GOMEZ' LATEST DEMAND.

He Asks $60,000,000 as the Price of Disbanding the Army.

New York, Feb. 2.—A special to the Tribune from Washington says: Maximilian Gomez, the Cuban general, has demanded nearly $60,000,000 from the United States and refuses to disband his "army" until the money is paid. He has repudiated the arrangements made by Calixto Garcia, who came to Washington with authority from Gomez to provide for the return of the Cubans to their peaceful pursuits, and whose work was barely accomplished before his sudden death of December 11.

It was then agreed that the United States in order to secure the prompt resumption of labor on the plantations of the island with a view of promoting the speedy revival of prosperity and settled conditions, should distribute about $3,000,000 among the 30,000 men said to be still under arms in the ratio of $100 a man, the officers in proportion to their rank to receive a greater amount, the ordinary enlisted men to be discharged with some less than $100, depending upon the length of service and other considerations. For over a month the pay corps of the army has been making ready to carry out this arrangement, the national defense fund being available for the purpose.

Gomez has come out against the scheme, which was operating satisfactorily to most Cubans, and has struck for greater stakes. He alleges that his army consists of 40,000 men, and he insists that most of them shall be paid for three years' service at the rates that prevailed in the United States army. He fixes the date of the Cuban declaration of independence February 24, 1895, as the beginning of the period for which himself and his forces are to be remunerated, and for himself, with the rank of lieutenant-general, he will be satisfied with $11,000 annually, the American rate for that grade.

Gomez has also about 20 major-generals, for each of whom he wants $7,500 annually, and his "army" is equipped with nearly 20 brigadier-generals, each rated, according to the United States army pay table, at $5,500 annually. This aggregates the nice little sum of $3,783,000 for general alone.
