A Washington dispatch says that Secretary Root recently gave a very ugly exhibition of his anger and hatred toward General Miles, by neglecting to invite him to a dinner to the general staff at which Mr. Root played the role of host. It is further predicted in Washington dispatches that Mr. Root is determined to have General Miles retired. Even though Mr. Roosevelt could not be restrained by patriotic reasons from peremptorily retiring the lieutenant general, it is inconceivable that his political managers would permit him to take such foolish steps on the very threshold of a national campaign. Mr. Roosevelt will have considerable to answer for because of his slurs upon Admiral Schley. He certainly cannot be so foolish as to take on new burdens by peremptorily retiring the lieutenant general. —Ex.

City Attorney Joseph W. Folk, of St. Louis, who has been prosecuting the bidders, refused the offer of a $15,000 residence tendered him by the citizens of St. Louis. Mr. Folk's action in the matter will not only commend him to the public generally, but will leave him free to do his duty without fear or favor. There is an old proverb which suggests that a gift is more expensive than a purchase, and it is worthy to be borne in mind. When one pays his own way he is more independent than he is when he is the recipient of pecuniary favors. Will the republican papers that are commending Mr. Folk draw a parallel between a house, such as Mr. Folk refused, and a railroad train such as the president accepted? —Ex.

PACIFIC UNIVERSITY.

Mrs. Tabitha Brown, great-grandmother of E. C. Brown, of this city, crossed the plains in 1846, and settled at Forest Grove. In 1854 Mrs. Brown wrote East, and the letter described her trip across the continent. This letter was recently made public for the first time. From its pages the following shows her connection with Pacific University and its founding:

"Later I accepted the invitation of Mr. and Mrs. Clark, of Tualatin Plains, to spend the winter with them. I said to Mr. Clark one day, 'Why has Providence frowned on me and left me poor in this world. Had He blessed me with riches as He has many others, I know right well what I would do.' 'What would you do?' 'I would establish myself in a comfortable house and receive all poor children and be a mother to them.' He fixed his keen eyes upon me to see if I were in earnest. 'Yes, I am,' said I. 'If so, I will try,' said he, 'to help you.' He proposed to take an agency and get assistance to establish a school in the plain. I should go into the old log meeting house, and receive all the children, rich and poor. Those parents who were able were to pay one dollar a week for board, tuition, washing and all. I agreed to labor one year for nothing, while Mr. Clark and others were to assist as far as they were able in furnishing provisions. The time fixed upon to begin was March, 1848, when I found everything prepared for me to go into the old meeting house and cluck up my chickens. The neighbors had collected what broken knives and forks, tin pans and dishes they could part with, for the Oregon pioneer to commence housekeeping with. I had a well educated lady from the East, a missionary's wife, for a teacher and my family increased rapidly. In the summer they put me up a boarding house. I now had thirty boarders, of both sexes and of all ages, from four years old to twenty-one. I managed then, and did all my work except washing. That was done by the scholars.

In the spring of '49, we called for trustees. Had eight appointed. They voted me the whole charge of the boarding house free of rent and I was to provide for myself. The price of board was established at two dollars per week. Whatever I made over my expenses was my own. In '51 I had forty in my family at two dollars and fifty cents per week; mixed with my own hands 3423 pounds of flour in less than five months. Mr. Clark made over to the trustees a quarter section of land for a town plot. A large and handsome building is on the site that we selected at the first starting. It has been under town incorporation for two years, and at the last session of the legislature a charter was granted for a university, to be called Pacific University, with a limitation of $50,000. The president and professor are already here from Vermont. The teacher and his lady for the academy are from New York.

I have endeavored to give general outlines of what I have done. You must be judges whether I have been doing good or evil. I have labored for myself and the rising generation, but I have now quit hard work and live at my ease, independent as to worldly concerns. I own a nicely finished, white frame house, on a lot in town, within a short distance of the public buildings. That I rent for $100 a year. I have eight other town lots without buildings, worth $150 each. I have eight cows and a number of young cattle. The cows I rent out for their milk and one-half of their increase. I have rising $1,100 cash due me; $400 of it I have donated to the university, besides $100 I gave to the academy three years ago. This much I have been able to accumulate by my own industry, independent of my children, since I drew six and a quarter cents from the finger of my glove."

POPULAR NORTH BEACH.

Excursion Steamer T. J. Potter Goes Into Service June 27.

Those who are planning their vacation this year will be interested in knowing that the popular excursion steamer, the T. J. Potter—queen of river boats—goes into service June 27, and that she will leave Portland, during the season, every day from Tuesday until Saturday inclusive. To see the beauties of the picturesque and mighty Columbia from the decks of the Potter is a treat never to be forgotten. For speed and grace nothing in river or lake service in the entire West equals this side-wheeled beauty. Five hours from Portland and one from Astoria, through the famous fishing waters of the Columbia, past scores of salmon traps and nets and as many white-winged fish boats, lands the passengers at Ilwaco, where close connection is made for beach points with trains of the Ilwaco Railway & Navigation Company, whose cars stand on the wharf awaiting the steamer. The beach is twenty-seven miles long, two hundred yards wide at low tide, and so hard that carriage wheels scarcely leave a mark. It is an ideal place for driving, riding, wheeling, or walking, and the surf bathing is unsurpassable. The excellent hotels and boarding houses provide good accommodations, at prices ranging from one dollar to three dollars per day.

The round trip rate from Portland to Astoria is $2.50; to Ocean Beach points, $4.00, good until October 15th. On Saturdays, during July and August, round trip tickets are sold to beach points at $2.50, good for return, leaving the beach the following Sunday evening.

The Oregon Railroad & Navigation Company has just issued a new summer book, (free for the asking) which tells all about the delightful resorts of the Valley of the Columbia River. This can be obtained from any agent of the Oregon Railroad & Navigation Company, or by writing A. L. Craig, General Passenger Agent, Portland, Oregon.
