SHERIFF J. W. CONNELL GETS STATE BOUQUET

State Association of Sheriffs Meet and Discuss Affairs

DELINQUENT TAXES THE QUESTION

Council Made Secretary of the Organization, Friday

The State Association of Sheriffs met at Portland last Friday. The Association was organized in 1905, its next meeting will be held in Astoria in August, 1908.

The object of the Association was to discuss the best methods of conducting that office, and to have uniformity, as far as possible, in all matters affecting their offices, where the best interests of the taxpayers are concerned.

At Friday's meeting the question of the sale of property for delinquent tax claims, was discussed, the new law differing in many respects from the old one.

Under the old law, delinquent taxes had to be advertised before becoming a lien on property, and at delinquent sale any one was allowed to pay the taxes and receive a provisional title, redeemable by the prior owner within three years. The new law abolishes the advertising feature, but provides that when tax becomes delinquent any one may pay the amount due, with 15 per cent penalty added, and receive a certificate which entitles him to possession in case the prior owner fails to redeem the certificate with interest before the expiration of three years. It was voted as the sense of the association that the certificate plan does not apply to the 1907 levy.

At the election of officers for the coming year, Sheriff J. W. Connell, of this county was honored with the office of Secretary. Sheriff Pomeroy, of Clatsop, was elected President of the Association.

All communications intended for the Argus, should be addressed to Guild & McKinney, publishers. This statement is made for the reason that letters addressed to Mr. Long, as formerly, cannot be opened by the new editor, in which case there may be delay of important business intended for the paper. Patrons will kindly note the change in the firm name when writing to the Argus. Make all remittances payable to Guild & McKinney, for the same reason, and save delay.

The plan evolved by Portland automobile owners to make the Wilson river road from Forest Grove to Tillamook an auto thoroughfare, does not seem to meet with the hearty approval of the farmers and others, who use that road. The principal objection is that, as the road has many grades and sharp turns, it would be extremely dangerous for teams to be suddenly confronted by a whizzing auto on a grade or other pieces of bad road. A better route for an auto road to Tillamook would be via Sheridan and the Grand Ronde Indian Agency. The latter route is longer, but much better for automobile people, and the possibility of accidents would be greatly lessened.

If the Argus isn't up to its usual standard of excellence, locally, this week, or in future issues, be charitable enough to remember that there is a new man at the helm, who is working under the disadvantage of not being acquainted in the community. If we do not get acquainted with our patrons and the general public in due time, however, it will not be because we have not made an effort in that direction.

LIGHTNING STRIKES NEAR GLENCOE

M. H. Nelson and J. C. Beach And Wife

HAVE A CLOSE CALL, SATURDAY

Nelson's House Set on Fire in Two Places

The vicinity of Glencoe has been a shining mark this Summer for thunder bolts. The electric storm a few weeks ago, did some damage in that section by striking Clyde Lincoln's barn, which was burned with its contents.

Last Saturday morning at 7:30 o'clock, during a thunder shower, M. H. Nelson was knocked off his wagon on the old Fresman place, and his team executed a slight runaway, but without much damage. Upon arising from the ground, Mr. Nelson ran to his house and found it on fire in two places, the electric fluid having followed the telephone wire. As the house was plastered, Mr. Nelson and wife succeeded in putting out the fire, before serious damage was done. Mr. Nelson was slightly bruised by his fall, but otherwise was not hurt.

His neighbor, J. C. Beach and wife also had an experience with the lightning. It came in over the telephone wire and knocked the phone in pieces all over the floor. Mrs. Beach was stunned by the concussion, and naturally does not want a repetition of such elemental playfulness. The lightning struck at both farms at about the same time.

Old Jove seems to have a spite at Glencoe, by letting go his thunder bolts in that vicinity twice within a month.

SENATOR BOURNE SEES HILLSBORO ON MAP

Interesting Letter to Mayor John Dennis

WANTS TO TALK TO THE PRESIDENT

And Tell Him Something About Grandma Wood, 120 Years Old

John C. Young, office clerk of Senator Bourne, junior representative of Oregon in the United States Senate, recently wrote to Mayor Dennis, asking for information as to Mrs. Mary Ramsey Wood, aged 120 years. It appears that Senator Bourne is interested in Mrs. Wood's history, and wants to show President Roosevelt what Oregon's wonderful climate will do, and that without the aid of pills or opium.

The letter follows: To his Honor, the Mayor of Hillsboro: Under recent date Senator Bourne writes me: "I enclose herewith a clipping from an Oregon paper. At your convenience I wish you would look into the case of Mary Ramsey Wood, and find out whether or not she is actually 120 years, as stated, or whether it is a newspaper yarn. If the facts are given correctly I should like to call the case to the attention of the President, but I do not wish to bother him if it is merely newspaper talk."

I am inclosing the clipping referred to and ask you, if you can and will, to verify the statement as to Mrs. Wood's age; state where the family bible is to be found; where Jacob Lemons died—the town—and any other fact which may be verified to show that Mrs. Wood is the oldest woman in the world. I do not know what Senator Bourne's object is, but I presume he wants to, in some way, compliment the old lady and claim for Oregon the distinction of being the best place on earth in which to live. Mayor Dennis has taken up the matter, and has given the request all the attention possible.

Your skin may look clean after washing—until you see the left-in dirt that Pompeian Massage Cream will bring out

All good barbers apply Pompeian Massage Cream—it is a great relief after shaving and tends to make the skin stronger and less sensitive.
