BABIES TO CUT RENTS FOR CHICAGO TENANTS.

To Alma Grace Van Winkle, 20 months old, is due a Chicago real estate innovation—the removal of the objection to bables in rented houses, and the substitution of a premium for them. Her father, Charles F. Van Winkle, is the owner of a large tract of land in the southwestern part of the city. Up to the time of his marriage three years ago, Van Winkle had the same objec-tion to babies that most unmarried men have. He liked them asleep. But after his marriage, and after the coming into

 GOOD Short Stories

It is said that the late Prof. Tait, of Edinburgh University, in obedience to an oath that he would cut up the first hat he found lying on his professional desk, once destroyed his own headgear. He had been annoyed by the students leaving their hats there, and on this historic occasion one of them placed Tait's own hat there.

Once, two gentlemen attended a tem-perance meeting, and, on returning home by a dark and narrow lane, were home by a dark and narrow lane, were thrown out of their conveyance. The incident was reported in the local paper, and the account closed with the words: "Fortunately, both men were sober." The editor received an angry letter from one of the gentlemen concerned, with a request for an apology. He was equal to the occasion. "In our acount of the unfortunate accident to Mears. —," wrote the editor, "we stated that fortunately both men were sober. It appears this statement has soler. It appears this statement has given great offense. We therefore beg to withdraw it."

It is said that when the first Chinese came to California the Indiana were very curious about them. A dispute arose among some of them as to what country the strangers might hall from, country the strangers might hall from, and whether or not they were Indians. The Indians, wise as the Puritans of cid, decided to apply the water test. If the accused swam they were witches; if they drowned they were innocent.

One day a party of Indians met a party of Chinamen approaching a little stream. The strangers approached the bridge and started across. The Indians, too, filed across, and, meeting the Chinamen in midstream, pushed two of them into the angry, spooming current them into the augry, spooming current below. The test was conclusive. They could not swim. They were not india lecture on "American Humor" in a little church in South Plains, where he makes his home. After the author had quoted from and criticised several so-called American humorists, and had eulogized a few that pleased him, he closed his lecture by reading what he called "several bits of really exquisite humor." When the lecture was over, and the author was on his way home, and the author was on his way home, a friend who had accompanied him asked, interestedly: "By the way, Loomis, who was the author of those last few bits you gave?" "Well, I'll tell you," said the author, lowering his voice confidentially, "I've received so many contrary criticisms on my 'wit' that I was anxious to know whether I really had any or not. I decided to put i really had any or not. I decided to put it to a test. Those last few bits, which sent our rural friends into spasms of laughter, were 'poor things, but mine

President Porfirio Diaz gained na tional prominence and won his spurs at the battle of Puebla, where the Liberal forces made a gallant but ineffecinvaded Mexico for the purpose of erecting a throne for Maximilian. Not-withstanding the fact that the Mexican forces were defeated, their defense against superior numbers was so gallant that the anniversary of the battle of the fifth of May became a national holiday in Mexico. A brusque American once asked the President: "Why do you 2 42 Mexicans celebrate a defeat, when you know that the French finally took Puebla?" President Diaz, with a twinkle in his eye, replied: "Perhaps we have imitated the Americans even to the extent of celebrating our defeats. for I have been told that the British defeated the colonists at Bunker Hill, and yet you built a monument to commemorate the event."

Relics of Marie Antoinette. Among the archives of the Department of the Seine was recently brought to light the list of articles in the pockets of the dress worn by Marie Antoinette at the time of her execution. The objects were, first, a small pocketbook, in green morocco, containing a pair of scissors, a small corkscrew, a pair of pincers, a comb, and a very small pocket looking-glass, and a small pocketbook of red morocco. These sold for 4f. 75c. Another one consisted of three little portraits in green morocco cases,

Among the works which are taking place at Windsor Castle is the pulling up of all the floors-which have not been touched since the beginning of the last reign; some not for a century. They are to be completely relaid on modern principles, and are to be rendered fireproof. Since the burning of Sandringham the king has always had a great dread of fire, and he is taking advantage of the present opportunity of ren-dering the castle more secure against the devouring element.—Tattler.

Milling in Minnesots. With its several bundred monster mills Minnesota easily leads the country in its milling industry. The annual output of Minneapolis mills amounts to over 13,000,000 barrels, and the combined capacity of the State's mills is considerably over 100,000 barreis a day. The Minneapolis mills are the finest in the world, and one system of five of them grinds about 20,000,000 bushels of wheat a year.
