

STEVENSON ACCEPTS NOMINATION

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 8.—Mr. Stevenson, replying to Gov. Thomas of Colorado, chairman of the committee appointed to notify the vice-presidential nominee, said:

"I am profoundly grateful for the honor conferred upon me by my selection by the national democratic convention as its candidate for the high office of vice-president of the United States for the coming year. In the manner in which such action has been officially made known to me I express to you, Mr. Chairman, and to your honored associates of the committee, my sincere thanks."

"Deeply impressed with a sense of the responsibility assumed by such candidacy, I accept the nomination so generously tendered me. Should the action of the convention meet the approval of the people of November, it is my earnest endeavor to discharge with fidelity the duties of the great office."

A Wise Provision.
"It is wisely provided in the constitution that at stated times political power shall return to the hands of the people. The struggle for political supremacy, upon which we are now entering, is one of deep importance to all conditions of our countrymen cannot be measured by words. The ill resulting from unjust legislation and from unwise administration of government must find their remedy in the all-potent ballot. To it we now make our solemn appeal."

"The chief purpose of the great convention whose representatives are before me was to reform for existing wrongs and secure against perils yet greater which menace popular government. Your convention, in language clear and unmistakable, has presented the vital issues upon which the people's fate is to be determined. To its platform I give my earnest assent."

Sympathy for Sister Republics.
"Clearly and unequivocally the democratic convention has expressed its sympathy for the peoples of the South American republics in their heroic attempt to maintain free government. In this the convention not only voiced the sentiments of American democrats, but of liberty-loving men everywhere. It is not strange that those who have kept the political faith of the author of the declaration of independence should express their abhorrence at the effort of a European power to subvert a people whose only crime is a death struggle to maintain their liberties."

"The earnest utterances of the convention that our sympathies are with the free in their unequal struggle, meets a hearty response from all who venerate the principles of our fathers. Is it not true that in all the past, a belief in the inalienable rights of all peoples has been with us a living faith? That our sympathies have ever been with the oppressed, with those who were struggling for a larger measure of freedom for self-government?"

America in the Lead.

"For this reason, our government was among the first to recognize the republics of France and Mexico, prompt to extend our sympathy, as well as official recognition, to the little South American states on their struggle for freedom from Spain, and upon their efforts to establish for themselves representative government fashioned after our own. History has but repeated itself, and the struggle to maintain free government a century and a quarter after the promulgation of the declaration of independence has been transferred from the new world to the old. Is it to be wondered that the political disciples of Jefferson should express their sympathy for the oppressed republics of South America? Only those who believe that our own country has outgrown the doctrines of the fathers are in sympathy with England's attempt to establish monarchy upon the ruins of republics."

War Taxes and Expenditures.

"The lavish appropriations by the present republican congress, should challenge the attention of all patriotic men. Subsidy bills and all unnecessary taxes are condemned by our platform. The accumulation of surplus revenues is too often the pretext for wasteful appropriations of the public money. The millions of surplus accumulating in the treasury should remain in the pockets of the people. To this end the democratic party demands a reduction of war taxes to the actual needs of the government, and a return to the policy of strict economy in all governmental expenditures."

Laws to Curb Monopolies.

"In apt words the Dingley tariff law is condemned. It is merely characterized as legislation skillfully devised in the interests of a class, and to impose upon the many burdens which they should not bear. Adhering to the time-honored doctrine of the democratic party, we oppose all tariff legislation, the necessary consequence of which is at the expense of the consumer, to secure unjust advantage to the favored few. Experience has demonstrated that unjust tariff laws have deprived the government of needed revenues, secured to favored beneficiaries colossal fortunes, and largely increased to the people the cost of the necessities of life. The baleful and legal restriction of tariff law condemned by our platform is seen in the sudden growth of giant monopolies, combinations in restraint of lawful trade and 'trusts' threatening the life of the foreigner to the existence of popular government. Believing that 'wherever there is a wrong there must be a remedy,' the democratic party will favor such legislation as will curb the spirit of monopoly and place an effective barrier against the unlawful combinations of capital which now prove an insuperable obstacle to legitimate enterprise and investment."

Trust Power Felt.

"The deadly power of the trust is felt in all channels of trade. This is but the beginning. It is too much to say that unless restrained by wholesome laws, wisely and efficiently administered, the danger becomes appalling. Fostered by the Dingley tariff law, the trusts, during the present republican administration, have enormously increased in number and power. A determined effort for their suppression must now be made. Delay would further endanger every lawful business interest of the nation, and the extension of such laws? Shall it be to the victims or to the beneficiaries of the overshadowing evil? If to the latter, then a further lease of power to the present administration is all that is needed."

Trust Evil Not Self-Curing.

