

LABOR CONVENTION OPENS TOMORROW

Proposed Legislation Likely to Be Discussed.

150 DELEGATES LIKELY

Credentials of 130 Already Sent to Federation Officials; Governor Olcott Is to Speak.

SALEM, Or., Sept. 23.—(Special).—Discussion of proposed legislation to be submitted to the next session of the legislature, election of officers, inspection of the Oregon Agricultural college and consideration of various resolutions relating to the perpetuation and welfare of unionism will feature the annual convention of the Oregon State Federation of Labor, which starts here Monday. The convention will continue in session until late in the week.

Reports received here today from E. J. Stack, secretary of the federation with headquarters in Portland, indicated that more than 150 delegates would attend the convention. Already 130 delegates have sent in their credentials to the federation officials.

Otto Hartwig to Speak.
The opening session will be featured by an address by Otto Hartwig, president of the federation. Other speakers will include Governor Olcott, Secretary of the Oregon State Board of Agriculture, O. P. Hoff, state treasurer; Mayor George Halverson, C. H. Gram, state labor commissioner; William A. Merrill, member of the state industrial accident commission, and W. A. Dalsiel, deputy state sealer of fish and game. Practically all of the resolutions to be considered at the convention will be presented Monday, officials said, and will be taken up by the various committees of the federation for approval or rejection. Officers of the federation said it was likely that most of the resolutions will be finally disposed of before Wednesday night.

Corvallis to Be Visited.
Tuesday, delegates will go to Corvallis, where they will hold a business session in the morning and inspect the agricultural college in the afternoon.

Local labor leaders said today that harmony prevails within the ranks of the Oregon federation and that a constructive and conservative session is expected.

Election of officers probably will feature the closing session of the convention. It was predicted by Salem laborites that Otto Hartwig would be re-elected president while E. J. Stack would be retained as secretary.

While it is not likely that the federation will request more than a few laws at the next session of the legislature, it is expected to indorse a number of amendments which will strengthen the present statutes as they relate to matters beneficial to labor. Two or three of these amendments will have to do with the industrial accident operations of the state industrial accident commission.

DAMAGE SUIT FAILURE

Samuel Wertheimer Cleared of Blame in Injury Case.

ASTORIA, Or., Sept. 23.—(Special).—A verdict for the defendant was returned by the circuit court jury in the case of Victor Moses, administrator of the estate of the late Lillian Moses, against Samuel E. Wertheimer. The action was brought to recover damages in the sum of $7500 for the death of Lillian Moses, who was alleged to have been fatally injured when struck by a falling sign in front of the defendant's place of business. The jury was excused until Tuesday, when another civil case will be heard.

Wednesday the case against Charlie Sing, alias Louis Fat, charged with the murder of Seld Fon, will be called. The defendant is a member of the Hip Sing Tong while the murdered man belonged to the Bing Kung Bow Leong organization, and the crime was alleged to have been committed in connection with the recent tong war.

JAIL VISITED AT NIGHT

Deputy Sheriff Refuses Party Admittance to Slayer's Cell.

EPHRAATA, Wash., Sept. 23.—What Deputy Sheriff Jack McChesney believes was threatened violence toward Paul Starn, confessed slayer of August Bonington, near Wilson Creek last Tuesday night, was frustrated last night when the demands of the hop crop of men that they be taken to Starn's cell in the county jail here were refused.

Deputy Sheriff McChesney said the men, none of whom was masked, went to the jail about midnight with the demand. Upon his refusal they departed after some parlaying and left in an automobile. He said he was informed they had come from Wilson Creek.

Photographs and finger prints of Starn were sent today to officers at Olympia to determine whether they correspond with descriptions of the man who attacked members of the O'Hare family near there September 7.

FIRE DESTROYS HOP CROP

Seavey Warehouse and Contents
Consumed; Loss Is $50,000.

SPRINGFIELD, Or., Sept. 23.—(Special).—Fire last night destroyed the J. H. Seavey storage warehouse near here and about $50,000 worth of hops that it contained. The loss is estimated at about $50,000.

The Seavey hopwads represent fully two-thirds of the hop crop of this section of the Willamette valley and the fire loss will be a hard blow to the industry in this county. The destroyed bales weighed 300 pounds and were valued at about $85 each. Fifteen minutes after the fire was discovered the warehouse was a seething furnace.

