FRESNO DEPUTY TAKES SHANKLIN BACK

Prisoner Waived Habeas Corpus Proceedings.

DEFAULTING CITY CLERK IN TOILS

Lived a Rapid Life and Came to Grief --Was Two Terms City Clerk.

Constable J. W. Dumas, of Fresno, California, arrived in the city last Saturday, and returned that evening, having in custody J. W. Shanklin, alias J. W. Coleman, wanted at Fresno for embezzlement. Shanklin, who was for four years city clerk of Fresno, is alleged to be guilty of embezzlement in the sum of about $7,500, besides being wanted on a separate charge, that of forgery. It is thought that he was instrumental in forging an order of $3,000 on a bank, using the name of a man who was absent in the mountains, and on which the money was paid without question. Dumas says that Shanklin is a desperate character, although polished and suave. Shanklin's bondsmen paid the city $1,500 on the loss. Shanklin has been married, but his wife left him some years ago.

Shanklin has been cutting a very wide swath in and around Forest Grove and Greenville, but had been suspected for some time by conservative citizens. Just what will be done with the 80 gallons of wine imported by Shanklin just prior to his arrest--and which he expected to use at a party--deponent saith not.

WASHINGTON COUNTY'S DISTINGUISHED VISITOR.

HON. WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN.

LARGEST POLITICAL AUDIENCE EVER HERE

Listened to Hon. W. J. Bryan in Courtyard yesterday.

REPRESENTED ALL THE COUNTY

The distinguished visitor was the guest of Hon. W. D. Hare, while here.

Hon. W. J. Bryan yesterday addressed clearly the largest audience ever assembled in this city. The distinguished statesman arrived in the city at 12 M., and was at once conveyed by carriage to the residence of Hon. W. D. Hare, where he was dining. The visitor repaired to the courtyard shortly after 4 o'clock and after introducing Mr. Hare, commenced the most remarkable political address ever made in Washington county. He spoke to the point, and arraigned the forces now in control of the government, in language so direct and simple that the dullest could fail to understand his meaning. His delivery was splendid and was marred only by a slight hoarseness occasioned by the terrific campaigning through which he is going. The speech was well received and many republicans were present. The crowd in attendance is variously estimated from three to five thousand.

CIRCUIT COURT.

It did not take a jury longer than fifteen minutes, Saturday last, to find that C. H. Thompson was guilty of the larceny of a horse from J. H. McCoy, of above Forest Grove. Judge McBride sentenced the prisoner to ten years in the state penitentiary. This is the fourth time that Thompson has been an inmate of that institution.

Matt Cooper, whom one Miller had arrested on a charge of stealing a horse, had his inuring in court Monday and the case lasted long enough for the state to get its evidence before the jury, when the Judge instructed them to return a verdict of not guilty. It seems that the plaintiff and defendant had purchased a team together and later on, Miller alleged, they had a settlement wherein he was to get the team. Cooper denied this and said that he had consulted an attorney, Mr. Huston, who advised him to go and take the one horse away as his property. This he did and the arrest followed. At the trial Mr. Huston contended that no money had changed hands, and that there was no transfer then, between the partners. He also contended that if Cooper were guilty, he also was guilty. Mr. Huston's contention, that no transfer had been effected, was concurred in by the court, and the instructed verdict was accordingly signed.

Circuit court adjourned Tuesday evening to again convene May 8th. Court opens at once at Astoria if the health of Judge McBride will permit.

Sam Sipp, a prominent farmer of Mountaineer, was acquitted of a charge of obstructing a public highway. The road in question had been established in 1891, but as viewers had not followed the essence of the petition, the court held that it was not a highway and instructed the jury to find a verdict of not guilty.

Eva A. Billington has been granted a divorce from Chas. Billington and awarded the custody of a minor child, a little daughter.

The happy pair will remain at Cedar Mill until Saturday, when they will depart for Washington state. They have been leaders of the Cedar Mill social circle and will be greatly missed. Mrs. Dix has been one of our most popular educators and has taken a high rank as a teacher. The Argus joins their many friends in wishing them happiness.

Cashier A. C. Shute, of the Shute & Foote bank, and who is the treasurer of the State Band Association, tells us that the proposed tournament at McMinnville which was to have been held in June has been declared off for reasons patent to the officers of the society. It is said that the State Board of Agriculture has been wanting the organization present at the state fair next fall, and if this should be decided, it will be a great attraction to that institution. The association has over two hundred members and this great body of musicians, going from purely agricultural towns would be a great drawing card. It is a happy idea, anyway, and it is to be hoped that the Board will resolve to try it on. Hillsboro is very much interested in this, as to the effects of our local band is due the formation of the state organization. As the state fair officials must each year pay out much money for music, it would only be fair treatment that the funds should be disbursed to the various bands of the state. Mr. Shute went to McMinnville the first of the week and cancelled the meeting at that place.

Mr. C. D. Kimberlin advises THE ARGUS that the burial expenses of the late Mrs. Burroughs were paid, not by the daughter, but by the sale of the cow owned by the deceased. Mr. Kimberlin had the matter in his charge under the advice of the county officers and Undertaker Lamkin took the cow as payment for the coffin and burial expenses. This certainly settles the matter.

Just as Bryan was finishing his speech here Wednesday, a number of Forest Grove students got into a scuffle over a banner which had been placed on the speaker's stand by the Bryan club of Pacific University which came down in a body to hear him. The banner is the emblem of the school and goes wherever the school takes part in any public exercises and it is said the McMinley partisans were enraged at seeing it up there and made up their mind to take it down when the speaking stopped. And when they thought Bryan was done, they made a rush for it, which resulted in a scuffle among the boys and with the marshal and his aides, and unfortunately disturbed the speaker when he started to add a few words to his speech. Two of the ringleaders were arrested by the marshal but were turned loose when it was seen that it was merely a school riot.

John Winters, Sr., of Middletown, was in the city today and renewed for THE ARGUS. His health is still fairly good and he manages to take a lively interest in public affairs.
