

WACHLINE WILL BE EXECUTED

Sheriff's Warrant of Death will be obeyed.

BAGLEY MAKES A FRUITLESS TRIP

Visited the Defendant's Mother in her Minnesota home. She refused to aid financially to get the matter before the Supreme Court.

There are now no lingering doubts as to the hanging of Gus Wachline for the murder of John D. Ledrick. The last hope of appeal through the ordinary channels of law has failed and nothing but some unforeseen event, which might get a stay of execution, can keep Sheriff Bradford from obeying the warrant of death signed by Judge McBride.

In order to have gotten an appeal to the Supreme Court it was necessary to have taken to that court a transcript of evidence and proceedings of the trial in the lower court. This, in itself, would have cost considerable money and with the current expense along other lines, it was imperative that several hundred dollars were in hand. The defendant's counsel, Messrs Bagley & Brown, did all in their power to get the case appealed. The defendant's father would do nothing and as a last resort, Attorney Bagley went east to see Wachline's mother, Mrs. Chris Pohke, who lives near Transit, Sibley county, Minnesota, to see what she would do toward helping to a new trial. Although the Pohkes have a fine farm and plenty of money in the bank, the mother would do nothing for the son. This was the last resort and now that it has failed, nothing can save the hemp being stretched unless something out of the ordinary occurs.

Sheriff Bradford is making the scaffold enclosure much larger than was originally intended and the execution will take place on February 4th, 1898.

NEW ORDER AT GLENCOE

Preparing to have a Comedy and Entertainment on Jan. 28th.

Glencoe has another secret society, the Order of Unity, which was organized by George W. Mitchell. The new lodge is known as Eureka No. 17, and starts out with over fifty charter members and officers as follows: H. Bigham, president; Mrs. D. A. Jones, vice president; J. S. Jackson, secretary; Mrs. E. C. Mays, treasurer; past president, U. Jackson; chaplain, George Hardy; marshal, George Whitley; guard, J. A. Bigham; A. Wardle, sentinel; J. S. Jackson, E. C. Mays and Geo. Whitley, trustees.

The lodge will give an entertainment on Friday, January 28th, at which time McBride's famous comedy, "Jonathan Scoggins from Pumpkin Ridge," will be rendered. After the entertainment there will be an oyster supper and a dance. The former will be free and the latter will cost twenty-five cents a number.

Glencoe always has a good time at her entertainments and this will be no exception.

Dr. A. Standlee, of Cornelius, was in the city Tuesday and made this office a pleasant call.

Miss Mary Tongue returned the first of the week from Salem, where she has been visiting friends.

To cure a cold in one day take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. 25c. For sale at the Delta.

E. E. Colestock gives you the best shave in the city. Hair cut at popular price. Try his baths. Don't forget the place—City shaving parlors, Main street.

F. G. Mitchell, of the City Drug Store, Sundayed in Portland. He was on hand to see the Oregon sail for Dyea. While gone, he visited Oregon City and spent a few hours with August Tamsie.

I have just gone into the Photo business at Hillsboro and want to get into business touch with the people. Come and see how it is that I am able to guarantee my work in all branches and every time. W. R. Hoyt.

Dr. S. T. Linklater has purchased the city drug store and the transfer will be made as soon as Mr. Brock can arrive from Heppner and take inventory. The stock now in the Delta will be moved into the brick now occupied by the City Drug Store.

Following are the officers recently installed by Hillsboro Grange, No. 73, P. of H., for 1898: M. M. Cal Jack; O. Benjamin Schofield; L. Mrs. W. Hare; S. C. A. Hanley; A. S. J. W. Sewell; Chas. E. W. Haines has concluded to start a bank at Forest Grove and has purchased the Pfanner building. If he commences business, F. T. Kane, popularly known in the county, will be the cashier. Forest Grove presents a good field for such an institution, and if Haines, with the help of Kane, can't do business no one else need try.

A. E. Reames, of Jacksonville, was a guest over Sunday at the residence of Hon. Thomas H. Tongue. Mr. Reames came up to Salem to represent the merchants of Jackson county in getting out injunction proceedings debaring the board of equalization from raising the taxable merchandise on the rolls to the extent of fifty per cent.

All good citizens should read the Argus—the silver men because it is a silver paper, republicans because in it they can get the news and "see themselves as others see them."

It costs but about two cents a week. In THE ARGUS you will find more news relative to the county administration than in any other county paper.

Any one wishing thoroughbred fowls of the Plymouth Rock or Brown Leghorn varieties for breeding, can get them from William Schulmerich, Farmington, Ore., for $1.00 each or $2.50 per trio. Leave orders at Schulmerich & Son, Hillsboro, and they will be delivered.

Hillsboro is, so they say, going to have a string band—in other words—an orchestra. There will be two violins; one viola; one clarinet; one cornet; one trombone and a double bass. We have the talent and all that is needed is the organization.