"Can any sane man believe that the trust evil is one that will cure itself, or that its destruction will be compassed by those to whom it has brought princely fortunes? If so, let him point to a single honest attempt of republican officials to enforce the laws now upon our statute books against the most stupendous commercial monopoly known to any period of our history. The democratic party stands pledged to an unceasing warfare against private monopoly in every form. It demands the enforcement of existing laws against trusts, and the enactment of laws yet more stringent. It wisely demands publicity as to the affairs of corporations engaged in interstate commerce. As one of the most important end of curtailing the power of trusts, we favor such amendments of our tariff laws as will place the products of trusts upon the free list, and thereby prevent monopoly under the plea of protection. During almost four years of republican control of all departments of the government, the trust evil has grown to its present overwhelming proportions. What finger has been lifted for its suppression? With its friends again entrenched in power, what hope is held out for the future?"

National Disfranchisement.

"At this hour I need not allude in brief words to other needed reforms to which the attention of the country is called by the democratic platform. Prominent among these, is such enlargement of the scope of interstate commerce law as will protect the public from unjust transportation rates, and individuals from unfair discrimination. As is well known, this law has failed to effect the wise purpose for which it was enacted. In fact, it is now little more than a dead letter upon the statute books. Under well-considered amendments the commission should be vested with ample power to prevent injustice to individuals and to the public."

Labor and Penalties.

"Our platform favors the creation of a department of labor, whose chief officer shall rank with other constitutional advisers of the president. This is in the interest of justice and will prove an important step looking to the proper recognition and encouragement of the producers of wealth. In explicit terms it favors liberal pensions to our soldiers and sailors and to those dependent upon them."

A Wise Provision.
"It is wisely provided in the constitution that at stated times political power shall return to the hands of the people. The struggle for political supremacy, upon which we are now entering, is one of deep importance to all conditions of our countrymen cannot be measured by words. The ill resulting from unjust legislation and from unwise administration of government must find their remedy in the all-potent ballot. To it we now make our solemn appeal."

Favors Nicaraguan Canal.
"And in the interest of an enlarged commerce it favors the immediate construction of the Nicaraguan canal. This, however, with the provision that it shall remain forever under the exclusive ownership and control of the United States. The pending Hay-Pauncefote treaty is condemned as a betrayal of the American people. In the construction and control of this great work there can be no concession of right to any European power. Commercial interest and national safety in time of war alike demand its permanent ownership by our government."

The Paramount Issue.
"A question is yet to be discussed, to which all of these are of secondary importance. It is solemnly declared by our platform to be the paramount issue. Questions of domestic policy, however important, may be but questions of the hour—that of imperialism is for time. In the presence of this stupendous issue, others seem but as the dust in the balance. In no sense patting with words, but in the supreme question of the principles upon which our government is founded, that it will change our government into an empire; that our methods of legislation, of diplomacy, of administration must be changed; that we must be no longer a republic, but an empire, and not those which belong to republics."

"Upon every phase of our foreign policy, the language of the democratic platform is too clear to admit of misinterpretation. It favors trade expansion by all peaceful and lawful means."

Constitution Follows the Flag.

"We believe that liberty, as well as the constitution, follows the flag. Democrats in common with many republicans, oppose the Porto Rican law as a violation of the constitution, and a flagrant breach of good faith toward a dependent people. It is impossible to maintain a government without the consent of the governed. It is in conflict with that provision of the constitution which declares that 'duties, imports and excises shall be uniform throughout the United States.' It is a violation of the constitution which applies to every part of the United States, we condemn the tariff taxation imposed by a republican congress upon the helpless and distressed people of Porto Rico. Such legislation inspired solely by greed—is indeed the harbinger of evil to the republic. The attempt to collect unjust taxes with one hand, and with the other to return the part to a plundered people, is utterly without constitutional warrant or justification. We give our earnest assent to the declaration: 'Our plain duty is to abolish all customs tariff between the United States and Porto Rico, and give her products access to our markets. No party exigency or pressure could justify a departure by the public from the plain duty of duty he had here so clearly indicated. The law imposing tariff duties upon the people of Porto Rico is in palpable violation of the constitution, and is a flagrant breach of the pledged faith of the nation."

Deplores Spirit of Empire.

"The democratic platform condemns the policy pursued by the present administration toward the Philippine islands. This policy, in the name of the great spirit of commercialism, has embroiled our government in an unnecessary war, sacrificed valuable lives, and placed the American republic in deadly antagonism to our former allies. For the first time in our history we are boldly confronted with the question of 'imperialism—the spirit of empire.' The supreme question to which all others are of secondary importance. Before we break irrevocably with the past and abandon the doctrines of the fathers, we must first determine the consequences of a permanent departure from the settled governmental policy of more than a century. The success of the present policy toward the Philippines will be the closing hours of the century witness the American people abandoning the sure pathway in which past generations have found prosperity and happiness, and embarking upon the path of aggression and conquest, against which we are warned by the wrecks that lie along the entire pathway of history."

