property is supplied with a good macadamized road conveniently situated for the service of all concerned."

"The opening of this proposed road would cause great damage to the owners of many of the lots along its route because of the necessary widening required."

"At a distance of slightly over a mile from the said city boundary the location leaves the improved lands and enters a tract of land destitute of habitations or improvements of any kind and continues over this unimproved land for a distance of over one and one-half miles."

"This unimproved land is more or less rough, and would be very expensive to improve. The southerly terminus of the proposed road connects with a system of roads in the plat of Dunthorpe, in Clackamas county, where the streets and roadways have been improved in various ways by the owners of the adjoining property."

"In view of these facts it is our opinion that the proposed road will not be in the nature of a public utility nor a commendable part of parcel of the road system of Multnomah and Clackamas counties, and we recommend that the road be not established."

GOVERNOR LEADS COLORFUL PARADE AT GREAT ROUND-UP

Lorena Trickey Retains Title as Queen of Cowgirls and Howard Tegland Becomes World's Champion Broncho Rider.

BY ADDISON BENNETT. PENDLETON, Or., Sept. 23.—(Special).—At 1 o'clock the stands are packed, save the grandstand, where seats are reserved, and people are still coming, so it seems that many hundreds—thousands—will have to stand both inside and outside the fences. Governor Olcott, with Mrs. Olcott, has just entered. With them are Admiral Mayo and Mrs. Mayo, and our own Johnny Yeon. In the press box we have two new members, H. V. Collins of the Hoquiam (Wash.) Washingtonian, the newspaper Rev. A. B. Gammack of Pittsburg, Mass. He has a son on the Paris edition of the New York Herald.

Another innovation for the year is the appearance of 125 boosters from Spokane, this being the first organized attempt of the people from that city to attend. They came in a special train over the O.-W. R. N. with their tents, five and five sleepers, and arrived at 8 A. M. Another new feature is the appearance of the "Walrus" bugle band, number a lucky 13. With five bands, "the air is filled with music."

The performance starts a quarter hour ahead of time, for the first event takes much time. The first event is showing a few spectacular rides of bulls and ponies, in the square race, and to run true to form on the "spoke" in the race today's fall occurring at the west end of the track. It looked from the press box like a bad fall. The square race fell yesterday received no permanent injuries.

By the failure of a horse to change correctly there was much sport in the cowgirls' relay race, which was held up today by a fraction of a second by Lorena Trickey. Mabel Strickland was left horseless, and Miss Trickey again won, taking the first prize of $350.

At 2 P. M. the officials announced to the press box an attendance of 25,000, which is a record for the round-up. It is surely a wonderful spectacle. No pen can describe the array of colors, no picture can depict the grandeur of the scene. There was no such mixture of radiant colors as ever witnessed. The Indians, of course, take the lead for bright colors in the parade. In the press box is a picture only for talent of the first order to describe.

In the steer-roping contests the cowboys take, success is measured by catching their brutes. Not until the last on the list, Hugo Strickland, did the audience think that the cowboy had a "drag" with the audience only equalled by that of Buffalo Vernon, who was such a big card in the early days of the Round-up.

RIDERS OF WILD CAYUSES DEEPLY IMPRESS AUTHORS

It's Worth While Trip From New York to See Punch Guyette on Insane Broncho, Says Putnam.

BY GEORGE P. PUTNAM. PENDLETON, Or., Sept. 23.—(Special).—For our gang of rough writers from the east the Round-up is over. And the very last of it was the best of it. Which means not only the world's championship bucking contests, which raised our authors right out of their seats with enthusiasm, but perhaps especially the wild horse race. If any reader of The Oregonian hasn't seen a wild horse race, put a reminder on next year's calendar, here and now, to get to Pendleton next September. It is a species of unforgettable concentrated inferno of devilish bad-mannered horseflesh and roistering, fearless man flesh that has no equal anywhere, any time. Just to see Punch Guyette ride the insane cayuse was worth the trip from New York.

And that championship bucking. What a show in itself that was! White collar man nearly fell. This afternoon a white collar man almost won it, too. For he it known that Ray Bell, who came in second, sported a spotted collar with a bit of black necktie that reminded me of Pierre, head waiter at Delmonico's. Yakima Canutt ranked third, which was something of a personal disappointment for me, because he started his bucking career this afternoon on the back of George Putnam, an unpublished looking volume of bound horsehide. But Yakima took my four-footed namesake to a cleaning and then did the same for Bill McAdoo.

