BRYAN FOR PRESIDENT.

Bryan will be the next president of the United States. Conditions are ripe for his election, and the times more than ever demand that the gold standard republican party be defeated at the polls. The maintenance of the gold standard can only be encompassed by a prohibitory tariff Again and again has our national treasury been assaulted by money speculators and the issuance of bonds to the extent of over $2,000,000 has been required to maintain a parity, which to-day would have upheld i self, but for adverse legislation against silver and beneficial laws in favor of gold In the face of a condition which promises precipitation of a panic by money holders. American voters will go to the polls, nor ridicule, nor abuse, nor foolish calling of names will prevent them from voting for what they deem right There will be those, certainly, who have declared the democratic party should not have favored bi-metallism, who will exhibit certain pride in not recanting, but these men will vote right, self-confident that a party which ever has been right, though losing all for many years, can not be wrong on the great question; and that a party which for years has been the agency of monopoly and trusts, and is now for the perpetuation of the gold standard, can not, by virtue of its past. and even present existence and power, be right on the money issue. The same corporation instincts which plead for a high protective tariff plead for the gold standard. Is this not so? Without the high tariff the gold standard cannot exist. Has not this been fully exemplified by our present administration in its efforts to keep up the gold reserve? And for what? To redeem currency notes and silver certificates. Is there any so-called "sound money" men who can gainsay this? Outside of the financial question, which is now the uppermost in American minds, is there a democratic supporter who will raise up his voice and say that a tariff for revenue is a failure? that for years and years he has followed false gods, a blind leadership? It takes money, the result of labor, to pile up a gold reserve and keep it there for redemption purposes, and nothing but so extreme a tariff as will prove almost prohibitory can maintain the present gold standard in these days of dull glow of patriotism. But the question is not one of politics. It is a question which requires courage and study, comprehension of immutable laws, reasoning from cause to effect, and the party to which a man has hitherto adhered will be as nothing. The welfare of the whole people is at stake. People will go to the polls next November, and THE ARGUS is confident that the common people will place in the presidential chair, a man in his prime, a man who has met in national councils the greatest exponency of the gold standard, and not to his discredit—the man who is the choice, fresh from the great bosom of the people, William J. Bryan, of Nebraska.

PROMINENT ANARCHISTS.

Because, forsooth, the Democrats declared for free coinage of silver, they are dubbed by the gold standard press as "fools, anarchists, and repudiationists." This is rich! Shades of Shylock and Sherlock Holmes! What an amateur detective agency have the followers of Mark Hanna found themselves to be—even after the amiable Gov. McKinley, himself, was willing to run on a platform full of such anarchy! Just for fun, and the helping these pseudo-detectives in their still hunts for anarchists, let us point out some of these rascals who are so unrighteously wicked as to even have an honestly conceived opinion. For instance: Hon. J. H. Mitchell, U. S. senator for Oregon; Hon. Binger Hermann, U. S. representative for Oregon; Hon. William Ellis, U. S. representative for Oregon; Hon. C. W. Fulton, one of Oregon's brightest Republican lawyers; Hon. Jonathan Bourne, secretary state republican committee; Hon. Wm. Teller, U. S. senator, Colorado; Hon. Lee Mantle, U. S. senator, Montana; Congressman Town, of Minnesota, a republican.

Here, gentlemen of the gold standard school, are "anarchists" in profusion, "anarchists" illustrious, and "fools" in high official life. These men publicly proclaim their opinions, and their answer is "fool," "anarchist." Great logic is this with which they must contend.

