MRS. CHAS. D. STALEY.

A Yoncalla correspondent of the Roseburg Review has the following to say relative to the late wife of C. D. Staley, who died recently, near Greenville:

"Elsie Caroen, eldest daughter of James and Margaret Miller, was born in Yoncalla, Douglas county, Oregon, April 28, 1858. Her mother died when she was a child of fourteen. She was her father's housekeeper from that time on until her marriage to Charles D. Staley, which took place February 29, 1880. She attended school at Willbur, Oregon, for several years. She grew to womanhood here in our midst, and had a host of young friends wherever she went. Since her marriage she has lived in Washington county, where her untimely death occurred on April 7, 1902. Her death was a severe shock and brought sorrow to her numerous friends and an irreparable loss to her young and growing family. She was the mother of nine children, the youngest of whom is an infant of only one month's age. Her surviving relatives are her brothers, George Miller, Lakeview, Or.; John T. and Johnathan Miller, Hayhurst, Or.; and sisters, Miss Alice Miller and Mrs. Ben Huntington, of Yoncalla.

MRS. CAROLINE WELLMAN.

Mrs. Caroline Wellman died at the home of her daughter, at Forest Grove, last Saturday, aged 60 years. Deceased arrived from Gilmore, Mich., last week. While en route to Oregon, she contracted pneumonia, which caused her death. She is survived by a husband and the following children: Mrs. Belle Stilson and C. W. Wellman, of Bakersfield, Cal.; Mrs. Ray Byrads, Mrs. A. L. Howe, and Clyde and Alta Wellman, of Forest Grove. Interment was in the Naylor cemetery.

Go to F. J. Barber, Second Street, for a neat shave or hair cut. Satisfaction guaranteed.

The large locust tree, standing a few feet from the southwest corner of the Hotel Tualatin, has been laid to rest by the ax of the chopper, and is no more to provide a shade for the walls, nor refuse for the roof of the Corwin & Wooster brick, standing near this tree was planted in 1857—45 years ago—by Mary Catherine Wehrung, wife of Henry Wehrung, and for 45 years it has waved its branches to the breeze. It was the tallest tree in the immediate vicinity, and had attained a diameter of about three feet. For some years Mr. Waggner has talked of having it cut, and Monday it was felled, after the upper limbs were sawed away to provide against damage. Mrs. Wehrung, who was a young woman when the tree was set, is yet in splendid health, and "Uncle Henry," as he is called, was an interested onlooker at the proceedings. One by one the old landmarks are disappearing.

Solid metal silverware goes like hot cakes. I am calling on the people about as fast as I can, but if you are in a hurry for a table service, warranted for twenty-five years, write me and I will call, give you prices and fill your orders.—Chas. E. Hall, Hillsboro.

Somebody with a soul full of undiluted cussedness, played a villainous trick on Milton Morgan, Friday night. Mr. Morgan is the owner of a new Rambler bicycle of late design that cost him $45 cash. Friday night the new machine was in the basement of Mr. Morgan's home, south of Mary's river bridge. Mr. Morgan mounted it to ride to his work at the Gazette office Saturday morning, and before he had proceeded far, the machine collapsed. Investigation showed that the upright tube near the front wheel had been sawed half through about four inches from the top. The sawing was on the under-side, where it could not be observed except on close inspection.—Corvallis Times. Mr. Morgan is well known here, having lived in this city before going to Corvallis.

E. L. McCormick has the largest stock of fishing tackle and baseball goods in town. Prices right. Also bicycles and sundries.

It is said that two reckless fellows in this vicinity have placed themselves where they are likely to get into trouble, and unless they call around and settle the damage, something may drop before long. Yesterday morning they were hunting across the long bridge, west of town, when they shot six or seven tame Mallard ducks for W. H. Taylor. Aside from pure vandalism their only excuse can be that they thought they were wild. If this be the excuse, the law will get after them, for it is now close season. Mr. Taylor has lost quite a number of fine ducks in this manner the last few years, and he is getting tired of the annoyances. He thinks it is time the lads were getting around to settle for the birds, or trouble may ensue.

Don't wear out the bottom of your trousers' legs when you can get the latest in suspenders at Dennis'. Call and see them.

Every day or so there is some agent for eastern lumbermen in town looking into the records as to timber lands. Thousands of acres of Washington county timber have passed into the hands of eastern buyers, and before long they will control it all. The pine of Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota is fast being cleaned out and lumber interests are turning to the Northwest for the future supply. Inside of ten years, shipping to the Missisippippi valley from Oregon will be common business.

