been before the smartest audiences of the season. Among those who will entertain with box parties that evening are Mrs. C. F. Adams, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Alvord, Mrs. W. B. Ayer, Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Burns, Dr. and Mrs. R. C. Coffey, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ladd Corbett, Miss Isabella Gault, Mrs. Mary Scarborough, Mrs. Theodore E. Wilcox, Mrs. Charles Edwin Sears and Mrs. H. C. Wortman.

The Waverley Country club was the scene of one of the most attractive affairs of the season Thursday evening when the first of the series of subscription dances was given. A number of dinners preceded the party. Many beautiful gowns were worn by the debutantes and the young matrons. Miss Elizabeth Halley appeared in a stunning gown of sapphire blue velvet, worn with a band on her coiffure of silver and blue. A corsage of orchids completed her costume. Miss Louise Linthicum was in orchid chiffon. Miss Virginia Mears wore a creation of jade and silver. Miss Margaret Biddle wore a smart model of brocade gold cloth. Miss Dorothy McGuire was in grey georgette, heavily headed in crystals; Miss Marian Howe was attired in a frock of hand-painted chiffon in rich autumnal colors; Miss Isabella Gault wore a gown of Pekin blue chiffon with beads and earrings of the same hue; Miss Louise Hoyt was in red velvet, with a silver wreath on her head; Miss Cornelia Cook appeared in a gown of black chiffon heavily embroidered in gold; Miss Janet House wore a flame-colored georgette; Miss Margaret Cook wore a gold lace frock over pale green; Miss Dorothy Mitchell wore a costume of mauve taffeta trimmed in a deeper shade of velvet; Miss Lillian Mitchell wore a bouffant frock of orchid taffeta; Mrs. A. D. Norris wore a gown of red brocade velvet; Mrs. Curtis P. Bailey wore a model of orchid chiffon and silver; Mrs. Henry C. Judd appeared in white chiffon with a bertha of duchess lace; Mrs. Joseph Lambert wore a gold satin brocade, with gold leaves on her hair; Mrs. Richard Maurice Dooley's costume was gold cloth; Miss Hannah Laidlaw wore a model of yellow satin; Mrs. Mary Scarborough was in a gown of silver cloth; Mrs. E. V. G. Fosay wore a striking model of black satin; Mrs. Charles C. Hindman wore a gray chiffon; Mrs. John A. Laine was in amber metal cloth worn with amber beads; Mrs. Maurice E. Crumpacker wore black velvet adorned with red cherries on the side; Mrs. Clark D. Summons was in black and white sequins; Miss Katherine Laidlaw was in gown of white lace; Mrs. William E. Roberson wore a periwinkle blue chiffon; Mrs. E. C. Shevlin wore a mulberry Canton crepe.

One of the most charming affairs of the week was the luncheon at which Miss Alberta Blair entertained Monday at her home in Irvington. Bridge was the diversion of the afternoon.

A brilliant event of Saturday, December 16, will be the New Year's party at the Waverley Country club. Dinner will be served at 7 o'clock on New Year's day, Monday. The club will hold open house from 2:30 until 5:30. Members and their families will attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jay Cobbs have returned from a visit in the east.

Captain and Mrs. Wallace Woodward (Cornelia Stanley) and their small son have gone to Deschutes to pass the holidays with Mrs. Woodward's father, F. S. Stanley. They will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. O'Brien before going to San Francisco, where Captain Woodward will be stationed at the presidio.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund L. Devereaux were hosts Tuesday evening for an informal dinner party. Covers were placed for eight.

Mr. and Mrs. Erskine Wood were hosts last Sunday evening with a supper party. Oakley Wood sang a selection of songs during the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. John Clark Burgard are receiving congratulations upon the arrival of a son, born last Sunday in San Francisco.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew D. Norris entertained with a dinner Tuesday night, preceding the subscription dance. Their guests were Mr. and Mrs. Simcoe Winch, Mr. and Mrs.

SOCIETY is busily preparing for the Christmas holidays, and at the present time one finds rather few affairs on the social calendar. The shops become gay each day with their brilliant decorations of red bows, Christmas trees and greens, and with the ground beautifully covered by the snow the holiday spirit is bound to be with everyone. This icy cold weather will be the inspiration for many improvisations. The most important social event of the coming week is the symphony concert, which will take place Wednesday evening at the Helgeland theater. Madame Marguerite D'Alvarez, the famous contralto will be presented by the orchestra. She is the daughter of the Marquis de Lobaton, who was a Peruvian diplomat in the London court. Madame D'Alvarez enjoys the reputation of being the first woman to have sung in Westminster Abbey. Her brother, the Marquis de Buzza Vista, is the first secretary of the Peruvian embassy in Washington, D. C. Consequently her appearances there have

William H. Lines, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dodge, Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Hindman, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gless, Donald Sterling and Carroll Dunning.

Miss Dorothy Cookran was the inspiration for the beautifully appointed luncheon at which Miss Ruth Bruere entertained Tuesday and announced her engagement to Charles Newell Huggins. The betrothal was told by little cards attached to corsage bouquets of orchids, sweet peas and Ophelia roses, which formed the attractive centerpiece for the table. Miss Bruere is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Gustave E. Bruere. She is a very pretty and popular girl. Last June she graduated from the Knox school at Cooperstown, N. Y. Mr. Huggins is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nathaniel Huggins. He is a graduate of the Worcester Polytechnic Institute and served overseas during the war. He is a member of the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity and is well known in business and social circles. The guests at the luncheon included the Misses Mary Helen Spaulding, Dorothy and Lillian Mitchell, Eloise Huggins, Harriet Griffith, Georgiana Mears, Edith Cook, Louise Hoyt and Margaret
