FOR CONSUMPTION THEREOF.

The leading gold standard papers are now taking the initiative in demanding that greenbacks shall be retired and the way blazed for gold-standardism in all that the term implies.

We are inclined to concur with the Oregonian that prosperity can not come until we are on a different financial basis, yet it would appear that all history points out the error of the Oregonian's position.

Our coinage laws must be revised so that our volume of money can be enlarged to constantly meet the growing necessities of trade.

It is not Mr. Hanna, personally, who is non persona grata to the people of the United States. It is because he is the agent of monopoly and syndicate interests that are opposed to best government, that he is condemned.

Therefore, those who are opposed to the Hanna idea of finance should not endeavor to lead the people to vote in sections, but should use every possible endeavor to mass the silver vote in an antagonism that is effective, and work for the consummation of independent bimetalism.

BROTHER GAULT FOLLOWS.

The Independent last week quoted the Herald Disseminator in the assertion that prices had steadily risen since last fall, while silver had steadily declined.

The Albany Herald man would take the trouble to read treasury reports and see how many cattle are exported to and imported from Canada, those visions of stampeding steers into our country would cease to trouble his heated editorial brain.

The Dingley bill as amended by the senate places a duty on cotton-ties, a necessary article in the baling of the cotton product, that will cost the cotton industry each year, something like $500,000.

It is a matter of history that we have exported more manufactured articles under the Wilson bill than ever we did under any other tariff measure.

Cleveland administration. What, then, has been the trouble with our general trade conditions? We are aware that our working population has for years been so increased by foreign born labor that the supply has been excessive of the increased demand, and this should have had some salutary influence in easing up monetary conditions abroad as very few immigrants come here with more than a dollar or so, while those remaining should have better condition in a lesser supply for the labor demand.

What the Independent thinks but dares not say: "Those gold democrats are regular fools on the tariff question but know enough to recognize our superior intellect on the money question."

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Mr. Hanna is not having very much to say in the U. S. Senate. Perhaps, however, his "money is talking."

It is only a question of time, if this thieving in Washington county does not stop, that some one is going to be a shining mark for a Winchester bullet—and then our coroner will have a job.

Can it be possible that the appointment of Benton Killen as the sealing of compromise between the Mitchellites and Corbetites in Oregon? Was Mr. McKinley told that the lion would lay down with the lamb if Benton could be honored?

If the Albany Herald man would take the trouble to read treasury reports and see how many cattle are exported to and imported from Canada, those visions of stampeding steers into our country would cease to trouble his heated editorial brain.

No right minded person objects to deserving soldier's receiving pensions. It is the large corporations and syndicates which are now before Congress with petitions for pensions which should receive our condemnation.

The New York Tribune thinks the tariff question is settled but seems to fear that we shall have our silver coined. Bimetallism independent "wouldn't be honest," it says! That is a great deduction for you!
