CUSHMAN WINS OUT.

Congressman Cushing of Washington, who was out on his time travel from Tacoma, Wash., to Washington, D. C., where he went, like the wind, to make the difference between the Pullman expenses and the four hundred dollars allowed for his mileage. Cushman had no idea he was unsafe, and thought he had plenty of time to reach Washington and get his mileage cashed. When he learned that Congress was about to adjourn, he packed his grip with a bottle and a bird, and started on the limited. He reached the capital just in time to claim his four hundred dollars. This hurried flight from Washington, to Washington, suggests the following from a tramp printer, who adorned The Argus composing room for a day or so, this week:

"I'm off," said old Cushman bold and brave
"There, I've forgot my collar—
But I must hurry back to save
That Fourteen Hundred Dollars!
"Twas meanly mean for Congress to
Adjourn so very hasty—
But I'll just pack a bird, or two,
A bottle, and some paste—
And hurry back to Washington,
Before the Sergeant hollers—
"The House is closed, and old Cushman lost
His Fourteen Hundred Dollars!
The Railroad's good, to give a pass,
To us economic scholars—
That I may cash in U. S. brass,
That Fourteen Hundred Dollars!
Hooley, 'tis done, the race is won,
And the Sergeant loudly hollers—
"The House adjourns, but old Cushman gets
That Fourteen Hundred Dollars!"

Gov. Chamberlain has received assurance from a majority of the legislators that only the tax question and emergency affairs will be taken up, and an extra session has been called, to convene December 21, at Salem. The tax matter will be straightened out, and the new law will very likely follow the one after which the present rolls are modeled. Chamberlain is the man against whom it was cited, "He is a good fellow, but he has no backbone." Now some of the legislative gentry are kicking, because the governor has too much verbiage.

Sheriff F. C. Sexton of The Dalles was in town yesterday, a visitor of Sheriff Sewell. It was Mr. Sexton's deputy who captured "Brick" or McNamara, who is charged with larceny. Sexton says that the deputy was horseback and wanted to take no chances with John Tom, so he led him into town with a rope. This was the occasion of John writing a "poem" on the occasion of his capture, when he wrote, "Although I had hope until he led me with a rope."

For sale about 256 acres, about one-half under plow, containing fine bottom land, balance in timber. Fine residence, good outbuildings, fine orchards. Splendid dairy farm, close to public school and milk condenser. Farm will support 75 cows. For further particulars call at this office.

J. G. Pellette, one of the North Plains orchardists and progressive farmers, and who has been ill from nervous troubles for some years, became deranged the first of the week and was sent to the asylum to be treated for insanity. Mr. Pellette has one of the finest fruit farms in the county, is well educated, and his misfortune is to be deplored. His affliction runs to suicidal intent and it was necessary to watch him very closely at times. E. B. Sappington and Louis Mueller conveyed him to Salem.

I am agent for the Rambler and Wolf American wheels—the best wheels for the money in the world. All kinds of repairing skillfully done. Full line of sporting goods. —F. R. Dailey, Main Street.

Willis Anderson, residing a mile east of town, has received the news that his brother, Ger. A. Anderson of Pittsburg, Pa., died Nov. 19, of small pox. Deceased lived here eight or nine years ago, and was well known in this vicinity. He leaves a wife and one child, and four sisters and five brothers. His mother resides here. Their many friends here sympathize with them in the loss of the brother.

Johnson Brothers have delivered the largest part of the plank for the improvement of Second street, and Marcellus Dailey will start at once to relay the street. This will be good news to those who come in to the city from the south of town—and good news for those who haul between town and the depot.
