A GOVERNMENT FOR TRUSTS

If there are republicans conversant with latter day legislation who think that the duty of 67 cents per ton on anthracite coal was "smuggled into the bill" without being known by the cocklores who voted that measure into law, they are certainly very credulous. The congressman who voted for the Dingley law and now excuses his vote by saying that the duty on coal was "smuggled" into the bill is altogether too provincial to be sent back to Washington, where some hack-driver might rob him, or a waiter in some second-class restaurant might short change him, Democratic journals, for some time have told readers that there was 67 cents per ton tariff on anthracite, while the journals, with big fronts under their vests, like the Oregonian, have been emphatically denying it, supported by Teddy. The big journals, within the last three or four days, are now swallowing their medicine and admitting that the tariff of 67 cents was "smuggled" into the bill. Gee! What a poor lot of ninnyes we have back in congress! It is time for Messrs. Hanna, Quay, Platt and their followers in national politics to snivel! Such sympathy they have for the poor, and such hatred for the trusts! And to think, too, that the old "gag" about the Standard Oil people having no protection under the Dingley law! The Oregonian's dispatches now admit that there is about 40 per cent ad valorem on all Standard Oil products, except one or two of the output! What a pretty mess! A year ago there were no trusts at all, which were trusts by virtue of a tariff. Today these lickspittle journals have found out that they have lied to their readers for the profit of trusts. And yet, they ask people to support them still.

JUST THE OTHER WING.

The Forest Grove Times mentions the fact that The Argus hopes that the Hill crowd will be defeated in New York, and comments upon the lack of harmony between "brethren." The Times may not know it—The Argus does—but the Hill crowd is one wing of the party of Mr. Hanna. For proof of this just ask any old time reliable thick and thin republican paper like the Oregonian, or Hill and Cleveland weren't veritable heroes in 1896 and 1900—just because they voted and lent their sympathy for Han-nacrat ideas. Of course, The Argus wants to see Coler beaten for governor. Not that it likes Odell the more, but because all good democrats like Hill the less. So long as trust sympathizers are to be elected, it doesn't matter which wing of the corporation supporters gets into Power.
