NEW HOTEL DISCUSSED BY BOARD OF TRADE

Good Sized Crowd in Court House Monday Evening

COMMITTEE APPOINTED BY CHAIR

Everybody Unanimous on the Needs of the Town

An enthusiastic meeting was held last Monday night at the court house, relative to the new hotel project for our city.

The same was called by the Hillsboro Board of Trade in order to publicly discuss with the promoters their plans and intentions, and to secure public opinion as to the necessity of the hotel.

As president of the board, Dr. J. P. Tamiesie opened the discussion with a few short introductory remarks, giving particular emphasis to the fact that the necessity for a good hotel in Hillsboro had long been realized and commented upon by residents of the community, and particularly by the travelling public.

Following Dr. Tamiesie, Mr. L. S. Laughlin spoke in behalf of the promoters, detailing benefits to be derived locally by the construction of such a building as proposed.

Mr. Dixon, whose son drowned south of Cornelius last Fall, was in the city today. Parties having timber lands for sale would do well to address F. M. Heidel, Hillsboro.

OLD WARHORSE TALKS ON ROAD SUBJECT

Thinks Commissioner Buchanan's Ideas are Right

HE WOULD HAVE ROCK ROADS

Wants County to Issue Bonds: Long Term Payment

H. Taylor Hill, formerly of Mountaineer, now residing in Portland, and still holding interests in Washington County, writes the Argus a letter, touching upon the road question. Mr. Hill thinks the county should bond and let road construction by contract. To do this it would be necessary, of course, to change the constitution, which permits counties at this time to go in debt not to exceed $5,000.

Editor Argus: I note in the Argus of the 7th inst. that Commissioner Buchanan favors bonding the county for the purpose of building one hundred miles of rock road. I heartily agree with him, only he does not go far enough.

Mr. Hill's letter follows: "Editor Argus: I note in the Argus of the 7th inst. that Commissioner Buchanan favors bonding the county for the purpose of building one hundred miles of rock road. I heartily agree with him, only he does not go far enough."

Hillsboro will be the scene of a district convention of K. of P. some time the latter part of March. The following delegates from the various lodges met in this city today in conference: Ira Nelson, of McMinnville; Messrs. Dr. Swett and Laodford Snyder, of North Yamhill; John Anderson and Chester Johnson, of Forest Grove; A. Benson and M. Sturdevant, of Cornelius, and H. T. Bagley and Geo. Schulmerich, Hillsboro.

There was a large attendance at the Congregational church last Sunday morning to listen to the discourse on the dangers of the factory system. The sermon prepared for the meeting in the evening, which was conducted by the Ladies' Missionary Society, was "Child Labor."

While lifting a can of milk on his wagon, in the outskirts of the town, yesterday, John Schoonover, a milk hauler, slipped and fell, cutting a very bad scalp wound, and rendering him unconscious for a period. Dr. F. A. Bailey attended the wounded man.

J. F. Reeber, of Tillamook county, was in town this afternoon, looking over the McNamer tollroad lease. Mr. Reeber and some of his neighbors have been making it tropical for the tollroad in the Tillamook end.

John G. Wohlschlegel and Miss Elma E. Womer, prominent young people of near Laurel, were granted license to wed by Clerk Godman, today.

L. A. Reimann, of Portland, and Miss Sophia Gregory, of Cedar Mill, were married in this city February 12, Judge Goodin officiating.

There will be a dance at the W. O. W. Hall, Glencoe, on Friday night, February 22. Walker's orchestra. Tickets, including oyster supper, $1.00.

Samuel Tunstall, of near Phillips, was an Argus caller today, and says that farmers are busy out his way, sowing winter oats.

Fred Olson, carrier on route 4 has moved into town.

A very pleasant evening was spent at the home of Prof. Bonham, Friday, Feb. 8. Games and dancing were indulged in and light refreshments were served. Those present were:

Mr. and Mrs. Bonham, Misses Maud and Myrtle McClarkin, Weltha, Hattie and Edith Chambers, May Frost, Marian Crawford and Lydia Heineck; Messrs. Alfred and John Malloy, Dan, George and Walter Chambers, Willie and John Will, Fred Bower, Clarence Hawkins, Raleigh Marrs, and Mr. Griffith.

Not many years ago a manufactured article needed the brand of "New York" or that of some well-known section of the Eastern states in order to carry the hallmark of quality. In many instances raw material was shipped from the Pacific states to the eastern coast, manufactured, and then shipped back to us, the buyer of the finished product, thereby paying for freight rates twice across the continent, besides leaving the profit of manufacture where it would not be locally invested.

As the West developed, and products for manufacture and canning increased, small plants were started here and there, success at first being viewed with incredulity. But the ventures invariably met profit, and so successfully that they had today some of the largest manufacturing plants in the world are located in the west, and a Pacific coast article is everywhere recognized as standard in quality.

The Oregon Condensed Milk Co.'s plant in Hillsboro is an example—started in Glencoe in January, 1903, with a capacity of but 20,000 lbs. of milk per day, its owners soon realized the financial worth of the industry, if operated extensively. A larger plant was desired and it was necessary to remove to a more central location on account of transportation as well as a better receiving point. A stock company was formed and all the stock was taken by local capital. The new plant was given a capacity of 125,000 lbs. of milk daily, the machinery being of the modern manufacture. Not only has the company realized its hopes, with the plant yet in its infancy, but no one disputes the vast benefit to the dairy interests of the surrounding country.

A starch factory operated here, beginning on a modest basis, with the most similar success. The local potato product contains a large percentage of starch, and there is no reason why we cannot sell to the north-west, instead of merchants buying from the east—just as the Washington County evaporated cream is taking the market formerly held by eastern manufacturers.
