ELOPING COUPLE ARE CAUGHT BY CONNELL

Found at Helix, Umatilla County, Thursday

LODGED IN THE COUNTY JAIL

Man has Wife and Wife a Husband, Each Deserting

Sheriff J. W. Connell last Thursday, after a two weeks' chase, caught and landed in jail S. A. Mallory, of Tacoma, an ex-motorman on a street railway, and Mrs. Lennie R. Willis, wife of B. F. Willis, of 326 Cottage street, Portland, Oregon. Mallory and the Willis family were picking hops at Carlton, when the former and Mrs. Willis eloped, leaving for Eastern Oregon. Upon reaching Sherwood they disembarked from the train and remained over night at a hotel, and it is upon this they are charged with a statutory offense, adultery. Mallory has a wife at Ballard, Wash., and the woman, as above stated, has a husband, who is a son of the late Assessor Willis, of Heppner.

Sheriff Connell first went to Athens, and from there located the couple as out in the Helix section, where they worked for a bachelor by the name of Henrikson. He placed them under arrest, although they alleged they were not the parties wanted, and were going under the assumed names of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Allison. The Sheriff arrived here with them Friday morning, and placed them in the county jail. Attorney Geo. R. Bagley was closeted with them shortly after their arrival. The woman is above the average in appearance and at one time accredited with being the belle of Heppner, where she was raised in the family of ex-Mayor Frank Gilliam. Mallory is six feet, weighs about 200, and is inclined to baldness; has a scar on his face, and is not just what would be expected in a Lothario.

The case was called in Judge Bagley's court, Monday afternoon, and Willis, the husband, was placed on the stand by E. B. Tongue, to prove that the woman was his wife, but Attorney Geo. R. Bagley objected on the ground that a husband could not testify against a wife without her consent, unless it was a case wherein personal violence was involved. The court held this to be the law and Willis, the alleged injured husband, was withdrawn from the stand. Haines, a son of Mrs. Haines, of Sherwood, and at whose house it is alleged the man and woman remained over night, occupying the same room, was next called, to save a return later, and said he saw the two at the lodging house; did not see them go into or leave the room; saw them but the once, and then in the front room; they hired the room from his mother; would not swear positively that they were the people. He afterward said he would not swear that they were the people who hired the room except as upon information given him by his mother and sister.

The court adjourned the case until Friday afternoon, to permit the state to get documentary evidence of the marriage, as well as two witnesses to the marriage, these now being at Newberg.

CHASTON W. LUSBY

The recent heavy rains had no perceptible effect on the roads where the split-log, or drag principle, had been in use. This shows for itself. Get a split log; drag the road in front of your farm; get your neighbor to do likewise, and we will soon have better roads, summer and winter.

DANIEL TROMLEY OUT AND AFTER DAMAGES

Notorious Character Says he Wants to Sue Some One

JUST RELEASED FROM THE PEN

Trying to Induce Portland Attorneys to Take Case

The notorious Dan Tromley, who married the Gishwiller woman, and who was sent to the "pen" for two years, for an attempt to effect a jail break when J. E. Burke, whose right name was Hamlin, was confined in the county jail, has been released from the state's custody, and the disolute wreck is now trying to get a Portland attorney to sue Hillsboro people for $10,000 damages because of his being tarred and feathered here, two years ago last summer.

Tromley had been jailed here for drunkenness and had threatened to kill a prominent citizen—the cur didn't have the nerve to go to the man direct, but, instead, went to his home and frightened the lady of the house with his threats. The lady of the town, having endured his abuse and threats for some days, finally took the man out and gave him a neat coat of tar and feathers. Subsequently he was arrested on the charge of threatening to kill and placed in the county jail. While incarcerated J. E. Burke, the forger, and J. T. McNamara, another inmate, broke jail. Tromley disclaimed any aid, but after they were recaptured a key was found in his cell that would unlock the steel cage. Upon being pressed he confessed, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to two years in Salem.

While in jail Tromley's wife moved out a lot of goods that were under chattel mortgage, and they were hauled to the Stewart farm, at her direction, and covered with hay. Next morning the woman's house was burned, and she was arrested for arson. The case was dropped against the woman upon the proviso that she left the county, which she immediately did.

Tromley says he wants a change of venue as he can't get a fair trial here. If he should come to Hillsboro and begin his old tactics he is likely to again meet with a reception that will linger long in his memory.

CEDAR MILL DAMAGE CASE

The big Cedar Mill damage case, alienation of affection, wherein a jury last spring gave Della B. Keen a verdict of $3,000, compensatory, and $218.30, costs, the judgment laying against Susan Reynolds Keen, has been appealed to the Supreme Court, by the defendant's attorneys, C. W. Miller, Portland, and the plaintiff's attorneys, Spencer & Davis, Portland, and H. T. Bagley, Hillsboro, have been served with the notice. This was the case where Della B. Keen sued her divorced husband's wife for alienation, it appearing from the evidence that Keen and the plaintiff, then husband and wife, had rented a farm from the defendant, and while on the place Susan Reynolds, nee Brugger, had taken a trip to Wasco county. Keen later deserted the wife; she procured a divorce, and Keen later married the Reynolds widow. The ex-wife then brought suit for damages, the jury, consisting of W. A. Montgomery, Mountaine, Geo. Harrow, Hillsboro, Daniel Baker, Forest Grove, C. Rebe, Farmington, A. S. Briggs, Dille, Chas. Bernard, Cedar Mill, John Kanna, Farmington, John Tigard, Tigardville, Adam Simpson, Buxton, W. A. Marlin, Hillsboro, Wm. Graf, Bethany, and John A. Abbott, Forest Grove, giving plaintiff judgment as above stated. The case will probably be in the Supreme Court six months or more.

"As the Twig is Bent The Tree's Inclined"

How is it with the young people of your household? Are they saving money? Have they learned to appreciate the value of the dollar? Are you endeavoring to instill into their minds correct ideas concerning thrift and economy? Are you seeking the opportunity to "bend the twig?" Would you like to listen to a plain suggestion? If so, here it is:

Send the young folks to our bank with the first spare dollar that comes into their hands. The next dollar should be treated in like manner, and the practice so continued until a fixed habit of saving has been established. A goodly bank account will soon result; the young folks will get an inkling of the ways of business, and, being thus "inclined" are likely to grow up into straight and thrifty manhood.
