

SUIT FILED AGAINST COLUMBIA COUNTY

Sheriff is Restrained From Selling Land, Delinquent.

EIGHTEEN SETTLERS INVOKE LAW.

Freeholders in Disputed Strip, Through Attorney Huston, ask for Injunction.

Eighteen settlers in the disputed tract between this county and Columbia county, through Attorney S. B. Huston, have sued out a writ of injunction, asking Judge McBride to temporarily restrain the sheriff of Columbia county from selling their lands at public sale for delinquent taxes for the year 1901.

When the lands were originally set over to this county the legislature provided for the legitimate transfer of the records, which was done, the expenses being borne by this county.

Joseph Tchekotsky, the Polish householder, of Punkin Ridge, who recently went on the warpath against Jos. Rooks, pulling a revolver and threatening to kill, had his examination before Judge L. A. Rood, yesterday. The evidence was that Tchekotsky had gone to the Nelson and Reed sawmill, where he found Rooks, and told him he must give him back $140 or he would die Rooks and his neighbors disarmed the Pole, when he persisted in trying to get at the man whom he contended had his money Rooks finally knocked the Pole down Tchekotsky afterward and at the time, repeatedly threatened to kill Rooks. The Pole says (in court) that he came back from California and had $140 with him. This money, he thinks, has been stolen, and he lays it on to Rooks, who, according to reputable people is as honest as he is homely. Judge Rood held the defendant in the sum of 300 bonds. Tchekotsky is not very well balanced and he should be sent to the asylum, where he would take care of himself and soon be at himself. It is hardly likely that he will be able to give a bond. Later: Bond to keep peace reduced to $150 cash, and defendant put up cash bail.

Interesting for ladies—the following reductions on our tailor-made skirts: $8.00 reduced to $6.00; $7.50 reduced to $5.50; $7.00 reduced to $5.00; $5.00 reduced to $4.00; $4.50 reduced to $3.50. A 10 per cent reduction on ladies' flannellette wrappers. H. Wehrung & Sons.

An Italian named Joseph Castro, who killed a fellow Italian, a saloon keeper in Portland, December 25, was caught the last of the week by John Cordano, the detective. "Castro," as the murderer is called, had gone out into the Beaverton country and was endeavoring to get to California via Corvallis. Cordano located him by information from a countrywoman of his. Accompanied by H. P. Ford and Kerrigan he found the fugitive in a barn a few hundred feet the other side of Beaverton and landed him in the Portland jail.

Dr. Tamiesis states that next week the Oregon Condensed Milk Company will commence operations, all the machinery now being ready to begin the work of condensing. Two large water tanks are being installed for water supply, and by the first of the middle of the week the fire will be started. A considerable portion of the milk supply will come from the dairy herd of the Dr. Tamiesis ranch, but the manager will take all milk offered up to the capacity, which is not likely to be crowded for some time.

The lucky numbers at our drawing last Saturday were: First prize, 1921; 2nd prize, 498; 3rd prize, 426; 4th prize, 1495; 5th prize, 1071. R. Carlisle drew the first prize.

The Hillsboro Epworth League will hold its annual rally at the M. E. church next Sunday evening, at 6:30 on an enjoyable time is anticipated. The League is preparing to celebrate Washington's birthday with appropriate exercises, notice of which will appear later.

GASTON FLOUR MILLS IN LEGAL TROUBLE

Timothy Thompson, the Capitalist, Attaches Property.

SUED FOR SIX THOUSAND DOLLARS.

Due for Wheat Sold the Mills Last July.

The Gaston Co-operative Mills were attached the first of the week by Tim Thompson, the former Wapato capitalist, who sues for about six thousand dollars. The action was based upon a note which was due December 26. The note, it is alleged in the complaint, was executed for the purpose of paying for wheat furnished the mill by the plaintiff. The president of the Co-operative Company is Hon. B. F. Purdy, who was last June elected to represent the people of Washington county in the legislature. It is said that Thompson never sues unless absolutely necessary, and the action, therefore, was a surprise to those who had supposed that all was going well at the mill. Mrs. Purdy, the wife of the president, has a mortgage on the property in the sum of $10,000, her brother, McCune, being jointly interested with her. The action was filed Tuesday morning, Judge J. C. Moreland, of Portland, being the attorney for the plaintiff.

