OLD CONSOLATION. There will be cold consolation in congress this fall for those republicans who have become recent converts to the democratic theory of tariff. Men like Congressman Babcock, of Wisconsin, who believe that we should stand enlightened in this regard are not counting on an element which expects and will, by virtue of having paid for it, no meddling with the tariff. The manufacturing trusts have not paid thousands of dollars—yes, millions—into the last two campaign funds for love of country.

Every boy should paste this in his hat. Two business men were conversing on a street corner the other day when a lad about fifteen passed by and one of them remarked: "That's a bright boy; I am watching him. If he gets through another year without contracting any bad habits so prevalent among 16-year-old boys in town, I know where he will get the offer of a good position." The boys should remember that they are watched by business men. The boy who is studious, prompt, energetic and reliable is preparing the way for a good position from somebody. There are not enough such young men to meet the constant demand.—Exchange.

EVERY day the dispatches tell us of deaths in the East, through extreme heat, and now and then come reports of cyclones, meaning the destruction of thousands of dollars worth of property. Here in Oregon we do not know such things. The weather is sometimes very wet, but what of that? We may have two or three warm nights in the year, and we may not. Prostrations from heat are very rare, and toronades are unknown. When it comes to production, the resources of the state are unexcelled anywhere. And yet, Oregon is not filling up as rapidly as conditions should warrant. What is the trouble? Washington state is getting plenty of immigration. Oregon is not. Why is this?

THE really intelligent element in the republican party has at last surrendered to the sensible theory of tariff. It will not be long until the producing element will surrender to the democratic demand for constitutional money and bimetalism. It takes time to divorce from the minds of many that all the patriotism of the country is wrapped up in the cuticle of national bankers and trust managers, but the lessons will be learned in spite of journals which cater to wealth in that form most prejudicial to good government and better conditions for those who produce.

Ms. Carnegie, after giving millions to libraries and schools, says that he yet has $280,000,000 to give away. All this comes from "protection" and has been paid by our people. Is it any wonder that the republican campaign fund is never deplete and lean? It is not at all likely that the republican wing of the democratic party will regain control of that ancient institution this campaign, or any other. One republican party can answer the purpose better than two such parties.

PUBLIC Opinion.—No, the Hillsboro Reading Room has never received a check from Mr. Carnegie. GENERAL Alger is to write a book on the beef scandal of the late war. General Miles is probably anxiously awaiting the advance sheets.

ORSON'S Cinchnatus, Geer, left the plow to take up the affairs of government. Now let us watch him leave the affairs of government to take up the plow handles. And he will do this about next year. HON. JOE. SIMON.—Yes, the waters of Salt River are said to contain ninety-five per cent saline property. In answer to your second, will say that, realizing your ability, this county will vote to keep you with your friends at Portland.

ANXIOUS Reader.—No, the gold democrats will not leave the republican party, as it stands Hannadized, even should the national democratic party adopt a republican platform. They will cling to the old reliable, pioneer party as a matter of constancy. If all will get in and aid, we shall have a street fair here this fall that will properly set before the public Washington county's resources. Too long have we been hiding our light under the bushel. Let us not be ashamed of what we produce and let us no longer be lukewarm as to showing the world what we have.

CORNELIUS has reason to be proud of her recent celebration. The little city took care of a great crowd, and did it admirably. Hillsboro extends a cordial invitation to Cornelius and the whole county to come and see us next Fourth. Hillsboro has pre-empted for a celebration next year, and it is going to be a crack-a-jack. The Street Fair this fall is just to be a starter.

THE patrons of Oregon's public schools have long enough paid tribute to the American Book Company, and the extortion has at last ceased. The commission, under the law, met at Salem the other day and selected a new line of texts for the public schools. The change will be an expensive one for many reasons, but it is better than to have a continuance of the old system.

THE platform adopted by the Ohio democrats yesterday was much more sweeping in its demands for reform than any platform yet enunciated by that party. And yet, our republican friends, because no mention was made of Bryan, says that Bryan "was denounced." No denunciation of Bryan is contained in the platform. The dispatch tells its own story. The headlines in our daily Hanna papers often contain lies which the articles following prove as lies.