White Plymouth Rock and White Wyandotte eggs, 50 cents per setting.—Mrs. W. A. Finney.

The public school celebrated Flag and Arbor Day, last Friday, by appropriate exercises. The Ladies' Relief Corps presented the school with a handsome regulation flag, which now swings in the breeze from the flag pole. Mrs. Nancy Haines, president of the Corps, made the presentation speech, and Director S. B. Huston responded in accepting the banner. After this the school gave an instructive program. There was a large and appreciative crowd in attendance.

Wall paper and carpets, at McCormick's furniture store, three doors south of post office.

Tax collections at the court house are not very brisk these days, and the office is busy engaged in getting the large receipts collected during the rush, tabulated for distribution. Treasurer Crandall states that nearly all the outstanding warrants have been presented for payment, although there are yet two or three thousand dollars yet out. The money is there for their redemption, and interest has been stopped.

Soil is beginning to turn in the farm districts, and man and horse will be rushed to the utmost until seeding is finished. On the lowlands the ground is too wet yet for work, although quite a number have seeded in districts where the overflow subsided early. Plowing and seeding will be a fortnight later than usual this season, and we may look for a consequent late harvest.

EXCITING GAME WAS LAST SUNDAY'S

Slippery Field at Start of Game.

LOCAL BOYS LOST BY A FLUKE.

Visitors Never Scored After the First Inning

Last Sunday's game, between the Diamond-W nine and Fidelity, of Portland, was one of the most exciting ever played on the grounds. Fidelity won the game by a score of 8 to 7, but the home boys outplayed the visitors at every point after the game really began. Fidelity first went to the bat, and the infield was as slippery as glass, pools of water being promiscuously scattered, here and there, on the diamond. It was impossible for men on the infield to stand on their feet when in active pursuit of the sphere. Baseg were easily made on small hits, and Fidelity made 8 scores before the side was out. But right here it stopped, and the boys from the Lewis & Clark territorial city never pegged a thing but gooseberries from that on, while the Diamond-Ws marked up 7 scores. There were but seven innings played. The Portlanders' feet got cold in the fifth inning, and they scrapped every decision of Umpire Bagley, and wanted to quit. Beck with told the visitors to "play ball" or lay no claim to gate money. They played, and had it been nine innings instead of 7, the game would have been ours. Umpire H. T. Bagley thinks his decisions were favorable to the visitors, in his desire to be fair as against his sympathies.

Swops did fine work catching, and Melnis was great. Breidemeir was first class at first base. Tom Williams, on third, did good work, while little Hart, as shortstop, played everywhere. Mills did fine work on left field; Somers was a crack-a-jack as center, and did great stick work, while Chas. Mitchell made the grand-stand play of the day in a long run for a fly in right field. It was a great game, all right. The boys showed up fine, and they will give the best of them points. There was no "give up," and ball was on from start to finish.

Road supervisors are busy these days getting public roads into shape. The late spring has been bad for farm work, and farmers have been taking advantage of this to put work on the highways.

Perry D. Hall, well known here, has been granted license to wed with Ada E. Huerth, the license being granted by the clerk of Multnomah county. Mr. Hall lived at Hillsboro for several years in the '90's.

Goodmurdy, the Second Street barber, now has the "swellest" little shop in the city. One of his latest innovations is compressed air and by its use he can give one's face a finish that is like a dream. Call on him once—and you'll call again.

Glencoe reports an increase of milk supply every day at the cheese factory, and as soon as the summer-spring opens in good shape, there will be plenty of business in that little burg.

If you have any property to sell or rent, call on us. We are in touch with eastern prospective buyers. We think we can reach all who wish to buy as well as anybody can, and we guarantee you an honest deal.—Hoyt & Barnes, over The Delta drug store, next door to The Argus.

Reports from various parts of the county are to the effect that the frost of last week did not materially injure fruit, and that the apples, especially, are untouched. This is good news, as the frost was a very heavy one, and indications were, at the time, very bad.

Who said suspenders? John Dennis has the finest line ever brought to Hillsboro. He has also put in a splendid line of hosiery, and will give you best quality for low prices. While you are buying the best shoes to be found in the county, just get your hose at the same place.

Nothing apparently is being done on the proposed Nahalem-Portland railway, and it looks as though the summer will wane and winter come again and no track built. Meantime, Washington county hopes that the line will soon be under way, and that the road will be built through one of the best sections in Oregon.

Lost, near Beaverton, March 9, a bay horse colt, two years old. Star in forehead. Had halter on. Left hind leg sore at stifle. Reward for delivery.—John George, Beaverton, Oregon.