ST. MARY'S ACADEMY.

Owing to the popular demand for such an institution, the Sisters of St. Mary's have erected a Boarding and Day School of higher learning, the same being an annex to the Sisters' Convent, located at St. Mary's Station, one mile west of Beaverton and 12 miles west of Portland. There are two trains each way, daily, past the station, and the school has telephone connection. The building is a four story and handsome edifice, with modern appliances, such as water works, bath apartments, hot water heating system, perfect ventilation, and extensive grounds which will be improved and beautified immediately. The course of study embraces the Primary, Grammar and Academic departments, providing an excellent range of instruction for a liberal education. Upon entering the school, students will be graded as qualified. Diplomas are granted for both Grammar and Academy, and special attention will be given those preparing to teach in the public schools. Needlework and instruction in music, latest methods, on piano, organ, violin, guitar, mandolin and zither, will be a part of the training. Lessons in painting will also be given. No distinction is made on account of religion, but non-Catholic students, boarding, are expected to attend common chapel services on Sundays.

School will open Monday, January 5. The Sister Superior, St. Mary's, Beaverton, will be pleased to fully answer inquiries.

APPEAL FOR SPECIAL TAX.

Hillsboro, Oregon, Dec. 31, 1902. TO SCHOOL BOARDS:

As near as can be estimated at the present time, the amounts to be received by the various districts from the state and county school funds during 1903 will be $55 for each district and $375 for each child of school age. By multiplying $375 by the number of children in the district and adding $55, you can obtain approximately the sum that will be coming to your district.

It will be found that, in nearly all cases this will be insufficient to keep the schools open for the proper number of months. No district should have less than six months' school, and those having 30 or more children of school age should have eight or nine. It should also be remembered that teachers' wages have risen and are still rising, so that from $3 to $5 more a month must be paid for teachers than was paid for teachers of like qualifications a few years ago.

The conclusion to be drawn from the above facts is that, in most districts, there is an urgent need for a special district tax for the support of the school. I would earnestly recommend such a tax. In order to be collected this year, the tax should be levied at a special district meeting called for the purpose some time in January and must be certified to the county clerk by the first of February. I would recommend that the meeting be held about January 24th. Blank notices for calling special meetings can be found in the clerk's record book. If these have all been used, others can be obtained from this office. I can also furnish blanks for notifying the county clerk of the tax levy.

Yours respectfully, H. A. BALL, Co. Supt.

The annual meeting of the members of the Oregon Fire Relief Association will take place on Tuesday, January 13th, at 10 a. m., in the Opera House, at McMinnville, Oregon. All members who can reasonably be present are cordially invited, as important measures are under discussion, in which every member should be interested. Three trustees are to be elected to serve three years. Come out and see what the Association is doing for Oregon—A. C. Chandler, Sec.

You often hear people say, "It costs nothing to give thanks." Here is a living refutation of this old adage! This advertisement must be paid. I take this method of thanking the many patrons of my furniture store for the year just closed. Wishing you a happy New Year, and advising you that I can and will furnish your needs as cheap, if not cheaper, than Portland merchants can furnish you, I remain, Cordially—W. O. Donelson, the Hillsboro Furniture Store.

Banker John W. Shute believes that bread on the water does not always return sour. When John Slemmer forged the notes for $1,500 and sold it to the bank, Mr. Shute thought he was out that sum. Slemmer was brought back, and Shute prevailed upon him to transfer the farm which he had bought from Jack Roy, Mr. Shute paying Roy the balance of several thousand dollars due. Mr. Shute held the farm until this week, when he sold it to Mr. Matthew King, of Iowa for sufficient to pay the amount paid on the forgery and the advance given Mr. Roy, interest on both amounts—and 28 cents over and above this. Mr. King has moved to the Roy ranch, which is located this side of Greenville, and is one of the best in that section.

