

TOO FOND OF MONKEYS.

A Huge Python Swallows One that Was Attached to a Chain.

An animal store in Williamsburg, N. Y., was recently the scene of a tragic affair, the suicide of a huge python. During the night the monster reptile broke out of his box and swallowed a frisky monkey that was chained in a cage set close to the ceiling.

The python, in common with the other great constricting snakes, has the peculiarity that he can swallow an object of great size, but cannot relinquish anything. If he swallows a tin can he is obliged to keep it. The jaws are joined by very elastic cartilage, which permits them to open to a great width, but the sharp teeth all point backward toward the throat, and nothing can pass out between them.

The python had caught the chained monkey, killed and quickly swallowed him. Then he tried to move away, and found himself held by a stout chain. He struggled violently and thereby caused himself to choke more quickly. The torn and bruised condition of his body showed that he had dashed himself furiously against surrounding objects.

A Wise Judge.

A curious judgment was pronounced the other day by a judge in a court of law at Volissio, in the island of Sicily. An action for damages was brought by two persons against the local railway company for losses sustained by a collision. It appeared that a man had lost an arm and a young woman had lost her husband. The judge, a Greek, assessed the damages thus: He gave 6,000 piasters to the man for the loss of his arm and 2,000 to the woman for the loss of her husband. At this there were loud murmurs, whereupon the judge gave his reasons in these terms: "My dear people, my verdict must remain, for you will see it is a just one. Poor Nikola has lost his arm and nothing on earth can restore that priceless limb. But you" (turning to the woman)—"you are still young and pretty. You have now some money; you will easily find another husband, who possibly may be as good as—perhaps better than—your dead lord. That is my verdict, my people, and so it must go forth." So saying the judge left the hall. The people cheered him and congratulated themselves on having such a judge.

An Actress' Salary.

Sarah Bernhardt's salary is $1,500 a week. Yvette Guilbert received under her recent contract $7,000 a week, and Calve earns $1,200 for each of her appearances. Olga Netherwile earns $250 a week. What with his salary and percentage of the receipts John Drew makes in good times $500 a week.

A competent leading man or woman, like Henry Miller or Herbert Kelcey, Viola Allen or Isabel Irving, can be had for $200 a week. The only player that has ever received, even in this prodigal country, a salary equal to that of Bernhardt was Mme. Modjeska. Edwin Booth, who knew nothing about the value of money, once engaged the Polish actress at a salary of $1,500 a week. Mr. Grau's contract with Guilbert lasted only two weeks, after which he returned to the cheap prices of Paris. Calve's contract lasted five months, but during that time she sings only twice or three times a week, after which she returns to the moderate salaries of Europe. Melba receives $1,500 a night in this country, but in Paris is content with $300 a performance. But Sarah Bernhardt's contract continues through summer and winter, and every Saturday night she pockets $1,500. Taking one thing with another, the actress is better off than the singer. Averaging the entire income of each performance, we should say that Calve earns $50,000 a year, Guilbert about $35,000, while Bernhardt is sure of $75,000 annually for five years.—Footlights.

Our Diplomatic Service.

The diplomatic service has sometimes been assailed in Congress as a purely ornamental one; and while the evident necessity of maintaining the service is such as ought to save it from the destructionists it is quite true that our diplomatic relations with some of the powers are more ceremonious than practical. But we must be equipped and prepared for emergencies, and every now and then, even at the smallest and most remote courts, there is a critical need of an American representative to protect American citizens or American interests.—Ladies' Home Journal.

The eldest son of H. H. Spaulding, of Alamo, was dragged by a runaway team through a barbed wire fence the other day and his clothing completely torn from him. He was scratched from head to foot, but not so deeply but that his wounds will soon heal.