We are offering for the next thirty days big bargains in hats, caps, clothing, capes, jackets, mackintoshes, shoes, furnishing goods and remnants, to make room for spring stock. Money saved is money made. Call and see us. R. E. Bryan & Son, cash store.

PRISONER WACHLINE SAYS BUCK KILLED J D LEDRICK

Claims That he had Nothing to do With the Killing.

HE TELLS HOW THE BODY WAS BURIED.

The Execution Will Take Place on Friday February 4th, as Designated by McBride.

When Wachline found there was nothing further to expect in the way of securing a new trial, he sent for his counsel and told them he had a statement to make. After he had made the statement, it was drawn up in writing and signed, J. N. Brown swearing to the affidavit. The statement differs from his story told on the stand and makes him at least "accessory after the fact," while, in his evidence, he claimed to know nothing about Ledrick's death until after he had sold the team. The partial confession receives but little credence with the general public although his attorneys aver they believe Wachline was telling the truth and will make no other statement—and that if it be not true, the true version will go down to the grave with Wachline's execution. Again, there are those who believe it is Wachline Sr.'s gun which counsel now have and in good faith believe to be Buck's as portrayed by Wachline. They say Wachline Sr. lost a gun about that time. Be that as it may here is what Wachline swears is the truth, as against what he swore to be the truth on the witness stand: Hillsboro, Oregon, Jan. 25th, 1898. County jail, Washington Co., Ore. State of Oregon, ss. Washington County.

I, Gus Wachline, knowing the certainty of the execution of the warrant of death, and desirous of making a statement, make this as a true statement of my knowledge of the death of John D. Ledrick, and of the facts which in any way connect me with the commission of the crime with which I was charged and convicted.

That on the 7th day of April, 1894, I was discharged from the penitentiary of the State of Oregon, at Salem, and immediately went to Portland, Oregon, and registered at the "Metropolis Hotel" under the name of Gus Hansen; that I remained at Portland two days, and from there I started for the residence of my father on the Silverton place, in Washington county, Oregon; that I passed the farm of John D. Ledrick in taking a short-cut to the said Silverton place and arrived at the farm of Robert Buck; that at said time I met Robert Buck in his orchard and conversed with him on various topics, and he invited me at that time to stay with him. I had previously met J. H. Allen who informed me that he had a hop yard near Gaston, Oregon, and he sold me when released from the penitentiary that if I called upon him he would give me work; that at the time of the meeting between the said Robert Buck and myself I informed him that I desired to go to Gaston to obtain work from the said Allen, and if I did not procure work I would return and stay with him. The following day I walked to Gaston where I met W. D. Bradford and others, and returned and stayed with Mr. Buck for a number of days.

On Friday, the — day of April, 1894, Mr. Buck took a rifle, now in the possession of my attorneys, Bagley & Brown, and told me that he was going to look for two cows on the range near the Catholic church, north of the farm of John D. Ledrick. This was early in the afternoon. He did not return until between nine and ten o'clock that night. When he returned he did not have the rifle, and I asked him what he had done with it and he told me that he had left it near the Catholic Church as he did not care to carry it back, and would get it next day. The next morning he asked me to go with him as he had found one of the cows and one calf. I accompanied him, he carrying a double-barrelled shot gun, and when we reached the line fence between the farm of Robert Buck and the farm of John D. Ledrick, he, the said Robert Buck, informed me that he had killed John D. Ledrick. I did not believe him at the time, and laughed at him, but he told me it was true and wished me to go to Ledrick's house with him. I did so, and on reaching the house found Mr. Ledrick lying upon the floor, in what I supposed was the sitting room.

Mr. Buck then wanted me to carry Ledrick's body to the barn. I refused. He insisted, and I finally assisted in carrying the body to the barn, and then he insisted that I should bury it. I refused and he insisted that I should, saying that he would watch and see if any one came. He then went to the house, cleaned up the blood, and then told me that he desired to bury the gun he having previously told me that he had shot John D. Ledrick through the window, and then having beaten him with a club, and at that time I saw the club in the sitting room of the house of John D. Ledrick. We then started north from the house of John D. Ledrick and found the rifle, which I now believe is the one in the possession of my attorneys, Bagley & Brown, and buried it under a log about two hundred yards from the house of John D. Ledrick. We then returned to the house of Robert Buck, and he made me promise that I would not tell anyone about the killing of Ledrick, saying to me, "You are in it as much as I am, and if they get me they will get you, and you will have to suffer with me. They will suspect and arrest me; if you take the horses then there will be no evidence against me, and they will not suspect or arrest you."

I promised at that time to say nothing. On Saturday evening Mr. Buck was absent for some time and when he returned he had a span of horses and a cart. They were on his place all day Sunday following, and about twelve o'clock Sunday evening, as near as I can remember, he insisted that I take the horses to Portland and sell them. I finally, after much persuasion, consented and started for Portland with the horses and sold them as related upon the stand during the trial of my case.

