Opposed to Gold Mono-metallism. Believes in the Bimetallic Standard, Dear Money means Debased Property, and Profitless American Product. Our Consequent loss is our Creditors' Gain. Has no use for Marcus A. Hanna

A VERY HONEST PAPER.

One of the democratic troubles is that though Mr. Bryan cannot get enough votes to elect him, he can pull more than any other man in the party.—The Dalles Chronicle. Here is one honest paper on the Hanna side of the house. And, while this question is foremost, it might be well to note that for the reason that Bryan can poll more votes than any other man in the democratic party, such papers as the Chronicle are very bitter against the Nebraskan. By invective and ridicule they hope to force the democrats to take up a man more easily beaten than the man Bryan, whom all believe sincere and fearless

TRUTH IS STRANGER THAN FICTION.

Readers of The Argus will remember that a few years ago it preached the quantitative theory of money, and in so doing, incurred the displeasure of those who thought they had a cinch on all the brains in the country. They said we had money enough, and that we only lacked confidence. The democrats and populists asked for a greater volume of money. The Hannacrats said they were fools, and that they wanted to repudiate the national debt and get the government into bankruptcy.

by any means, now tell their neighbors that we are very prosperous and that the country was very wise to turn down the Bryans, pointing to the better prices for farm products. Conditions, they claim, are the result of republican rule. Let us see what that rule has been. While laughing at democratic and populist ideas, what do we find that they have done to keep things afloat? They have adopted as much of their doctrine as possible. They have coined silver right along, and this, with the increase of gold coinage, gives us a greater volume of money than ever before! And, yet, we find Secretary Shaw asking the banks of the country to send out bank currency to the extent of their rights—asks for several millions of bank money to help out and tide over an apparent stringency. Even a half-witted fairness would acknowledge the facts as set forth in this bit of history, but don't look for anything like it by a Hannacrat press! Not much. They just keep on abusing Bryan and reform ideas—but they have to do it the Nation over, for the corporations insist on keeping up the volume of money until the trusts are entrenched—and then they will give us a squeeze. But, is it not about time that the dough-headed Hannacrat press quit talking about Bryan and his ideas when they have practically admitted their truth? Truth is stranger than fiction.

ARKANSAW goes democratic, and the big dailies give it a line notice in one corner. When Vermont and Maine go republican, look out for scare heads.

PHILANDEP, "JES" PHILANDEP

The United States has a law against trusts. No one disputes this, and good authorities on constitutional law say that it is ample in its provisions to restrain and smash them all, from the biggest down to the smallest. Philander Knox, formerly a trust attorney represents you as your attorney-general. He hasn't smashed any trusts yet that any one has heard about. Roosevelt appointed this gentleman. Roosevelt rants about the trusts, but his words are nothing but a subtle innuendo. Why does he not direct Knox to proceed against the unlawful combinations? Why does he wait until after the elections? Is it possible that all this tommyrot is nothing but a bluff?

AND THE TRUSTS LAUGH:

A recent number of a trust newspaper has the following utterance of the president sandwiched in an editorial, and commends it as the brightest bit of statesmanship since the days of King Grover Cleveland:

"A government can do something—it can do a great deal, but it can never begin to do as much for an individual as the individual can do for the government."

How the managers of the trusts must have laughed when they read this and then thought of the legislation yelped the Dingley law! How nice it must be to have a corner on all the intellectual microbes in the country and see things as these gentry see them!

ORGANIZED labor is having its dangerous period. If the big strikes of the East shall be successful, then the perpetuity of labor unionism is assured. There have been months and months of tension, and there being no presidential election on hand nothing but financial considerations as to profit and loss will settle the battle. There will be no intercession by the big politicians; no payment of money to the big companies that they might compromise, and no payment to the labor officials to induce a compromise. The fight is to be to the finish. If labor wins the big coal strike they will hereafter dictate terms to capital. On the other hand, if capital shall win, the unions may as well go out of existence. In the meantime, the operators are losing nothing. What is their loss by virtue of not operating, they make up by selling what they have in stock at a higher price.

SECRETARY SHAW asks the banks to send out bank currency to the extent of their rights to relieve the "stringency" in the circulation. Shaw would make a good Bryanite if he would just couple that wish with some good sense that would teach him that government money is always as good and somewhat safer than bank money. As a matter of fact, however, Shaw may just be "foolin'" as there is an election in the East.

HAVE you noticed that the trusts have not gone into spasms over the pretended assaults of the president? Is it not rather amusing, when Roosevelt's cabinet make no mention of "trust abuse" that the president should be thought antagonistic to the great combinations—and don't you think that Platt let one eye-lid slowly down when he was quoted as saying that New York wouldn't support Roosevelt in his "anti-trust" attitude? If the president is so surely against trusts, why does he not have Knox knock a few of them?

OREGON'S Blue Ribbon State Fair Salem September 15th to 20th 1902 No time in the history of the Oregon State Fair has there been such a good feeling among the agricultural classes towards the success of the fair as exists at the present time. Every section of the state seems to be taking an interest in the fair and promise to give their hearty support. There are reasons for this awakening of the people to the support of the fair. One is the management has worked hard and faithfully to make the fair as broad as the state itself. The transportation companies have come to their assistance and made liberal rates on hauling rates of all kinds. Another is, the people are beginning to realize that it is time to let the outside world know of the wonderful resources of our state, and believe that the State Fair is the proper place to meet the better class of home-seekers. This will make the fair doubly valuable. It will give those who are looking for homes in the Pacific Coast an opportunity to see in a body what our state can produce, and where it is produced, without traveling all over the state at great expense. It will also give the exhibitor the best possible opportunity of showing his products, whether it be grains, grazes, fruits, vegetables, livestock, minerals or manufactured goods. You are invited to attend and see the greatest industrial exposition and livestock show ever held on the Pacific Coast. Good racing every afternoon. Camp ground free. Come and bring your families. For information, write M. D. WISDOM, Sec'y, Portland, Oregon.