Hogan Johnson, of Riverside, in Pacific county, put a rope around a bull's neck and started to lead him home. On the way the bull made an attack upon Mr. Johnson from the rear, goring him in the back and trampling him under foot until he was nearly dead. One horn penetrated the lung, entering the body about five inches. Mr. Johnson's right arm was broken in three places, and from his hips down he is one mass of severe bruises. He is 62 years old, but it is thought he will shortly recover.

A traveler through the Horse Heaven country told the Yakima Republic that the heat is something terrible in that section. Grain has been badly burned, and will not go twelve bushels to the acre. He says he was forced to drive thirty-three miles through a broiling sun and stopped at three or four houses to get a drink—being refused each time. The water is so low that a padlock and chain is kept on the bucket, and the wells go nearly dry each evening when water is drawn for stock—slowly filling at night sufficiently to provide water for domestic purposes for the next day.

SWEPT ON TO DEATH.

Fifty Lives Lost by a Cloudburst in Colorado.

Denver, July 28.—The torrents of water which rushed down the canyon upon Morrison, Golden and other mountain towns of Colorado last night, were caused by a terrific mountain storm, which extended hundreds of miles or more from Boulder, where the damage was slight. All down the range west of Denver, almost to Pueblo, the storm swept its destructive way.

It has been impossible, thus far, to fully explore the devastated district, but it is believed that when a full investigation has been made at least fifty lives will be found to have gone out during the progress of the storm.

At Morrison and Golden the torrents tore away buildings, uprooted trees, washed out long stretches of railroad tracks, swept away bridges and spread annihilation through the towns. It was as brief as the warnings it gave were inadequate, and almost before the citizens knew what had happened the floods had passed, leaving only deadly silence and signs of devastation everywhere.

All that could be done in the darkness and confusion was done by the rescuers. Men, women and children were extricated from dangerous predicaments, let down from the roofs of floating houses, helped out of trees and drawn out of the very whirl and death of the torrent.

As far as ascertained, the following is a full list of persons whose lives were lost in the great floods that swept down upon the towns of Morrison and Golden, in the foothills near Denver last night:

The dead at Morrison are: Mrs. Moses Miller and three children, and child of J. C. Longnecker; of Morrison: Mrs. A. S. Proctor; Robert James Proctor, 5 years; Grace Proctor, 7 years; Edith Proctor; Mrs. T. F. Casey; James Casey, 10 years; Edith Casey, 8 years; Mamie Casey, 7 years; Anna Casey, 5 years; Clara Casey, 3 years; A. R. Anthony Herose; Eugene Herose, 7 years; Mabel Herose, 3 years; Josephine Herose, 6 years; Carroll Herose, 4 years; Thomas McLaughlin, 21 years old. At Dayton, a cousin of Mrs. Casey and Annie Hansen, 20 years old, a servant of the Proctors, were killed.

Fatally injured: A child of J. C. Longnecker.

The dead at Golden are: C. A. Johnson; Mrs. A. A. Johnson; Mrs. J. F. Edwards.

All the Denver people who perished were campers at Bear Creek canyon. There were many more campers in that vicinity. Some reports say that when Bear Creek canyon is fully explored it will possibly be found that no less than fifty people perished in the flood.

THIRTEEN MILLIONS

Northern Pacific Line Sold at Auction.

BID IN IN BEHALF OF COMPANY

Sale Included Entire Track From Duluth to Portland, Bonds, Stocks, Leases and Branch Lines.

West Superior, Wis., July 28.—Special Master Carey this morning, at Superior, Wis., sold the entire line of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company, its bonds, stocks, leases and branch lines, under the decree of Judge Jenkins, of the United States federal court. The sale was interrupted by but two formal notifications, and the property was bid in by Edwin W. Winter, on behalf of the Northern Pacific, as reorganized.

Special Master Carey read the decree of sale. He offered for sale the first parcel, consisting of the line from Lake Superior to Portland, Oregon, and all the appurtenances and property. He also included in the first parcel all property to which the company had acquired title, and asked for bids.

