MERCURY 95 IN THE SHADE

Before an audience almost inconceivably vast, his was the one presence, his the one voice to enforce instant silence and rapt attention in every nook and corner of that stupendous, echoing edifice, where others could hardly be heard with the aid of threats from the chair, and their execution by uniformed officials who threw disturbers bodily out the doors.

Eight floor, and mercury at 95; conditions when editorial writers are too wilted to disregard conclusive evidence.

Eight years ago three distinct classes of corporations were directing their influence and spending their money to defeat Bryan and the democratic party for congress. The manufacturing interests, the railroad interests, and the banking interests of the East, one and all three, were vitally interested in Bryan's defeat.

The land office will remain at Oregon City, Portland having no room for it. This is another hot weather joke.

Missouri democrats have named Folk, the attorney who prosecuted the bootleggers, for governor. He will be triumphantly elected.

President Roosevelt informs the Pennsylvania miners that he has no right to interfere in the Colorado labor troubles.

Grover Cleveland says Parker saved the democratic ticket by his telegram on the gold standard. Cleveland is becoming a humorist.

If the ticket is saved it will be in spite of the Parker attitude.

The Workman Lodge is facing a deficit, caused by lack of sufficient assessments to pay death claims, and the order is liable to be severely tested by the fight for and against a raise of payments.

Rev. M. Swartout, of Victoria, B. C., was drowned in an arm of the Sound, the first of the week.

Swartout was a missionary and worked principally among the Indians, who had every faith in him. He leaves a wife.

England declares that Russia must give up the Oriental liner, seized as a prize in the Red Sea. It looks as though England may close the straits to Russian vessels if Turkey does not. From present indications it looks as though England wanted to take a hand in the fight, and is only awaiting a palatable excuse.

Governor Cummins, of Iowa, still wants tariff reform, but the stand patters will knock him out of the ring in the first round.
