Opposed to Gold Mono-metallism. Believes in the Bimetallic Standard, Dear Money means Debased Property, and Profitless American Product. Our Consequent loss is our Creditors' Gain. Has no use for Marcus A. Hanna

Lapse of memory is a dangerous thing. When congress was in session last winter and spring the president must have suffered a lapse of memory, if one is to pay any attention to what the executive has been saying on his swing around the circle. At that time, when he had a congress to enact legislation, he was wondrously silent about the trust question. This being the case one must not put much faith in his statements as to curbing the corporations which are bleeding the people of the country. As long as Philander Knox continues to be his attorney-general one need look for the "busting" of no trusts. And, to conclude, the trusts still keep supporting the Hanna party.

DEMOCRACY AND ITS MISSION

Some men seem to think that democracy has no meaning or purpose except to get offices for a few rich men who have exhausted the prime and manhood of their lives in accumulating filthy lucre. They seem to think that the business of the rich man is to hold office in his superannuated years for social ornamental purposes, and in his effort to secure the ornament he should distribute a few $10 bills, or a few $20 bills, and here and there a check for $100 or more among three, or four, or five ring politicians in each county seat. Each state is infested with a few such rich democrats and a few such hiring democrats, who have no conception of democracy except as it promises immediate returns to gratify the vanity of the would-be rich office-holder, and immediate cash to the machine politicians who have no other occupation and no visible means of support.

Let us get into the midst of things. Why nibble constantly at the edges? Why not have a plain understanding? Why not recognize that Jeffersonian democracy means "equality and justice to all, and special privileges to none?" Why not recognize at the outset that Abraham Lincoln was a good Jeffersonian democrat when he said: "I believe this country with its institutions ought to belong to the people who inhabit it." What would Lincoln mean today if he were to speak of "a government of the people, by the people and for the people?" if he did not mean governmental ownership of a postal telegraph, if he did not mean public ownership of public utilities, if he did not mean initiative and referendum, if he did not mean that the trust-made commodities should be put on the free list, if he did not mean that on the money question the people should govern the banks rather than that the banks should govern the people?

There is entirely too much talk about the candidate for president in 1904; entirely too much editorial space and news space wasted by the different machine politicians in their efforts to select a presidential candidate who will do the bidding of Wall street; always, and of the people never. It is all misdirected effort.

The democratic democrats are a class of men who believe that a great political party ought to do something. And now what do these editors who are harping about harmony propose to do? Do they propose to place in the White House an executive, and in the capital a congress that will hear no other voice except that of the masses, or do they propose to put there men who shall be the tools of the privileged classes? There is no other question before the democratic democracy.

This is no time to consult those who established Hannaism in the land. This is no time to confer with men who betrayed the democratic party when there was an opportunity to place Mr. Bryan in the White House and install a genuine people's government in the national capital. Let us devote our time and our energy to a discussion of the needs of the people and to the legislation which will remedy the evils of the day and bring this government back to its time-honored ideals under which it developed not only the number of its people, but the moral purpose of every man, woman and child whose eye looked up to the stars and stripes for inspiration.—Columbus (O.) Press.

The era of strikes is not without its blessings. It is now the beginning of the end. The contest between arrogant capital and lowly labor will all be settled in its own good time, and with the settlement will come community (government) ownership of all things which by their very nature, are universal utilities, such as streets, manufactures, coal mines, railroads, etc. The little chaps who never think twice, may laugh at the idea, and may con'end against it, alleging "blue ruin," with as much inflammation as honored the fight against admitting the world to be spherical, but it will come. And, when that time does come there will be more satisfied laborers and less millionaires by virtue of undue advantages over those who make our wealth. The little dough-heads will continue to make it as hard as possible for this to come about, and aid their big masters through idocy, but government ownership will come only as a cure for the evils of monopoly. The fight against it by the little peanut heads reminds one of what a local philosopher once said: "There are two glasses of beer you can't hypnotize; vun is an ijjit and the udder is a poor fool!"

ATTEND THE STATE FAIR.

To be Held at Salem, Sept 15 to 20.

Take a few days after haying and harvesting, and go away for a change of scene and air. Too few farmers and farmers' wives take any vacation during the year. There is nothing so good as a change of living and a few days rest to brace one up, both physically and mentally. Most of the large city business houses give their employes one or two weeks' vacation during the year, and they find it pays well in the better health of their men and greater interest taken by them in their duties. A week's rest attending the state fair is both educational and recreative.

