GRID SCHEDULE DRAWN

Pasadena Post-Season Game Unconditionally Dropped and All Such Games Opposed.

BY L. H. GREGORY.

SEATTLE, Wash. Dec. 9.—(Special.)—The Pacific coast intercollegiste conference adjourned tonight after about as busy a day's work as after about as husy a day's work as it ever accomplished. This, in brief, is what it did:

Bestored harmony in the conference and sent everybody home happy by kissing and making up with Stanford university, which in turn hissed and made up with the conference and withdrew its letter of withdrawal as a member.

After hours of labor, finally

After hours of labor, finally worked out and adopted a football schedule for next year that satisfies everybody reasonably well and leaves no hard feelings.

Unconditionally dropped the Pasadena post-season east vs. west football game after this season so far as the conference is concerned and announced itself opposed in principle to any post-season games, left the way open for individual conference colleges to play such games "at rare intervals" under certain restrictions.

Stringent Rule Adopted.

Adopted a stringent rule aimed at the "transfer athlete," who goes from one college to another, but showed it was not shooting at any college in particular by specifically providing that the rule shall not be retroactive. That leaves Moe Sax and Cogs Campbell of Oregon cli-gible to play next year. Smoothed the ruffled feelings of Idaho by deciding it had been hasty last fall in declaring her great football player. Bob Fitzke, incligible on an ex-post facto ruling, restored him to full standing and gave him two more years of participation in coast conference athletics.

The conference also disposed of several matters of minor importance, but those were the highlights.

Good Schedule Made Up. Good Schedule Made Up.

The man's-sized job of them all was making up the football schedule. That usually is done by the coaches and graduate managers, but after they had run around in circles and split into factions and become hopelessly tangled yesterday, the faculty representatives took a hand.
Dr. John U. Calkins, faculty representative, and lute Nichols, grad-

resentative, and Lute Nichols, grad uate manager, University of Cali-fornia, started things toward a solu-Jornia, started things toward a solu-tion when they announced late last night that they were "through" unless the delegates quit lobbying and selfish pulling of wires and sat down at a table with everybody present to work things out.
"Any schedule must be a give-and-take proposition," said Calkins

"We'll give and take with you, but I am done with proposing schedules and having them turned down by somebody's selfishness. California Will go it alone and arrange a Brith Amateur Athletic club will be schedule to suit herself, unless the rest of you are willing to get together.

Athletic Society.

Athletic Society.

Blumenthal also has organized a woman's hiking club, which gets into action every Sunday morning.

The high school basketball team will play the business women's class next Tuesday night at the Brith Community house. The rether?

will appear, so Portland will see both the big California elevens in is same season.

The California game will be gainst Washington State and the ate will be October 27.

The Stanford game will be against Oregon, with the date November 16 which will make an Armistice day The other Portland game will be between the Oregon Aggies and Washington State, on November 17.

Stanford Makes Concessions.

After the round table session stated, the Stanford representatives made some concessions from their attitude of yesterday, when they de-call.)—Close followers of the attitude of yesterday, when they declined to make a trip north, declined to make a trip north, declined to play more than three conference games and insisted that the saturday before their "big game" will cultifornia must be an open date.

As finally arranged, Stanford accepted a northern trip to Fortland, took four conference games and agreed to play daho at Stanford the week before the California game. Under the urging of Dr. Calkins, pearemaker of the acession, Oregon and Washington lass withdrew from their refusal to play the Oregon and Washington also withdrew from their refusal to play the Oregon and Washington agames as sort of a rome, in which we have not the same date at the climax of the season.

Oregon and Washington insisted that these were big traditional games and should be played on the same date at the climax of the season.

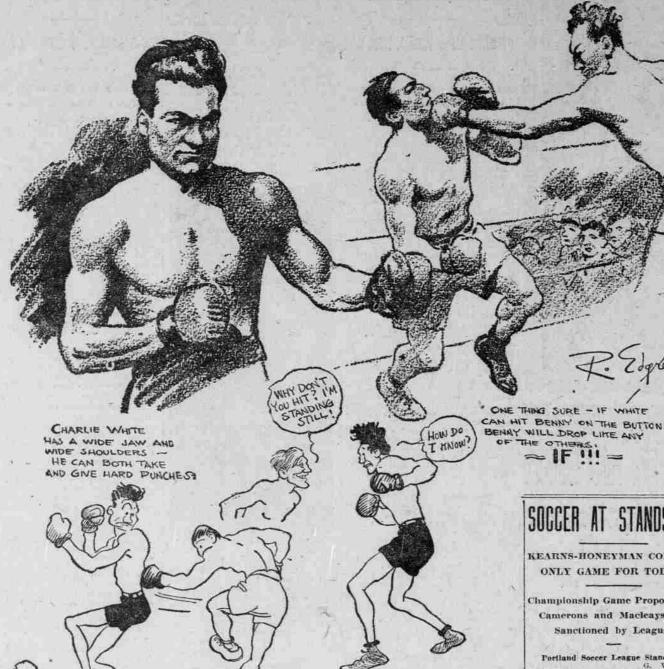

Oregon and Washington insisted that these were big traditional games and should be the call Dr. Calkins took a hand and finally the two agricultural colleges won their point by getting their games with the state universities on November 24.

Season Is Extended Week.

But Oregon and Washington won their point too, by the expedient of the contained the point too, by the expedient of the very long that it should get the call Dr. Calkins took a hand and finally the two agricultural colleges won their point by getting their games with the state universities on November 24.

Season Is Extended Week.

But Oregon and Washington won their point too, by the expedient of the point too, by the expedient of the reference that they would have to piay Idaho in the stream of the point too, by the expedient of extending the expedient of extending the expedient of extending the expedient of expedient of expedient of expedient of the proposal proposal
