THE COUNTY LOSES THE KIRKWOOD CASE

The Supreme Court Makes an Important Decision.

PRECEDENT IS NOW ESTABLISHED.

County Cannot Imprison a man to Make him pay his tax.

At the request of this paper, Hon. S. B. Huston, who was attorney for Mr. Kirkwood, makes the following statement of the Kirkwood-Ford-as-Sheriff case.

Statement of the Case.

In the year 1894 there was assessed to Geo Kirkwood certain moneys, notes and accounts, upon which the taxes were not paid, and the sheriff was unable to find any property out of which to collect them. The sheriff thereupon filed an affidavit in the county court asserting that he was unable to collect the taxes due from said Geo. Kirkwood amounting to $138.35, and that he believed Kirkwood had property concealed. The county judge made an order directing Kirkwood to appear and be examined under oath regarding his property. Kirkwood appeared but objected to the jurisdiction of the court, claiming that it had no authority. This objection was over-ruled and a trial was had, and the county court made an order directing Kirkwood to pay the taxes within 10 days thereafter, or to surrender to the sheriff a lot of notes which were in Tacoma, Washington, but owned by Kirkwood.

From this order Kirkwood took a writ of review to the circuit court in which Washington county and H. P. Ford, sheriff, were named as defendants. A motion was made to dismiss the writ of review upon the ground that the remedy was "Appeal" and not "Review." Judge McBride over-ruled the motion and reversed the judgment of the county court, holding that while they might imprison a man for taxes in Turkey, they could not do it in this country; that if the sheriff could not find any property upon which to levy, he was powerless to cause the defendant to be imprisoned for the purpose of compelling him to pay his taxes. From this decision the county and H. P. Ford appealed to the supreme court, which, on last Monday affirmed the decision of Judge McBride, so the county loses. Some persons seem to think that notes cannot be assessed and that the taxes on them can not be collected. This is a misapprehension. The decision only goes to the extent that the only way to collect taxes is by taking property and selling it; that a man cannot be imprisoned for the purpose of making him pay his taxes, and that if no property can be found out of which to make the taxes, then the taxes cannot be collected. Barrett & Adams appeared for the county and H. P. Ford.

Jos Christiansen, of South Tualatin, has been made a citizen by the county judge.
