This will interest the ladies. H. Wehrung & Sons have a handsome line of ladies' tailor-made skirts; the date of the distortion of this notice is the land. Call in and see our line.

The county board of equalization of the county judge, clerk and assessor, is in session this week, and hearing complaints as that time, would not poll enough votes to carry a woman's suffrage convention. These little tin gods thought that it would never again thought that it would never again asked for any reduction. The be a democratic year, and they board will continue for two days wanted to get out of the party.
They wallowed in the slime of kindness, which was the sort of "statue of frauds" order, and now, when they are in control, the erstwhile applauders gibingly ask them if they "propose to give the country some more Cleveland soup houses." Burn it to them, brethren of the Hanna press. You can't hit the demagogues too hard. It is not unpalatable to those who have stood against capitalism in the past. No one likes cowards.

board will continue for two days more two days more, Friday and Saturday. The last day will most likely be a crowded one, as many always wait until the very last.

Many "cuckoo" journals are saying: "The arbitration agreement to end the coal strike is a great victory for the president." Let us see as to this. Moran was the real power which agreed to the arbitration plan. A majority of the men selected as the board are in sympathy with the mine owners. It looks as though the entire board was selected by the mine operators. Of course, there will be a small raise given the striking miners. Morgan (the alleged democrat, according to Hanna papers) wants the republicans to hold the lower house of bore, Oregon, within six months from thy with the mine owners. It looks licans to hold the lower house of congress. It began to look bad for the Hanna party. A small raise would not hurt the operators, for their trust is so strong that the raise, and more, can be squeezed from the consumer. In this way they are to keep the "labor vote" for this year, and put the possibility of a strike beyond the time of the next presidential campaign. It will be remembered that the settlement of the strike just before the last presidential election was due to Mr. Hanna. There is no doubt but the fear of anti-trust success at the polls furthered the settlement along lines of arbitration. The victory is a political one, but it is not great by any means. And it is that transparent that foolish is the laborer who can not see through the thin places.

BANKER CORBETT is out for an extra session of the legislature, and it is amusing to see how quick the great Oregonian pulls in its opposition to Geer's idea of making the call. Corbett wants to see the legislature walk into a good sized appropriation for the coming Lewis & Clark Exposition, and he wants to see things move before the legislative members get mixed up in a general free-for-all on the senatorial question. The Oregonian, so bitterly opposed to an extra session, now keeps still and tacitly endorses the idea. Wonder what that paper would do in case the "old man"
