Some corporation men can do the dear people and get rewards galore. An example of this is Paul Norton, who, with the Santa Fe system, was a prince of the rebate system. Later he took a tack and was given government preference. He is not to be "touched" because of his nefarious work, but, instead, leaves the government to go with a life insurance company.

Oregon and the Northwest are coming into National prominence these days through the medium of the Lewis & Clark Fair. Eastern publications are giving glowing accounts of our soil, climate and production, and the next five years will see this section visited by thousands of home seekers who never before heard of "Where Rolls the Oregon."

Mr. G. Brandt, of Port Orchard, Wash., is in the city, a guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. I. Abbott.

Two Hillsboro young society men went to Forest Grove last night, and on returning, their horse fell down, causing them much trouble. The horse stumbled and fell and it was necessary to unhitch him before they could raise him. They then failed to hitch him up, not knowing the process, and tied the harness up with a rope, in order to reach town.
