

Paint This Picture With Brush Dipped In Water—MAGIC COLORS Will Appear.

THE DANNY DEES

A little boy sat on the floor
Behind his mother's pantry door.
He'd found a jar of apple jam,
And laughed and thought "How smart I am.

Now as he licked his spoon in glee,
He never thought of Danny Dee,
Who never can be far behind,
A child who has such things in mind.

This day while Danny poked around
He thought he heard a tiny sound.
"Ah-ha," said he, "there's mischief here;
Perhaps I'd better interfere."

O, how surprised was naughty Jim
When Danny Dee appeared to him,
And straightway led him, jam and all,
Across the floor and to the wall.

Then Danny worked with all his might,
With apple jam he glued him tight
Against the wall and left him there,
Then softly crept back down the stair.

The Danny Dees are always kind
To children who intend to mind;
But if you're naughty, then take care,
For Danny Dees are everywhere.

Ladd F. Morse.

(Copyright, 1922, World Color Printing Company, St Louis, Mo.)

STATION - F-U-N MAGIC! MAGIC!
PAINT THE GREY
PICTURES WITH A
BRUSH DIPPED IN
WATER AND WATCH
THE MAGIC COLORS
APPEAR!