WHO REPUDIATES.

To maintain a parity, in circulative value only, it has caused this administration to issue bonds to keep reserve in the national treasury for that purpose alone. This is a procedure quite fatal to good business methods, yet when the democrats propose to remedy this it is told by many that it must not be done—that McKinleyism is preferable. In pleading this, it does to the average person appear that Messrs. Whitney and Carlisle have pleaded guilty to having supported false economic ideas all their lives. If they deem the hard times due to republican policies for the 30 years prior to the present administration, then they cannot support the republican ticket. If the present depression is not due to the system of finance then it is natural to suppose it caused by the democratic policy of government. If they admit this, then indeed are they repudiating the past as well as the future of the democratic party. It indeed is an edifying spectacle to hear the exponents of republican principle say to democrats: "Here you poor fellows; it takes us to think for you; You are incapable of running a government; You are fools for lack of judgment; Vote for McKinley, you suckers!" And then—and then just think that the only answer Dana, Whitney and Carlisle could have would be: "Please don't abuse me so; I didn't know it (the democratic party) was loaded. I'll vote your ticket. I won't vote a democratic ticket and platform which I can't dictate."

IS'T DIFFERENT NOW?

The Washington correspondent of the New York Journal reports President Cleveland as saying prior the Chicago convention:

"Never will I vote for McKinley. Never will I vote the republican ticket, or for a man, even my brother, who might be named thereon."

Another dispatch reports him as saying in substance: "Much as I am opposed to the free coinage of silver under the present conditions, and fear it will be disastrous to the country, I would greatly prefer a free silver democrat to any republican like McKinley, who is thoroughly socialistic in his tendencies and the servile tool of greedy tariff robbers, monopolists of all shades and degrees of magnitude."

A SUBSCRIBER.

Compounds Assertion With Facts—Values Juggled.

Hillsboro, Ore., July 21, 1896

To THE EDITOR:—

Why do you want free coinage of silver when it would reduce the present purchasing power of the silver dollar? Is it not also a fact that under free coinage the labor wage would be maintained at its old status and be paid in depreciated money, while all articles of consumption would materially raise in value. SUBSCRIBER.

1. In the first place, free coinage of silver, even in the United States alone, would mean such an increase of demand and stability of use for silver that it would need no "redeemer" to maintain the much abused parity. That free coinage would take from the markets of the world one-third or more of the silver product would in itself play an important factor in placing its bullion value where it will adhere as worth one-sixteenth in quantity as gold bullion of same weight. Subscriber should remember that the now much quoted 53 cents in value in the silver dollar has no merit when presented for redemption. It takes a gold dollar to do the work. That the silver dollar would be depreciated under free coinage is but an assumption that is readily met by the assertion that the silver dollar was never a depreciated dollar until its metal was made subservient to gold by the congressional act of 1873.

2. The second question, from its aspect would lead one to believe that the interrogator fully believed that values are easily juggled. An increase, or rise, in articles of consumption, would certainly mean more value for productive labor. Values are more or less up to the 100 per cent mark determined by the laws of supply and demand and the assumption that labor would be the last to profit by conditions which would mean a greater circulation of primary money is contradicted by the republican advocates of the gold standard and protection, when they assume a prohibitory tariff means an increased labor wage. The above rule is much more applicable to free coinage "heresy" than is it to protection.

A GOOD THING

And The American People Will Push It Along.

Following is an extract from the speech of W. J. Bryan defending the platform adopted by the democratic convention at Chicago:

"It is the issue of 1776 over again. Our ancestors, when they had 3,000,000, had the courage to declare their independence of every other nation on earth. Shall we, their descendants, when we have 70,000,000, declare that we are less independent than our forefathers? No, my friends, it will never be the judgment of the people. Therefore, we care not upon what lines the battle is fought. If they say bimetalism is good, but we cannot have it till some nation help us we reply that instead of having the gold standard because England has it, we shall restore bimetalism and then let England have bimetalism because the United States has it. If they dare to come out in the open and defend the gold standard as a good thing we shall fight them to the utmost."

IT is noticeable that it is the large metropolitan papers which are all supporting the gold standard republican ticket. This is a matter of fact and outside of the "cuckoo" element, the country press is supporting the democratic platform and candidate. This condition is made more plain when one analyzes the situation outside of a partisan study. There is not a banking association, a trust, a combine, a monopoly, a large railroad corporation or anything that is allied with big money making powers but what is supporting McKinley. These are the institutions which can afford to pay for metropolitan press editorials. People can draw their own conclusions. Country editors are supposed to line up with their city brothers who occasionally repay them for their servility by quoting from their papers a few lines under the heading "Spirit of The Country Press."

DID the Divine Providence which guided the minds dictating the declaration of independence foresee that at some future time—a century ahead—we would need a man in the strength of young and sterling manhood to lead the people—to resist English encroachment on our free institutions? Mr. Bryan is a young man, but his ideas are his own and the peoples'. It is not a good thing to be too old to have ideas. Mr. McKinley, republican candidate, before receiving the nomination, had no ideas. Now he has! Where did he get them? From Mark Hanna and Pierpont Morgan?

THOUSANDS upon thousands of republicans were but waiting for their party to declare for free coinage of silver to give it their hearty co-operation. These same thousands will now support W. J. Bryan for president. Why? Because this is an issue of principle, not party. Because the democrats met at Chicago as American citizens, not partisans—met to protest against the English money speculators dictating a money system for us which means a double standard measure of our product for a single standard price.