Edwin Winter, for the Northern Pacific railroad, bid the least amount that could be offered, $10,000,000. Master Carey asked if anybody else desired to bid, and receiving no response, sold it to Mr. Winter for the Northern Pacific railroad, and received the report of the Farmers' Loan & Trust Co., showing that the bonds necessary to bind the sale were in their possession.

The second parcel containing the stocks and bonds of branch lines, held under the consolidated mortgage, were offered, and, as before, Edwin W. Winter bid for the Northern Pacific railroad, and offered $2,000,000, at which it was sold.

The third parcel, containing contracts of branch lines and releases, was offered at $500,000, bid by Mr. Winter, who got it without opposition.

At noon, at the door of the county courthouse, were offered the company's lands in the state of Wisconsin in three parcels. The first contained thirty-one patented sections in township 43, range 15 west, and President Winter bid $100 for one section, with the option of taking the remainder. He got it, and exercised his option, depositing the certificate of guarantee. All patented lands in Wisconsin not included in the first sale were offered and sold to the Northern Pacific railroad's representative for $1,000.

In the third parcel were all the lands in Wisconsin granted the Northern Pacific railroad by act of congress to aid it in building and equipping its line, to which the road is entitled, but upon which patents have not been issued. Winter's bid of $500,000 was the largest offered, and the sale in Wisconsin was closed.

The special master expects to turn the road over to the purchasers September 1.

639 CANS OF OPIUM.

A Three Thousand-Dollar Catch in Two Nights.

Portland, Or., July 28.—The customs officials of this port have made a clever capture of smuggled opium, having seized 639 cans of the stuff, valued at about $3,000. It is the most important capture that has occurred for many months and reflects great credit on the officers who had the matter in hand.

Ten days ago T. J. Black received information from Vancouver, B. C., that a lot of opium had been shipped from there, presumably for Portland, and a strict watch has been maintained about the railroad depots and in Chinese stores in the city. It was supposed that those handling the dope would be strangers who would offer it for sale at some of the stores in the Chinese quarter. This led to two men being suspected, both strangers, and their movements were closely watched.

The suspicions proved correct, and it was later learned that they had brought the opium in a small boat from some point on the Columbia river. They were arrested last night as they were landing the stuff, and when taken to the police station gave their names as James McIntosh and John Miller.

WORK FOR IDLE MEN.

Iron Mills to Give Employment to Ten Thousand.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 28.—Tomorrow will see the beginning of the resumption of iron mills, which will soon put to work at least 10,000 idle men. It is estimated that at least that number are interested in the settlement made of the wage scale with the Ohio manufacturers, at Youngstown, Saturday night. The success of the Amalgamated Association in making the wage settlement it has effected means, too, that men employed in non-union mills will get an advance in wages, and that their employers will sign agreements to pay them the union prices. This comes as near a recognition of the union as the men are contending for at the present time. The conference was with the Ohio association, but plans in several other states will be started under the agreement.

Spanish Buying Warships.

London, July 28.—The Times has a dispatch from Madrid, which says: It is stated that the government has paid the enormous price of £700,000 each, for the two warships recently bought at Genoa, while a contract has just been given for two torpedo boat destroyers, at £200,000, which was dearer than the tender of first-class English firm, on the ground that quick delivery would be secured. Nothing short of a panic can explain such extravagance.

Wichita, Kan., July 28.—The week just closed has witnessed the liveliest grain trade in Southern and Central Kansas that these sections have experienced in five years. Just now the bulk of the old corn from this section is going to St. Louis and New Orleans, but dealers from Northern, Eastern and Southern points are all buying heavily. The shipments, while enormous, do not in any sense represent the business done, as a very large amount of corn has been contracted for, but is held awaiting cars. A great deal of the corn is in unroofed bins, on account of recent rains, it is too wet to shell.

There is more safety in this section of the country than all other districts put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven contrary to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.