If you can't get the girl, don't get up a gang and whip the fellow who gets the smiles. A young man in this county recently was beaten by a crowd of fellows, one of whom was a rival for the attentions of the young lady in question. Young man Number 1 was badly whipped by three or four, and the girl married the victim. One of the assailants was fined $50, four were fined $10, and a judgment of $250 was rendered against the five who did the beating act. There is a moral to this. If a girl does not want you let well enough alone. It is expensive to whip the successful party.

Woman Injured. While Mrs. Isaac Cram, who resides beyond Glencoe, was riding horseback across a small bridge three miles above Glencoe, the planking slipped, causing the horse to go through the deck. Mrs. Cram was thrown off and sustained a dislocation of the wrist and a fracture of the radius. Dr. Bailey, of this city, attended the woman, and she is getting along nicely considering the nature of the injury. It is said that the planking was not nailed to the stringers.

Union Services. Beginning next Sunday evening, the churches of Hillsboro will continue through July and August the union Sunday evening services that were a feature of last Summer's work. The meeting next Sunday evening will be held at the Evangelical church, Prof. Metzger, of Dallas, being the speaker. Everybody cordially invited.

MATRIMONIAL. Married, at Gales Creek, Ore, June 30, 1901, Mr. Joseph Woodham and Miss Hannah J. Ranes, Rev. Adkins officiating.

Married, at the court house, Hillsboro, Ore., July 3, 1901, Hon. L. A. Rood officiating. Mr. Frank Horning, of Washington county, and Mrs. Mary Savage.

Marriage license has been granted Walter Dell Winters, of Yamhill county, and Miss Laura Sutton, of near Sherwood.

George Graham, who works on one of the Milne places near this city, met with a pitchfork accident yesterday, which was almost miraculous, considering that one of the tines entered and came out after exploring a distance of three inches. He was sliding off a load of hay and fell forward on the fork. One of the tines entered his abdomen, left side, passed on toward the back, and came out again, after three inches of a chute. Strange to say there is no injury to speak of, the tine having passed only through muscle and tissue.

Mrs. Orville Tucker and children were this week visitors with relatives in this city. It is estimated that six creameries in the vicinity of Hillsboro, for last year manufactured and sold 238,855 pounds of butter. This brought them $54,634.83, and after express, freight and commission, netted them $44,204.48. How is this for the dairy business? Why do we not have more of them in the county?

Prof. Sweetser, of the Pacific University, leaves shortly for a visit to San Francisco. Washington county is blessed with a banner cherry crop this year. Trees everywhere are heavily laden, and the cloudy weather has in no way interfered with the flavor, which is said to be the finest in the world.

Now is the time to subscribe for THE ARGUS. F. M. Heidel keeps getting additions to his State Fair exhibit, and he is getting some fine samples of what old Washington county can do when conditions are right.

H. T. Blair and wife were Salem visitors last week. Dr. E. DeWitt Connell, the Portland eye and ear specialist, left last week for a four months' trip to Europe. He was accompanied East by his sister, Miss Jennie Connell, of Glencoe.

Cigars at F. J. Barber's, 2nd St. C. Blaser is putting in a cellar under his resort and will at once put in a hydraulic for his bar. He then will have a fine service for his many customers.

The Congregational church is receiving a new coat of paint by Peterson & Son, and when completed will present a very neat appearance. The Argus and Weekly Oregonian one year for $2. Subscribe now.

Elder Waggoner, of California, will speak at the Christian church, Sunday. Morning subject, "Is Christ the Son of God?" Evening, "Six Blessings."

Tompkins Brothers, of beyond Glencoe, are getting out two carloads of piling for Lindsey & Co., of Portland, and shipment will be made Monday. They are fine samples of Oregon timber, ranging from 75 to 90 feet in length.

A specialty company has been holding forth all week at the Opera House, and their entertainment is well spoken of. W. P. Freeman, who formerly resided at Mountlake, and who now lives at Winlock, Wash, was over the Fourth, meeting his many friends at the Cornelius celebration.