A WHOLE nation believed in tariff for revenue instead of a tariff for protective purposes, and so declared a few years back. They got this tariff for revenue and with it they caught a "tartar." They had overlooked one very important factor, a factor which would prove a revenue tariff such as was advocated as abortive in the extreme—a factor which in itself demanded a high tariff, to-wit: the maintenance of the gold standard. Because a democratic tariff fell short of providing government expenses and meeting the repeated assaults upon the exchecquer for gold, the republicans now call the administration a "record of unparelleled dishonor, disaster and incompetency." This is a demonstration purely republican, and now they are asking democrats to repudiate democracy and support a man who stands as the implacable foe of any and everything democratic. And, sorry are we to admit, there are many democrats who can't see that the gold standard and high tariff are brother abominations which are inimical to the welfare of any nation. To feed the raids upon the U. S. treasury there is need for more than a McKinley tariff. In the future there will be more and more of the assaults, and "sound money" democrats are now asked by republicans to support a policy that has thrown disrepute upon a democracy.

IF the laws of supply and demand held good in the literal sense of the terms, farmers would find a ready sale at good prices for their wheat, their meat and all their food productions. But under present conditions the first demand is for money to meet the demand for consumption. Money is the agency which moves a product if a demand for the consumption of that product be made manifest. Let us, therefore, look at this money question in the relation of its functions. Let us open our mints to silver so our volume of currency be not controlled by banks of issue. Let us open up the earth that in the end these "cheap dollars" may allay distress, depopulate our soup houses and bring cheer to the common people.

IF McKinley's election were so certain, Mr. Hanna would not be laying the foundation for so energetic and exhaustive a campaign. Already he has hired the most brilliant array of oratorical talent to be found in the republican gold standard ranks, and the mistakes of Cleveland's administration will be heralded from the Androscoggin to Lake Wapato, on equatorial lines, and from Frazer river on the North, south to the land of the "Greaser," and muchly despised Mexican dollar. Mr. Hanna is cognizant, so he says that the free silverites are all fools, and from his strenuous efforts to elect Mc, it begins to appear as though he badly needed a foolkiller to help his protege to the presidential chair.

UPON conservative consideration, THE ARGUS believes it right and just that those anti-gold standard republican papers should support McKinley and the British system of finance. Eternally damned should be the father who would repudiate his own child, and forever ostracised from canine society should be the faithful quadruped who would shun his own master even be he the master's peer or superior.

IF the Mexicans are in such a bad condition financially—and no no doubt they are—why in the name of common sense do not many of them come up to this great gold standard country of ours. Oregon seldom sees a Mexican, and but a very few come into California—and these to ride the ranges.

ENGLAND has, since 1816, been a gold standard country. For over twenty years the United States, with resources before the public practically unequalled in volume since the history of civilization, has been drifting to the English gold standard rate of labor wage. Why did they say silver should not be minted, unless subservient to gold? Because it wouldn't have been "English, you know," to have done otherwise.

WHILE "Billee" McKinley will be persuading the people that the democratic administration's tariff is a failure, and that we need more revenue to perpetuate the gold standard, "Billee" Bryan will be capturing the votes by showing people that neither a prohibitory tariff nor the gold standard is essential to American prosperity.

IT will be observed from recent events that many consider the scriptural injunction about it being easier for a camel to pass through the eye of a needle than for a rich man to enter the kingdom of heaven, should equally as well apply to the vice-presidency.

WHAT JOHN H. MITCHELL, OREGON'S U. S. SENATOR, SAID IN 1894.

"In my judgment, that party, whether republican or democratic, which goes into the next presidential contest, either pledged to the single gold standard, or a platform containing a broad straddle on the money question, one susceptible of different constructions, in the expectation of deceiving the great majority of the people, and with a candidate who is unwilling to be understood as being unalterably opposed to the single gold standard in this country, and in favor of the full constitutional demonetization of silver, the coinage of both gold and silver on equal terms at the existing ratio, will be defeated.

"A gold dollar and gold coin generally, which have been appreciated largely, as has our gold dollar since the demonetization of silver, a dollar which prior to its demonetization could be bought with three-fourths of a bushel of wheat, or four pounds of wool, and which now costs three bushels of wheat, and twenty pounds of wool, is not an honest, but a dishonest dollar."