LINFIELD COLLEGE OPEN

New Term Inaugurated by Special Exercises for Student Body.

MCMINNVILLE, Or., Sept. 23.—(Special).—Linfield college opened Tuesday and Wednesday of this week with a registration of 238 students. This is the largest opening day registration. Wednesday evening the formal opening was held in the college gymnasium and a good-sized crowd attended the exercises. Dr. C. L. Trawin offered the opening prayer and Dr. L. W. Riley gave introductory remarks. Mayor Houck of McMinnville extended a welcome in behalf of the city to all the students, both former and new. Judge Rhodes extended the welcome of the board of trustees of the college. Words of greeting also were spoken by the field representative, J. C. Austin. Dr. Riley introduced the new members of the faculty, who spoke briefly. Miss Delos, James of the biology department; Kenneth M. Ray, professor of the chemistry department, and Richard C. Spencer, professor of the political science department. Dr. Sly, instructor in sacred literature, spoke on the subject "Five Principles of Life." These he enumerated as Christian character, Christian education, Christian enthusiasm, Christian citizenship, and Christian citizenship. The greatest he said was Christian citizenship.

4 HURT IN AUTO WRECK

MOLALLA COUPLE MAY DIE
AS RESULT OF CRASH.

Two Portland Passengers in One of Machines That Strikes Another Head On.

SALEM, Or., Sept. 23.—(Special).—Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Sorenson of Molalla probably were fatally injured, while J. E. Windle and W. J. F. Albright of Oregon City, and the salmon fishing and fish propagation amendment introduced by G. Green of West Linn, Clackamas county. Glaring irregularities found.

Many witnesses testified in connection with the three cases, and in each instance the court found glaring irregularities. It was discovered by the court, according to the depositions, that the petitioners had little or no attention to the laws governing this work, and in many instances they allowed persons to sign their names to the petitions who were not qualified voters of the state.

In other instances it was found that the notaries public certified to the signatures of names in violation of the Oregon statutes. In two or three outstanding instances these notaries attested by their seal that of their personal knowledge they knew as many as 2500 of the persons who signed the petitions, and in fact their knowledge was limited to less than 25 of the signers.

It was because of these irregularities that the court found the petitions were invalid and the amendments and measure to go on the ballot at the November election.

Fair Tax Attacked.
In a suit filed in the Marion county court Wednesday the validity of the amendment authorizing the city of Portland to vote a tax of $30,000 for exposition purposes has been brought to an issue. In all action it was charged that the county clerk who certified to the names on the petitions failed to compare the names with the original registration cards. An answer is now being prepared in this case and the date of the hearing probably will be set within the next few days.

Offerings to be referred to the voters at the November election. Both cars rolled into the ditch, and in the courts include the income tax amendment sponsored by the Oregon Taxpayers' league, the so-called compulsory education bill, single tax amendment introduced by the Oregon Single Tax league, and two measures authorizing Linn and Benton counties to levy a tax to take up outstanding warrants.

Indications are that the income tax amendment offered by the Taxpayers' league will have hard sledding in that a number of the granges of the state have gone on record as opposed to the offering. These granges have taken the stand that if the grange bill is eliminated from the ballot they will look for a similar offering sponsored by another organization.

Education Bill Issue.
It was said here today that no attempt will be made to strike the compulsory education bill from the ballot. This offering probably will enter prominently into the November election and may be the deciding element in the gubernatorial contest. Walter Pierce, democratic nominee for governor, has come out openly in favor of this measure, while it has the opposition of Gov.

Mr. Douglas, who yesterday obtained from the supreme court an order for Judge Griffiths to show cause October 5 why he should not be required to grant change of venue in the case of J. W. Picconka, retorted with a written statement to the judge's announcement.

Judge Griffiths was a candidate in the primary September 12 for the republican nomination for United States senator.

Apparatus Blows Up, Leading to Arrest of Henry Decker.

Illicit manufacture of liquor on the part of Henry Decker, 428 Patton road, came to an end yesterday when a 40-gallon still blew up and set fire to the house. Firemen called morals squad officers Smith, Green, Charvin and Sanders.

Decker and his wife, who are said to have left the house when the explosion disrupted their operations, were apprehended when they returned some hours later. Mrs. Decker was released.