This is all I had to do with the killing of John D. Ledrick. I knew nothing whatever about his being dead until informed of the fact by Robert Buck. Dated at Hillsboro, Oregon, this 25th day of January, 1898. Signed, Gus Wachline. Subscribed and sworn before me this 25th day of January, 1898. J. N. Brown, Notary Public for Oregon.

Notice is hereby given that on or about November 30th, 1897, the undersigned took up at his place near Bethany, Oregon, an estray, to-wit: One bright red bull, little white on flank, about one and one-half year old. HARMONY AND HANNACRACY

McKinley Club Last Night was the SCENE OF A VERY PRETTY FIGHT.

Elected Nine Club Delegates to Portland Conference, After Laming the "Push" Into "Innocuous Desuetude."

Last night made republican history for Hillsboro and Oregon. The McKinley club of this city met at the Grange Hall and had a monkey and parrot time of it. The "push" pleaded for "harmony" but the "harmony cry" availed naught and their slate was smashed, and it was smashed hard. State Senator G. W. Patterson, who has been held up in contumely by both the county organs, presided, and made a record "a la Tom Reed."

For several weeks there has been some hard work done by the county chairman, Dr. Wood, and his friends, to get a club delegation which would advocate "harmony,"—in other words an anti-Simon ticket, or straddle ticket, or anything to beat Patterson and Ford. For some time it had appeared as though the whole business was Mitch—no, harmony—and it looked like the regular republicans would be crushed under a regular Juggernaut of votes. But it was different!

State Senator Patterson called the club to order and soon declared nomination in order for the election of delegates to the convention of clubs to be held in Portland on February 1st. The following were nominated, the first nine being elected, the number following name representing the votes received out of a possible eighty-six:

Calvin Jack Jr., 70; Benton Bowman, 65; Hon. W. N. Barrett, 52; R. E. Bryan, 52; W. D. Bradford, 54; George R. Bagley, 50; Hon. G. W. Patterson, 49; Frank Rice, 45 and W. V. Wiley, 49.

J. F. Carstens, 34; E. B. Tongue, 34; Dr. Tamsie, 33; Dr. Wood, 31; P. H. Baughman, 24; W. D. Smith, 30; Thomas Tucker, 25; R. Waggener, 19; and D. M. C. Gault (the party king-pin) 29.

There was but one ballot taken, the nine highest, on motion previously made and carried, being declared elected. The anti-Patterson element was out in good strength, but the joint senator of hold-up fame was sustained by the club and sent as a delegate. To the casual observer the anti-Patterson element has plenty of strength but seems to lose its nerve at the last moment. Our dear friend Gault, who has been running a sort of anti-Dolph and then anti-Corbett paper, and who would like to lead his party and, in fact, who has for years held his party together in the county by virtue of his editorial capacity in making acrobatic changes—Gault, well, he seemed to be short votes, notwithstanding the fact that he pleaded for harmony.

The sensation of the evening was when a member of the club charged that a fund had been sent out (presumably by Mitchell) to send a delegation to Portland.

A. W. and John Saxton left on this evening's train for Goldendale, Washington, in response to the telegram announcing the death of their father at the advanced age of eighty-four years. Deceased lived here in the early days, leaving for Klickitat in 1871.

J. B. Inlay, of the Reedville warehouse, was in this city today and stated that he had a good season this year. His warehouse handled more grain this season than ever before. There is yet considerable wheat at his place, unsold.

Snow commenced falling Monday morning about 6:00 o'clock and before noon about two inches of the beautiful had covered the ground. This was followed by a very cold wave, introducing a young Klondike.

Conrad Schulmerich has returned from California where he was making a visit. He incidentally took in the Golden Jubilee at San Francisco, where he met many of his old time friends.

W. H. McEldowney, superintendent of the Ladd & Reed Broadmead Farm, near Amity, was down to this city this week, doing business and incidentally visiting with friends and relatives.

O. G. Holmes, son-in-law of P. M. Jackson, of this city, has a claim up in the Klondike district and writes that he expects to take out several thousand dollars the coming summer.

J. F. Anderson, who lately moved from Laurel to Farmington, was in the city today, on business. He is thinking of leaving this part of the country some time in the near future.

Sleigh bells and sleds on the street on Monday and Tuesday reminded one of Eastern scenes where such things are everyday occurrences throughout the winter months.

There will be a union meeting of the Endeavor Societies of the Congregational Church, on Sunday evening next at 7:30 o'clock. A full attendance is expected.

Mr. Arthur T. Stratton and Edith Inez Drorbaugh, of the Grove, have taken out license to wed. The bride prospective is a daughter to Mr. Drorbaugh.