This, and supported by his senate record, is Senator Mitchell's record, and position on the money question. According to the republican press howlings, Hon. J. H. Mitchell must be an anarchist! But is he? Is he not one of Oregon's best representatives in the national law-making body?

SOME of our contemporaries are considerably worried over the fact that many free coinage of silver men think there is something in the government stamp. They claim there is no value in decree and further hold that unlimited coinage simply means unlimited decree. In this their reasoning is from a false basis. Silver is used the world over. If the metal is allowed unlimited access to our mints it gives it chiefer use and our manufactured articles and agricultural products would permeate every possible market in the world. It would simply force Europe to international usage of silver in order to protect the interests of their manufacures and producing elements. Gold would come down to the old ratio which is now inert by class legislation. It is a question of market and use, supply and demand, pure and simple and before that demand was destroyed by adverse law the ratio stood 16 to 1. Let us supply this use and then instead of having dishonest dollars bolstered up by gold we will have no dollar but an honest dollar and control the markets of the world for our products and manufactures. Pay no attention to the cry of fiat but let us create a law which invites and creates a demand unprecedented for our silver, our cereals, our manufactures, and the despised "53 cent dollar" which but a year ago was only a "47 cent dollar" will take the nation out of the financial slough, which each year is, under present conditions, growing less and less navigable.

ENGLAND will do all she can to defeat bi metalism in this country for she knows the minute this medium is obtained that her supremacy as the mistress of the manufacturing business will be forever doomed. English capital will try hard to elect McKinley this year, but it will not do it if the sober sense of the people prevails.

DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM.

We declare that the act of 1873 demonetizing silver without the knowledge or approval of the American people has resulted in the appreciation of gold and a corresponding fall in the prices of commodities produced by the people; a heavy increase in the burden of taxation, and of all debts, public and private; the enrichment of the money lending classes at home and abroad; paralysis of industries and impoverishment of the people.

We are unalterably opposed to the single gold standard, which has locked fast the prosperity of an industrious people in the paralysis of hard times. Gold monometalism is a British policy, founded upon British greed for gain and power, and its general adoption has brought other nations into financial servitude to London. It is not only un-American, but anti-American, and it can be fastened upon the United States only by the stifling of that indomitable spirit and love of liberty which proclaimed our political independence in 1776 and won it in the war of the revolution.

We demand the immediate restoration of the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver at the present legal ratio of 16 to 1, without waiting for the aid or consent of any other nation. We demand that the standard silver dollar shall be a full legal tender, equally with gold, for all debts, public and private, and we favor such legislation as will prevent the demonetization of any kind of legal-tender money by private contract.

We are opposed to the policy and practice of su rendering to the holders of the obligations of the United States the option reserved by law to the government of redeeming such obligations in either silver or gold coin.

BOND ISSUES.

We are opposed to the issuing of interest bearing bonds of the United States in time of peace, and condemn the trafficking with banking syndicates, which, in exchange for bonds at an enormous profit to themselves, supply the federal treasury with gold to maintain the policy of gold monometalism.

Congress alone has the power to coin and issue money, and President Jackson declared that this power could not be delegated to corporations or individuals. We therefore demand that the power to issue notes be taken from the banks, and that all paper shall be issued directly by the treasury department. We hold that tariff duties should be levied solely for the purpose of revenue, and that taxation should be limited by the needs of the government, honestly and economically administered.

THE TARIFF.

We denounce as disturbing to business the republican threat to restore the McKinley law, which has been twice condemned by the people in national elections, and which, enacted under the false plea of protection to home industry, proved a prolific breeder of trusts and monopolies, enriching the few at the expense of the many, restricted trade and deprived the producers of the American staples of access to their natural markets. Until the money question is settled, we are opposed to any agitation for further changes in our tariff laws, except such as are necessary to make up the deficit in revenue, caused by the adverse decision of the supreme court as to the income tax."

Besides this they will doubtless ask for constitutional amendment to allow congress to pass the income tax.
