AN ACCEPTABLE CHANGE.

The advent of the condensed milk factories into Washington county will provoke a prosperity hitherto unknown by its farmers and dairymen. These days the dairyman can get his money at the end of every month, and he is in better shape to keep his farm fertilized than he could if following general farming. A community that has a good market for dairy product, and where there are good herds of dairy stock, always leads the strictly farming sections. It is a patent fact to observers that the dairy sections of Washington county are in the lead of all others, and the prosperous appearance of farm residences and outbuildings tells the story without enlargement.

An itinerant campaign card printer, using a stercil and brush, was in the city the first of the week, writing placards for the candidates for office. He flits from county to county and spends a day in each county seat, during the campaign, picking up a great deal of money.

John Dennis has a very nice Jersey heifer which money can not buy. The animal was lost the other day, in a pasture east of town, and a long search failed to find the animal. After several hours of hunt Dennis ventured to call and was answered. He found the pet in a well several feet deep, alive, and not much injured.

An Interesting Point For the Observation

QUALITY is the point that should interest every clothes-buyer. It is self interest—protection. It's a sharp point for a good many clothes-sellers. They don't talk about it, because it isn't a strong point with their goods. We can talk about it constantly, because we know we have it in our clothes. We can talk style just as freely—simply put on a garment, and it talks style for itself—saves us that trouble—saves customer time and money. The average buyer doesn't think about the hidden parts of a garment—where there's a chance to skimp and save. We bring these points out to the customer—life of clothes depends on these things. K. N. & F. suits are absolutely reliable—allows us to make a guarantee of satisfaction—or money back.

Fashionable Ice Cream in Hillsboro

Season's Opening Saturday at "The Confectionery"

A PLEASANT EVENT

Prepared by The Hazelwood Creamery Company.

The 1904 ice cream season will be formally opened Saturday, May 7, at Palmateer's "The Confectionery," the Hillsboro agency for Hazelwood ice cream. A special brick of ice cream will be made for the occasion in the Hazelwood Cream Co.'s plant in Portland and forwarded here by express in time for the opening.

Special arrangements have been made by the Hazelwood Company to take care of the ice cream trade in city of HILLSBORO during the season. It is hoped that the demand for this fine confection will warrant the shipment here of a limited supply of the Hazelwood ice cream bricks, special patterns for the different weeks of the season.

The company's facilities for producing high grade ice cream have been greatly enlarged during the last few months, as you have probably noticed in the daily press, and every preparation has been made for a large trade during the season. The company believes that Hillsboro is a sufficiently important town to warrant making a special effort to please the high class trade.

Famous Hazelwood Ice Cream

Hazelwood ice cream is made from pure, thick cream—cream so much richer than that used by most of the noted ice cream makers that competent authorities have pronounced the Hazelwood make the finest produced in the United States. There is no artificial thickening used in Hazelwood ice cream. It is just pure, rich, heavy cream and flavoring.

Let a little Hazelwood ice cream melt in a dish and keep it till the next day. Then taste it. You will find that it tastes like fresh cream. This is a test of purity in cream.

Compare an inferior brand of ice cream with Hazelwood in this way and you will see a great difference. Only pure fruit and nut flavors used in coloring and flavoring Hazelwood ice cream. The exquisite, dainty effects, achieved by the Hazelwood experts in making this ice cream, appeal to the eye as well as to the palate, and all are attained without the aid of any chemical coloring matters. Whoever eats Hazelwood ice cream can be supremely sure of purity and quality.

That Velvety Taste

The velvety taste, which so distinguishes Hazelwood ice cream from inferior creams, comes from the beating to which the rich cream is subjected in the freezing process.

So that some of its exclusive and original creations in ice cream may be served in Hillsboro at popular prices, the company plans to make a special kind of brick each week during the season, something distinctive and delicious. These special bricks can be ordered at The Confectionery any time during the week, up to Friday night, for delivery two or three days later.

COME, EVERYBODY

With an agency in Hillsboro bringing the most delicious table luxuries of the season within the reach of a few who value the dainty and unique, everyone in your neighborhood must acknowledge that you have the advantages of up-to-date metropolitan life. Hazelwood Company's effort to cater to a high class custom will doubtless be appreciated and rewarded by a liberal patronage.