How about that Fourth of July celebration? Hillsboro must get a move on itself, and commence arrangements at once. It is now but a little over 60 days until the eagle will scream—and it takes time to get up a good program. As Hillsboro never does things by halves, it is time to get under swing, and start the ball rolling.

Henry E. Rice, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Rice, died yesterday morning and was buried today in the Hillsboro cemetery. The little lad was a bright little fellow, and a universal favorite with his schoolmates. The parents have the sympathy of their large circle of friends.

The personal property bought by John Siemer, who was sent to the penitentiary for two years, at the recent term of circuit court, was sold by John Shute, yesterday, and the sale netted in the neighborhood of $800. This property Siemer turned over to Shute, and as the bank has bought the farm, it is hoped that no loss will ensue, in the course of time, as a result of the forgery. Geo. R. Bagley was in Salem Monday, and saw Siemer, who is taking his incarceration with philosophy.

Edythe Tosier Weathered, formerly a resident of this city, is representing Oregon at the Charleston, S. C., Exposition, and she is doing the state credit. Oregon Day will come on the 25th of April, and Congressman T. H. Tongue will deliver the principal address. With Mrs. Weathered and Henry E. Doosh at the helm, Oregon's interests will not suffer for want of representation. It is said that the Oregon exhibit is attracting a great deal of interest in the Southern section.

More than one prohibitionist in the county has complimented The Argus because the nominating convention was given notice with a prominent position. Naturally, all Argus readers wanted to know whether nominations were made, who were the nominees, and all that, and The Argus endeavors to give the news. While The Argus does not support the prohibition movement, it does desire to treat all important news matter in an impartial manner. The news of their county convention was of sufficient importance for good position, and while The Argus man is not a "Sunday School Man," like other publishers in this county in Oregon, he had no prejudice sufficient to put the account in an obscure place in the paper.

The Argus publisher has reason to thank the Washington county delegation to the recent state convention for the magnificent support given him for the candidacy of state printer. Mr. Long was not a candidate in any sense of the word, and did not expect the nomination. When some of Portland's pencil pushers mentioned him as a possible candidate the boys buckled on their armor, and although they did not go to the city until the day of the convention, they made a great fight for Long. They found Nickell, who is always a candidate, on the ground, and Mr. Godfrey, of Salem, well in the race. On the first ballot, Godfrey received 96, Long, 93, and Nickell, 74. The next ballot gave the nomination to Godfrey, Long receiving 24 less than a majority. Nickell was third in the race at all times, and he now attributes his defeat to Col. Sam White, of Baker. Long thanks the boys for their efforts.

When farmers are in need of agricultural implements they should see Schulmerich Bros.' stock. They are factory agents for Osborne and Deering harvesting machines, Rock Island plows and harrows, and Tiger drills. Also carry a full line of buggies, wagons and general hardware.

John Salzgeber, the Hawthorn ranch hop grower, was brought before Squire Everitt one day last week, on a charge of having assaulted the Schumacher Brothers, of near Cedar Mill. After the evidence was all in and Salzgeber's own evidence was heard, the defendant was fined $5 and costs for the offense. The trouble was over some family affair. Salzgeber, in turn, has had the complaining witness sued in a civil action, and the mills of justice will again grind.

H. D. Schmelzer has purchased Prince Henry, the three-year-old three-fourths Percheron colt, a stallion, from A. W. Saxton, and Frank Pauli has taken him to Tillamook to put him in service. The horse is a fine fellow, and will make a splendid animal when he has his full growth. For build he is of the finest, and his sire was the famous Clydesdale stallion, Kalamazoo, owned by the Ladd & Reed Farm Company, some years ago.

A cylinder press and gasoline engine have been installed in The Argus office, this week, and hereafter press work will be done at home. The press is one of the best ever brought to the county—and it is so heavy that it is doubtful if it will ever be removed. It took about fifty men to heave-o-heave it up the stairway leading up to the composing rooms.

Mrs. Mahlon Malone, of Anacosta, Montana, accompanied by her little daughter, is in the city, visiting with relatives. Mrs. Malone is well known here, having spent her girlhood days in this city. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Baldr, well known to all old time pioneers, and who are now residing in Montana.

Geo. R. Bagley and E. B. Tongue were before the supreme court at Salem, Monday, arguing the case of Hesse vs Barrett. The decision will be rendered in about two weeks. This was the case where the plaintiffs sought to set aside certain deeds for lands near Mountsindale.