Seven hundred gallons of mash, 12 pints of moonshine, and the still were removed by the officers. Little damage was done to the house.

NOVEMBER BALLOT RAPPED BY JUDGES

Three Measures Refused
Place by Court Orders.

FOURTH BILL ATTACKED

Time for Filing by Electors' Petitions Will Expire on September 27.

SALEM, Or., Sept. 23.—(Special).—With three amendments and measures already eliminated from consideration by the courts and a fourth amendment under legal attack, indications are that the voters this fall will be confronted by one of the smallest initiative ballots in the history of the state.

In decisions handed down during the last two weeks by Judges G. G. Bingham and Percy Kelly of the Marion county circuit court there have been eliminated from the ballot the November election the graduated income tax measure sponsored by the Oregon state grange, the so-called 5 percent interest rate, while J. E. Windle and W. J. F. Albright of Oregon City, and the salmon fishing and fish propagation amendment introduced by G. Green of West Linn, Clackamas county.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK DESIGNATED

Oregon Marshal Plans to Spread Education.

SPEAKERS ARE ASSIGNED

Gospel of Prevention Is to Be Carried Into Schools and City Theaters.

SALEM, Or., Sept. 23.—(Special).—The week October 7 to 14 has been proclaimed fire prevention week throughout the country, and Oregon, as in previous years, will participate in its observance. The program, although not yet completed, probably will include special exercises in the schools, addresses in many of the theaters and public demonstrations in fire prevention work.

This was announced today by A. C. Barber, state fire marshal, who will be assisted in carrying out the program by a number of men prominent in the affairs of this state. It is likely, he said, that two or three speakers from states outside of Oregon will be invited to come here and spread the gospel of fire prevention among the people. In a statement issued today Mr. Barber said that the responsibility for fire losses is not confined to any one class of individuals, but that thousands of people contribute to the cause or conditions that result in fire loss.

Thoughtlessness Is Blamed.

"Many of these people are not intentionally responsible," Mr. Barber said, "but are thoughtlessly so. They are responsible because of their indifference to the causes of fire. Everyone helps to pay the fire loss either directly or indirectly. It is a tax none can escape because it is an added percentage to the cost of commodities. It is, therefore, a problem so general in its nature that everyone should be interested in solving it. Everyone should give it their earnest attention."

The causes of fire are ever present almost everywhere. They lurk in our homes, shops, factories, schoolhouses and in fact in almost every place where things will burn. These causes remain for a time inactive like the germs of an infectious disease waiting for conditions to become favorable.

"Fire causes may be divided into two general classes; material causes, or the various material things such as stoves, chimneys, gasoline lamps and matches which, because of improper care or use, may cause fire, and personal causes, or the causes which arise from personal habits.

"To correct the hazards included in the first class will require careful inspection of the premises from time to time and the correction of the conditions.

Habits Often Cause.

"The second class embraces fire dangers that arise from personal habits. Smoking, improper use of matches, starting fire with oil, careless use of gasoline and many other similar habits. The correction of this class of personal or human habits requires first of all frequent introspection. One should ask himself the question many times daily, 'Is this or that habit safe?'

"Fire causes exist alike in both city and country buildings. Perhaps the danger of fire starting in some place nearly equal in the two classes of buildings. In the city, however, there is a considerably increased danger of the fire starting from outside sources or of its spreading through large districts.

"The best way to fight fire is long time to time and the correction of the conditions.

Inspections Are Urged.

A survey by the state fire marshal's department covering a period of several years shows that the chief contributors to fire loss are the premises of landlords and tenants, smoking, matches, lanterns, automobiles and gasoline tractors and threshing outfits.

A little more precaution, coupled with frequent inspections of the premises of landlords and tenants, will reduce the fire loss materially, Mr. Barber concluded.

Military Club to Reorganize.

ALBANY, Or., Sept. 23.—(Special).—The military club, composed of members of the 43rd company, coast artillery, will meet on October 3 to reorganize for the coming winter. Under the plans now proposed, a series of dances and smokers will be given. The company is now holding semi-weekly drills at the armory to make up the time lost during the summer vacation. Field Sergeant Jirak will hold an inspection of the company next Tuesday night, following the plans now proposed, a series of dances and smokers will be given.