Thus far our party has been well represented at cowboy liquid breakfasts (at least the start of them) and appeared prominently enough wherever their well-known camera shyness permitted, even to riding in the parades. But today one of our rough writers figured on the programme as a real rough rider. He was John Held, cartoonist and illustrator, who is doing Round-up pictures for Judge John. He is the world's best illustrator-bucking-bronco rider. At least, he was the best in Pendleton. And John made a whopping good ride on the hospitable back of a horse called Gray Eagle, which Hand Collins had assured me was as gentle as a parlor pony. Heaven help Pendleton parlor, is all I can say. "Give 'em Held," yelled the crowd and John did his best, but Gray Eagle held out longest and John landed with a splash in the dirt, which didn't at all help his broken finger, which was smashed up last night. It is understood, at the Epworth league meeting.

"Positively," said Dr. Walter Traprock in that decisive way of his, "positively there is nothing at the north pole like the Round-up. The bulldogging is especially impressive."

"Hook 'em, Kawa" was Traprock's favorite cry. To which Wallace Irwin rudely added, "Hook 'em, Kawa." Ruth Hale Heads Procession. Ruth Hale led the procession today at the side of Governor Olcott. And as Ben and Ruth rode by the grandstand the rough writers sang "Hale, Hale, the Gang's All Here."

This being the last occasion probably for a long time in which the eastern authors will be able to wear Round-up regalia, they spread themselves today in dolling up like northern lights, so far as gay colors are concerned. The chief item in what the well-dressed man will wear at Pendleton is, of course, a dazzling colored vest. Everybody does it. Clearly this is where the vest begins.

Today, too, the photographers as well as the clothiers worked hard. An historic picture was taken of the

COURT GRANTS RAIL STRIKE INJUNCTION

Attorney-General Daugherty Wins Chicago Hearing.

UNIONS TO APPEAL CASE

Government Undecided Whether to Ask That Ruling Be Made Permanent.

CHICAGO, Sept. 23.—Judge James H. Wilkinson today granted Attorney-General Daugherty's petition for a nation-wide temporary injunction against the striking railway shopmen.

Indication that the shopcraft leaders would appeal from Judge Wilkinson's decree was given by Donald Richberg, counsel for B. M. Jewell, president and John Scott, vice-president of the railway employees' department of the American Federation of Labor.

Decision Is Reversed. "The court has held, I understand," said Attorney Richberg, "that the defendants are responsible for lawless acts committed mostly as the court stated, by parties not known, because of the admitted combination to carry on a strike."

It has been the contention of the defendants that the issuance of the injunction in conformity with the attorney-general's demands would be a violation of the most fundamental and important of constitutional rights and that it would be an exercise of power which has been expressly denied to the district court by an act of congress.

"If the opinion of the court, on careful reading, is found to authorize an order conforming to the demands of the attorney-general, the exact form of the order and precise extent to which the court may take away what the defendants regard as their constitutional rights by an action of the court may enter, should be outside the powers of the court is a matter of minor importance."

Appeal to Be Perfected. "The question of major importance is to ascertain how quickly they can perfect an appeal and obtain a review by the circuit court of appeals of any decree which the district court may enter, founded on the opinion read today."

The government has not decided whether to follow up the present hearing with a request for a permanent injunction. It was said today that the government would appeal from the injunction order.

Attorney-General Daugherty on Thursday presented the government's proposed draft, which is even more drastic than the restraining order now in force.

The order will affect about 270 officers and 400,000 members of the six crafts belonging to the railway employees' department of the American Federation of Labor.

So my "old home week" in Oregon is ended. "Let 'er buck" became an echo for the last time from the rear platform of Bill McMurray's car. A last time only for this year, though. For it's au revoir, Oregon, and not good-bye. The rough writers will come again. I am instructed to announce that in the name of Ruth Hale, George Chappel (Dr. Traprock), Wallace Irwin, Charles Hanson Towne, Hubbard Hutchinson, Walter Trumbull, John Held, Fred O'Brien and Mrs. Putnam. Let 'er buck!