IN April, 1895, the Oregonian howled about the 49 cent dollar Now it's howling about the 53 cent dollar. In a few months THE ARGUS earnestly hopes the great Daily will be howling about the 100 cent silver dollar. And it will unless there is a radical change in public sentiment. The people want a genuine circulating dollar and are not particular about a banker's dollar unless that dollar is on a par in purchasing and commercial dollar with the universal money of the nation.

LET the American people rule. If the majority want a gold standard and present conditions, let them vote for it. If, however the majority want both gold and silver as primary money, let them have it! But not 16 to 1, you say? Why not commence where we left off, when silver, with equal rights, kept up to its yellow sister? Why not?

THE resignation of the chairman of the democratic county central committee does not surprise those who are intimately acquainted with his views on the money question. For a number of years he has held the secretaryship of the committee and he was elected to the position just resigned after the county convention had adopted the state platform, which unequivocally declared for free silver. The only surprise, is, that being at that time a gold standard man, he accepted the tender of the position. As soon as the busy days of harvest are over the central committee should get together and elect a chairman who is in touch with the platform and candidate. Then, with good work this county will carry for free silver.

WHO are assaulting our national treasury these troublous times? Here they are: Heidlebach, Ickleheimer & Co., L. Von Hoffman & Co, Lazard Freret, Knauth, Nothol & Kuhne. These are Hebrews and men who like a money system on which they can speculate. Let us have a system of finance which will not play into the hands of England and the Jews.

WHY did not Oregon want ex-Senator Dolph returned? Because he was the embodiment of gold standard ideas. Because there were men in the republican ranks who believed in Americanism before politics and a gold standard system of finance. Dolph was a good representative outside of his financial views and because of these there were men who repudiated him.

THE paramount question now is: Will the American people allow Mark Hanna to tell them how they should vote, or will they vote against monopoly and a system of finance not only endorsed but founded by England? This is not a political question, but it is one of common sense. It is the duty of Americans to first be Americans and then if they must—be partisans.

OF course the New York Sun has bolted! When did it ever fail to bolt, as regularly as the democrats put up a presidential candidate? Why don't the people howl about the Telegram of Portland, bolting? Because they know it has always been the agency of republicans, to prevent a democratic paper starting in Portland.

IT is a wonderful thing, that, with the highest per cent of intelligence on the globe in the United States, the gold standard press gives us its word of honor that all who believe in free coinage of both gold and silver are all fools. Let us have peace (not with the Jews and John Bull, amongst Americans.

AND now the president of the big 4 railroad company is out for McKinley. This is not strange. Every monopoly in the United States will be for him. He is the ideal candidate for that class, and Hanna, the chief of all, was responsible for his nomination.

IF McKinley should be defeated, his brother "Ab" would have a very long face whilst screwing down that desk top which he wrenched off when William was nominated at St. Louis. They say that Abner will make a try for the portfolio of Agriculture.

THE Oregonian reporter from this city is extremely careful to say nothing of those republicans in Hillisboro and vicinity who are out for Bryan and opposed to the gold standard. It's a sad thing indeed, but can't be helped.

WHEN the gold standard educators are steered against logic which is unanswerable, it at once becomes "foolish" and "imbecile."

Now that Reed was left out in the cold it is expected that he will be coddled to go upon the platform and support the Major.

DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM.

We declare that the act of 1873 demonetizing silver without the knowledge or approval of the American people has resulted in the appreciation of gold and a corresponding fall in the prices of commodities produced by the people; a heavy increase in the burden of taxation, and of all debts, public and private; the enrichment of the money lending classes at home and abroad; paralysis of industries and impoverishment of the people.

We are unalterably opposed to the single gold standard, which has locked fast the prosperity of an industrious people in the paralysis of hard times. Gold monometalism is a British policy, founded upon British greed for gain and power, and its general adoption has brought other nations into financial servitude to London. It is not only un-American, but anti-American, and it can be fastened upon the United States only by the stifling of that indomitable spirit and love of liberty which proclaimed our political independence in 1776 and won it in the war of the revolution.

We demand the immediate restoration of the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver at the present legal ratio of 16 to 1, without waiting for the aid or consent of any other nation. We demand that the standard silver dollar shall be a full legal tender, equally with gold, for all debts, public and private, and we favor such legislation as will prevent the demonetization of any kind of legal-tender money by private contract.

We are opposed to the policy and practice of surrendering to the holders of the obligations of the United States the option reserved by law to the government of redeeming such obligations in either silver or gold coin.

BOND ISSUES.

We are opposed to the issuing of interest bearing bonds of the United States in time of peace, and condemn the trafficking with banking syndicates, which, in exchange for bonds at an enormous profit to themselves, supply the federal treasury with gold to maintain the policy of gold monometalism.

Congress alone has the power to coin and issue money, and President Jackson declared that this power could not be delegated to corporations or individuals. We therefore demand that the power to issue notes be taken from the banks, and that all paper shall be issued directly by the treasury department. We hold that tariff duties should be levied solely for the purpose of revenue, and that taxation should be limited by the needs of the government, honestly and economically administered.

THE TARIFF.

We denounce as disturbing to business the republican threat to restore the McKinley law, which has been twice condemned by the people in national elections, and which, enacted under the false plea of protection to home industry, proved a prolific breeder of trusts and monopolies, enriching the few at the expense of the many, restricted trade and deprived the producers of the American staples of access to their natural markets. Until the money question is settled, we are opposed to any agitation for further changes in our tariff laws, except such as are necessary to make up the deficit in revenue, caused by the adverse decision of the supreme court as to the income tax."

Besides this they will doubtless ask for constitutional amendment to allow congress to pass the income tax.