NEW YEAR'S DAY PASSES AWAY QUIET

Native Sons' Ball a Great Success.

BUSINESS HOUSES CLOSED TODAY.

The New Year Welcomed in Last Night With Gusto.

New Year's day passed off quietly here today, the business houses being closed all afternoon, by mutual consent. Last night it was different, however. The churches were patronized by young and old, who watched out the old and ushered in the new, at midnight, by ringing of bells.

The social event of the evening was the Native Sons' Mask Ball, at the Opera House, which was well attended by young people from all over the county. The Kleonian orchestra, of Portland, furnished the music. The prizes were won as follows: Best sustained characters, Carl Larsen, Hillsboro, and Miss Pearl Smith, Forest Grove; most comical characters, John Beauchamp, Hillsboro, and Miss Ida Stewart, South Tualatin. About sixty couples were present and participated in the merry making.

HOFFMAN-WRIGHT.

The Forest Grove, Cornelius and Hillsboro friends of D. L. Hoffman, familiarly known here as "Lee," will be pleased to hear that he recently wedded at Courtney, North Dakota. The bride's name was Miss Lulu Wright. The local paper of Courtney says:

"On Wednesday afternoon of this week, at about three o'clock, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Wright, occurred one of the happiest events of the season, when Miss Lulu Wright was given in marriage to Mr. D. L. Hoffman, of this village. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Clarkson, of Jamestown, the couple being married with a ring. The ceremony was very beautiful and impressive, and the two young lives were blended into one as easily, but as surely as the sun changes the darkness into day.

Only a few of the relatives and friends were present at the marriage, but the young couple were the recipients of numerous and costly gifts as a mark of the high esteem in which they are held.

THE MOTOR LINE.

Andrew Graydon writes the Board of Trade that all is working along nicely as to the proposed electric line, and that he will return from the East just as soon as the people who are financing the road can get their annual business out of the way and take up the proposition of estimates. He expects to get to work in the early spring. James H. Sewell was in Portland this week and called on several of the councilmen and Board of Public Works, and he thinks that everything is all right for the franchise, as originally passed, via the Cedar Mill route. The city is expected to get this through in January sometime. If Portland wants better communication with one of the best counties in the state, now is the time for her officers to get into the band wagon. Portland can hardly expect the state at large to nurse the city, if the metropolis persists in not reciprocating.

NEWTON-MOCROFT.

Married, at Dilley, Ore., December 31, 1902, Rev. I. Putnam officiating, at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. Oliver Newton and Miss Grace E. Mocroft, both of near Dilley. The groom has lived in Washington county for many years, and has a good farm a mile or so from his postoffice. The bride is well known in her town, having been the organist in the M. E. Sunday School for several years. They left on the 4:00 p. m. train for Vancouver, Wash., for a short visit. Mr. Newton is a son of the late Isaac Newton, who owned the big ranch at Newton Station, east of this city. The Argus extends congratulations.

JOINT INSTALLATION.

The members of General Ransom Post and the Relief Corps will have a great time tomorrow, when they meet at ten o'clock in the morning to have a joint installation of their officers. The officers for the Post are:

Geo T. Rea, Commander; F. Doughty, Senior Vice; B. K. Haines, Junior Vice; G. N. Hale, Q. M.; H. L. Locke, Officer of Day; A. W. Barber, Guard; F. Haines, Chaplain; B. K. Dailey, Adjutant.

Relief Corps officers: Mrs. A. C. Archbold, President; Mrs. Jennie Haines, Senior Vice; Mrs. Farnham, Junior Vice; Mrs. R. Crandall, Sec; Mrs. Sabin, Treas; Mrs. Ben Haines, Con; Mrs. A. W. Barber, Guard.

Mr. and Mrs. Loren Jackson, of Forest Grove, spent the New Year with relatives here.

