

SHIP LIQUOR RULE IS SPILT IN EFFECT

Foreign Vessels Now on High Seas Still Exempt.

STAY IS "AUTOMATIC"

Only Craft Sailing After Midnight Are Affected; Ruling on U. S. Craft Rigid.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 21.—Provisions of the liquor statutes held by Attorney-General Daugherty to prohibit transportation and sale of alcoholic beverages on American vessels are rigid, and on foreign vessels within three miles of the United States coast, became effective tonight at midnight.

The extension of time ordered by President Harding to permit ship lines to arrange their affairs to conform to the ruling expired at midnight and enforcement officials declared suggestions for a further extension had not been approved.

It was considered probable that several days would elapse before customs and prohibition forces would have at hand specific instructions as to the scope of their authority under the Daugherty opinion, but this was declared would have no effect on the operation of the law.

A foreign vessel sailing with inhibited cargo after today, it was said, would be liable to the penalties fixed by the Volstead act if and when she entered American coastal waters bearing that cargo.

Rigid on U. S. Ships. American ships, under the ruling of the attorney general, which received the formal approval of President Harding, are prohibited from possessing liquor regardless of where they may be.

The ban was made operative as to shipping board tonnage as soon as the ruling was published, though time was allowed for the disposal of on-board stocks on board vessels of the fleet then at sea.

Enforcement officials are hopeful for a decision coming from the federal district court in New York, where the new interpretation of the law is under fire by both foreign and American lines, before the arrival of a vessel on the Atlantic route, and of an even longer period with respect to ships crossing the Pacific.

Absence of formal instructions as to their procedure will not serve as a deterrent on customs and prohibition forces, it was declared, as the regulations now standing are sufficient to permit them to act in cases of suspected violation.

Administration officials looked to an early decision from Judge Hand in New York to clear up the situation. If affirmative—granting a permanent injunction which would restrain the government from enforcing its interpretation of the law—the decision would act as an automatic stay, pending adjudication of the appeal which the department of justice has indicated would be taken immediately.

Replies Still Held Up. Should Judge Hand vacate the temporary order, however, the government would be free to proceed with enforcement actions and until the lines affected brought some new action in the courts.

Reply by the state department to the protests of Great Britain against closure of the Canadian schooner Emerald tonight still was awaiting a detailed report from the New York prohibition officials as to details of the case against that ship.

Report Held Too Meager. The brief report received yesterday declaring the Emerald had illegally communicated with the shore by means of small boats was not considered sufficiently informative for the purpose of the state department, which had requested Secretary Mellon to obtain and transmit all available bearings on the incident.

Under the policy announced by President Harding, enforcement of the liquor and customs laws at sea would be restricted to the three-mile zone except in case of ships which had established communication with American territory by their own boats or in such a manner as brought them within the purview of the court decision holding such craft to be legally within the zone, although physically outside.

WETS AND DRIES CLASH

(Continued From First Page.) If elected he "would make New Jersey as wet as the Atlantic ocean." He didn't do that, it must be admitted, but, to quote one of his enthusiastic supporters, "Eddie did his damndest." New Jersey may come under the prohibition law but it is very far from being "bone dry." You can buy liquor almost anywhere in the state you want to and in many cases public officials will "tip you off" as to the best place to go. Liquor sellers have been raided, but only when United States officials got on the job. If the state has done anything to back them up it has not been apparent. And, rightly or wrongly, Governor Edwards gets the credit (or discredit, if one is a prohibitionist) for the conditions that prevail.

State Normally Republican.

New Jersey is normally a strong republican state. Wilson lost it to Hughes in 1916 by 57,764 votes, and Harding had in excess of 265,000 in 1920. But the year before that Edwards had 15,000 majority, and solely and simply because of his anti-prohibition platform. It must be remembered that the women didn't vote in 1916, so his lead would probably have been 35,000, for experience has shown that the women in the east follow the election choices of the men of the family.

There are 21 counties in the state of New Jersey, and in the last presidential election 470,000 votes were cast. Of these 423,000, or practically one-half were polled in five counties, Essex, Hudson, Camden, Passaic and Union. Wilson, in 1916 lost these five by a total of 23,595. Edwards, for governor, carried them by 25,554, and his hopes of election are based on these five districts.

GRAND JURY INDICTS 4

LOS ANGELES BOY ACCUSED OF WHITE SLAVERY.

Two Men Held for Alleged Larceny of Autos by Returns of Federal Panel.

Albert C. Tanner, Los Angeles youth, who was alleged to have wandered away from his home town with another man's wife and two children, ultimately settling at Falls City, Or., must answer to a jury in the United States court, so the federal grand jury found yesterday in an indictment which it returned charging him with white slavery.

E. J. Lenehan and C. O. Holton were indicted for the larceny of automobiles, and Antonio Saso, local Italian vegetable huckster, was charged with robbing an interstate shipment of freight.

Not-true bills were returned in the case of Barton Oney, ex-governor forest ranger, accused of fraud in connection with the purchase of supplies at Lapine, Or. Other not-true bills returned at the same time freed Lee Summers and Warren Huff, introducing liquor on a reservation, Moy Him, charged with a violation of the Harrison anti-narcotics act, and Nellie B. Harsh, charged with impersonating a government agent.

NEW WING IS DEVELOPED

Carrying Capacity of Mailplanes Greatly Increased.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Development of a new type of airplane wing for the United States mail service, which, it is declared, will more than double the carrying capacity of the planes now in use, was announced today by the Aeromarine Airways, Inc.

The new wing was designed by Paul G. Zimmerman, Aeromarine Airways engineer, said the announcement. In flights between New York and Washington a standard mail plane equipped with the wings carried 1,032 pounds of mail instead of the usual 460 pounds.

Within the new wings, the announcement said, speeds as low as 65 miles an hour and as high as 190 miles could be maintained.

BARRING OF RED URGED

Admission to United States of Jean Longuet Protested.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—The American defense society announced tonight that it had lodged a protest with the state department at Washington against the admission to this country of Jean Longuet, grandson of Karl Marx, on the ground that he is an active supporter of revolutionary Russia which, according to the society, is now attempting to overthrow the United States government.

Longuet, according to the protest sent to Secretary Hughes, has applied for an American visa, preparatory to touring the United States. The state department is understood to be considering the matter, the society says.

New Mail Route Approved.

SHERIDAN, Or., Oct. 21.—(Special.)—The postal inspector has approved a new mail route to extend from Williams into the Gold creek district to serve the patrons in that vicinity. Most of the patrons served by this improvement live in Polk county.