The exposition building will be filled with the finest exhibits of the farm, field and orchard. The livestock show will surpass anything of the kind ever given on the coast, and no progressive farmer can afford to miss seeing the possibilities of improved breeds and breeding. Good racing every afternoon between the fleetest-footed racers on the coast. Good music and high-class entertainment in the evening. Reduced rates will be made by the Southern Pacific for the occasion. Ask your agent for full information. Fare, $3 10 round trip.

Second street is to be nearly laid from Main to the Moore property, this side of the depot.

E. C. Brown returned last Friday from Douglas county, where he was out with a survey or party.

Robert Foster, of London, England, is here for a visit with his uncle, Wm. Bagley, of Leleyville.

Miss Eva Bailey, of this city, will attend St. Helen's Hall, Portland's young ladies' seminary, this winter.

Drs. Linklater and Lambie were at Portland this week, attending the annual meeting of the State Medical Association.

M. H. Oils has left the employ of the Housley market, and Mark Butler is temporarily looking after the wants of the customers.

The marriage of Herman Spooner, a former Hillsboro boy, and Miss Rosetta Albrook, of Portland, is announced by Post and papers.

John W. Cornelius, of Mountaineer, has purchased a half interest in the McNamee barn, at Forest Grove. The Argus wishes him success.

Permit has been granted J. C. Hare by the Portland city to put up a $2,500 residence on Fourth & Caruthers, and construction has already commenced.

Report comes this evening that forest fires are raging so fiercely around Tillamook that there is but little hope of saving the town, and that residents of the city are leaving for places of safety.

Andrew Graydon, the electric line promoter, was in town this afternoon, looking after business interests. He says that he will be ready to start construction just as soon as the line is open for work.

Pacific University will open its fall term next Wednesday, and Hillsboro will contribute its usual large number of students. Monmouth also opens, and quite a number will attend the Normal.

The following from this city contemplate going to the state fair next week the majority of them remaining throughout the meeting: Messrs. and Mesdames L. W. Hons, U. G. Gardner, J. W. Sewell, W. L. Davis, C. W. Redmond, W. V. Wiley, W. H. Wehrung, F. M. Heibel, R. B. Collins, A. C. Shute and W. J. Wall. If these do not represent Hillsboro properly at the big fair they will telegraph home for reinforcements.

A-hes were in the air and on the streets this morning, and early after daylight it looked like a miniature snow storm. The breeze coming from the North brought cinders and ashes from the big forest fire near Mountaineer, where they say a terrific fire has been raging for two or three days. Thousands of dollars' worth of valuable timber has been destroyed, quite a few settlers' cabins have been burned, and many fences put out of existence. The flames have already spread as far as Puckin Ridge. Referring to ashes brought so many miles, one citizen says that in 1863 there was just such a season as this, and the ashes fell to the depth of over a half inch. To see the white flakes falling this morning reminded one of cold weather and snow spitting.

S. D. West, a resident of this county since 1874, died at his home, two miles north of Banks, last evening, aged 63 years. He has been a sufferer for over a year from cancer, which commenced on his hip and away from the chain and back to the throat. The funeral was held this afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Walker cemetery. Mr. West was a good soldier, having been one of four brothers who entered the army. He was in Co. I, 17th Illinois Infantry. He leaves a wife and three children: Mrs. John M. Beck, Mrs. John M. Beck, and Mrs. Chas. Prickett.—Times.

OREGON'S Blue Ribbon State Fair

Salem September 15th to 20th 1902

No time in the history of the Oregon State Fair has there been such a good feeling among the agricultural classes towards the success of the fair as exists at the present time. Every section of the state seems to be taking an interest in the fair and promise to give it their hearty support. There are reasons for this awakening of the people to the support of the fair. One is the management has worked hard and faithfully to make the fair as broad as the state itself. The transportation companies have come to their assistance and made liberal rates on hauling rates of all kinds. Another is, the people are beginning to realize that it is time to let the outside world know of the wonderful resources of our state, and believe that the State Fair is the proper place to meet the better class of business-men. This will make the fair doubly valuable. It will give those who are looking for homes on the Pacific Coast an opportunity to see in a body what our state can produce, and where it is produced, without traveling all over the state at great expense. It will also give the exhibitor the best possible opportunity of showing his products, whether it be grains, grasses, fruits, vegetables, livestock, minerals or manufactured goods. You are invited to attend and see the greatest industrial exposition and livestock show ever held on the Pacific Coast. Good racing every afternoon. Camp ground free. Come and bring your families. For information, write M. D. WISDOM, Sec'y, Portland, Oregon.