They tell a good story at the expense of a Hillsboro man, whose politics were never in sympathy with those of Congressman Tongue. Thinking to have a joke at Mr. Tongue's expense, the day before Christmas the Hillsboroite sent Tongue a message, collect on the Washington end, stating: "I am still a democrat, and as healthy as ever." Mr. Tongue had visions of sick folks at home, and hastily opening the screed was somewhat startled at its contents. Last evening the democrat was delivered a nice square box, weighing seven pounds, from Washington, on which was an expense bill of $3.75. Thinking that he had won a prize, he paid the expense, and, upon opening the box, found a Potomac river stone, attached to which was the inscription: "It made my heart as heavy as this stone to know that you were still in the path of error."

Farmers in need of first class tiling will find the article at Groner & Rowell's new factory at Scholls, where one of the finest kilns ever completed in the county has just been cooled. You can buy at the factory or we will deliver. Will fill orders for all sizes. Also a fine line of brick and building blocks. Write for prices or call on firm at Scholls.

The late John F. Kerr, of this city, and who died December 23rd, was a veteran of the Confederate army, having enlisted with a Texas regiment. He was in service throughout the entire war, and was with General Lee at the surrender at Richmond. His father owned a large plantation in Arkansas, and had paid $1,800 for a male negro about three weeks before the war was declared. Mr. Kerr's sympathies were with the South, of course, but he had always held that the termination of the contest was for the best, and it was no effort for him to adjust himself to the new order of things. As a matter of fact he did not believe in slavery, but inclined to the southern cause because of the principle of state sovereignty.

The people of South Portland have extended an invitation to the West Side & Suburban, the Portland, Hillsboro and Forest Grove projected line, to come out through that part of the city and lead into this section by the way of Scholls. They promise to get a franchise through their streets, providing the Board of Public Works refuses to make good the grant made by the council some months ago. As a matter of fact, however, the promoters have no reason to believe that the original franchise will not be finally granted.

Yesterday a young man, aged 20 years, living on the Dr. Geiger homestead beyond Cornelius, Dunclaf by name, while chopping wood with a long-handled ax, badly chopped his left hand, across the back. The cut extended nearly a third of the way through the thickest part of the hand. Dr. W. D. Wood went up and dressed the wound. The Dunclafs bought the place several months ago, and the father is up in Montana at present.

Of course, you like to save money. Dennis is cutting prices on his shoe lines twenty per cent, to make room for his big spring stock. Come in and see his bargains. Fine line of rubbers, rubber boots, etc.

S. A. D. Meek and wife, Mountaineer, entertained a house-full of friends on Xmas day. After a sumptuous repast, consisting in part of oysters, roast turkey, chicken, boiled ham, and innumerable cakes and pies, all prepared by the "guide wife," the tables were cleared away, and dancing was enjoyed by old and young till a late hour. May they live to enjoy many Christmas days is the wish of—one who was there.

Keep your head and feet dry, and you'll need little medicine. This means to buy your hosiery, shoes and umbrellas at Dennis—a triple combination which can't be beaten.

Wm. McQuillan has purchased "Ben Pollock," a handsome four-year-old stallion, whose sire is the famous old Percheron, Pollock Sr. The young horse is a fine looking fellow, weighs 1,600, and will be placed in service by Mr. McQuillan in the spring. Mr. McQuillan thinks he has an animal that is hard to beat in breeding for draft purpose.

J. P. Magruder will succeed to the management of The Delta Drug Store with the beginning of next week. Mr. Magruder has long been the assistant, and his promotion is well earned. Mr. Everett leaves as soon as he possibly can get away, to take his position as travelling salesman.

Everybody knows it. What? That Dennis keeps the finest line of groceries on sale at the county seat. Just come in and look at his stock. Fruit in season.

Stockmen and Farmers:—Berkshire shoats for sale. Also a nice lot of pure bred Collie Shepherd pups, bred from the best of stock and from good working families.—A. Chalmers, Centerville, Oregon.