"Standing out against the new policy of conquest, with all that it involves of European complication, are the warnings of the founders of the republic. Out of fashion, as it may appear, the words of Washington to the incoming generations of his countrymen: 'The great rule of conduct for us in regard to foreign nations is, in our policy, to keep as far as possible from entangling ourselves in the broils of Europe.' It is not to be wondered that these warnings before permanently embarking upon an untrodden pathway beset with foreign jealousies, complications and antagonisms."

Jeffersonian Expansion.

"The democratic party has ever been the advocate of wise territorial expansion. It was in control of the government during forty years of the first half of the present century. During that period new lands were admitted into the federal union, and our western border extended beyond the Mississippi. Out of the Louisiana country—acquired under the first democratic administration—have been carved fourteen magnificent states. Under a later democratic administration—and as the result of the treaty which terminated our war with Mexico—our language and our laws, it was territory contiguous to our own, and acquired with the declared intention—when conditions and population would justify—of carrying it into the Union. The result: Millions of American people, our national wealth increased beyond the dream of avarice, and the United States chief among the nations of the earth. Can it be said that the new policy of forcible annexation of distant islands finds precedent in the historic events I have mentioned?"

"The answer is found in the bare statement of facts. The territory acquired under democratic administration is continuous—Philippine islands 8,000 miles distant. The acquisition of territory upon our own continued added little to the national expansion to maintain permanent sovereignty over the distant islands necessitates immense expenditures upon our army and navy. More than that, it contemplates methods of administration that pertain, not to the republic, but to the empire. Can it be doubted that an attempt to stifle the spirit of liberty abroad will imperil popular government at home?"

Administration's Policy Analyzed.

"What is proposed by the party in power for the government of these islands? If it be intended to establish the same political institutions, what then becomes of the Monroe doctrine? This vital international policy, announced by the president of the United States, and which has been the very warp and woof of our political being. 'We use it, therefore, to candid and to the amicable relations existing between the United States and those powers to declare that we should consider any attempt on their part to extend their system to any portion of this hemisphere as dangerous to our peace and safety.' This was supplemented by a disclaimer, in substance, upon our part, an intention to force our institutions upon the nations of Europe or their dependencies."

Monroe Doctrine Endorsed.

"The Monroe doctrine is wholesome and endorses the faith of Americans in every creed and party. It is the very warp and woof of our political being. It was promulgated at the critical moment when the United States was attempting to stifle the republicanism of Spain upon the revolted colonies in South America and Mexico. The essence of the doctrine as then understood by the United States, while forbidding the establishment of despotic governments upon the American continent, we recognize the corresponding obligation to refrain from any attempt to force our political system upon any part of the old world. This has been the settled rule of faith and practice for more than three-quarters of a century. Its promulgation defeated the purpose of the 'holy alliance' to destroy forever the power of Spain upon this continent."

"Under the Louis Napoleon, a third of a century ago, was compelled to withdraw the French army from Mexico and leave the ill-starred Maximilian to his fate. Under the empire established by foreign bayonets disappeared and the republic was restored. Are we now to say we still recognize the binding force of this doctrine upon other nations, but not upon our own?"

Government by Force a Despotism.

"If ultimate standard for these remote islands—others yet to be conquered—be disclaimed, how, then, are they to be held and governed? The only alternative is by the power of arms and navy, and this not for a day, but for all time. What, then, becomes of the bedrock principle that 'governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed?' Is the consent of the subject peoples as conquered provinces, it will be not only outside of the constitution, but in direct antagonism to the letter and spirit of the declaration of independence. It is no less true now than in the days of our revolution that 'government by arbitrary power is still despotism.' The attempt, then, either to give these people American citizenship, or to treat them as subjects, is alike fraught with peril. Should there not be an immediate declaration by our government of its purpose toward them? They should be given unqualified assurance of independence, and of our government's intention not to be withheld against outside interference. The same protection should be their heretofore extended to the little states of the South America."

Should Give Protection.

"Under existing conditions there should be no hesitation upon our part in giving them protection against the cupidity or aggressive spirit of other nations. All this, not to the end of subjugation or of conquest upon our part, but to the end of subjecting them to the end of liberty and of the ultimate establishment of stable government furnished by their own hands. Against this policy stand the great principles of our politics. The world is new—fortunately the policy is new. We are daily becoming familiar with its meaning, with its forebodings—and the end is not yet. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by the American republic of the colonial methods of European monarchies. It means the right to hold alien peoples as subjects. It entrusts force as the controlling agency in government. It means a permanent departure from the old path of duty, away from the high ideals of the founders of our great country. It abrogates the holding of our great country that the declaration of independence is the spirit of the government, the constitution, but its form and letter. Imperialism knows nothing of limitations of power. Its rule is outside the constitution. It means the adoption by