AUTO ACCIDENT NEAR HILLSBORO

Mrs. Anthony Tongue Seriously Hurt

THE MACHINE GOES INTO A BANK Upsets and Throws the Occupants Out

While returning from the Mrs. Anthony Tongue farm, north of town, last Sunday afternoon, Gay Lombard's automobile, containing himself and wife, Mrs. Thos. H. Tongue, Miss Florence Tongue, Mrs. Anthony Tongue and A. C. Birk, chauffeur, went into the bank, and upset, throwing the occupants all out upon the ground. Beyond the fright and some minor bruises, all the parties escaped serious consequences, but Mrs. Anthony Tongue, who was quite badly bruised, beside sustaining a bad fracture of one of her ribs. Owing to her advanced age, her injuries are considered quite serious, by Dr. F. A. Bailey, the attending physician. The accident was caused by the breaking of the steering gear, which caused the machine to plunge into a bank by the roadside, with the above result. Mrs. Tongue, the injured lady, seems to be pursued by bad luck, of late, as she recently had a narrow escape from death, during the fire at her farmhouse, a week or two ago. The forward axle of the machine was badly twisted, and one of the front wheels was smashed in pieces. Mr. and Mrs. Lombard are residents of Portland, and were visiting the Tongues at this place.

Edward Hannan is building a neat new residence at Buxton.

J. W. Howard, of Buxton, was in the city Saturday on business.

Will N. Barrett, Jr., started for the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Maryland, last Sunday afternoon, after a twenty day's visit with his parents in this city.

Cider apples wanted. For particulars, inquire of G. A. Brown, Milne warehouse, Hillsboro, or write to the Igham Vinegar Company, 64 Albina Avenue, Portland, Oregon.

A farmer near Hillsboro, had a dollar watch, which slipped out of his vest pocket one day last week, and landed in a 5 gallon can of coal oil. When he fished it out one day or two later, it was still running, and now keeps better time than before.

Up to last Saturday, County Clerk Godman had issued 405 hunter's licenses. The money thus paid in, goes to the State. The law reads that license shall be paid to any person upon receipt of one dollar. The law is lame, in that it allows any eight to ten year old boy a right to hunt, who presents himself and pays the required fee. Many boys of tender age, have no business with a gun of any kind, yet the Clerk has no discretion in the matter of issuing license, provided the dollar is forthcoming. About nine tenths of the gun accidents are caused by boys, through carelessness.

For Sale—About 40 well-bred shoats and brood sows—Inquire of F. W. Deleman, 2 miles south of Glencoe, across the road from Tualatin Plains church. P. O. address, Hillsboro, R. 3.

N. Stoltz, who died at Banks, September 17th, last, was aged 84 years, and had been a resident of this county for a period of 23 years. His will was admitted to probate last Monday. After providing for his burial and a tombstone, the will disposes of the estate as follows: To his daughters, he gives Mrs. Voss, of Banks, $25; Mrs. Mary Vanderwall, $700; to his son, Lawrence Edward Stoltz, he gives the sum of $25; the balance of the estate, which consists of money in the bank, is given to his son, Stephen Stoltz, of Banks, Oregon, who is named Executor in the will.

For Rent: Farm of 117 acres, over 100 acres under plow; on rural mail and milk route; 2 miles from Hillsboro; telephone connection. For terms call Farmers' line, Pacific States 251.

An Argus reporter the other day saw Wm. Wolf, of North Hillsboro, threshing wheat with an old-fashioned flail, such as those used by our fathers many years ago. It was a significant commentary on the advance of the age, when binders are in common use, and even a reaper is a rarity. Mr. Wolf was threshing out chicken feed, and a binder would be too much of a luxury for his crop, which covered but a portion of a lot.

Lost—A heifer calf, 5 months old, red and white, seen on Shady Brook road, Saturday, Sept. 7. Reward—Notify Alfred Alberts, Cornelius, Route 1, or telephone Mays Bros., Glencoe.

Will A. Montgomery, of Mountaineer, who has lived in Washington county for more than forty years past, will rent his farm and move to Woodlawn, Portland, within the next few weeks, where he has a home awaiting occupancy. Will thinks he has worked long enough, and now proposes to take the world easy for a while.

Do not run the risk of having your valuable papers burned or stolen when you can have a safety deposit box at the Hillsboro Commercial Bank for $1.00 per year.

Mr. McCormick has displayed in his show window this week, some beautiful specimens of the King apple, raised by J. S. Robinson, of Farmington. Hood River cannot beat these specimens. Mr. Robinson will have a nice exhibit of fruit at the Carnival.

Lewis R. Stinson, Grand Keeper of Records and Seals of the Grand Lodge of Oregon, Knights of Pythias, visited Grand Chancellor John M. Wall, in Hillsboro, last Monday, and gave the Argus a pleasant call.

For sale: Bay driving mare, 8 years; gentle and reliable; single or double. Woman can drive Hambletonian stock, fair traveler. C. Rebe, Farmington, or Hillsboro, Route 2

A. Niman has sold his residence just east of the old Evangelical site to Mr. Veatch, a newcomer from the east, and a friend of Peter Brown, the Centerville (old town) merchant.

A number of people were in Hillsboro Saturday, from Sherwood and Tualatin. Deputy District Wall was investigating the liquor question at Sherwood, and the little old trouble wagon is in motion.

G. W. Thomas, of Cedar Mill, has disposed of his interests in this county, and will soon remove to Madras, Oregon, leaving for his new home the latter part of this week.

Frank Crabtree, George Hathorn, E. Heineck and Fred Schmidt, of the Laurel district, have finished hop picking in their respective yards.

J. H. Brown, of Laurel, was in town Monday, and took out bills for a public sale. He was accompanied by his brother, Chas.

Mrs. Hicklin and daughter, Miss Daisy Thomas, visited Grandma Wood and Mrs. Reynolds, of this place, over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Gay Lombard, of Portland, were guests at the Tongue home Sunday.

NEHALEM FARMERS HAVE NO MARKET

For Apples That Rival Hood River's Best

FINE FRUIT IS FED TO THE HOGS

Nehalem One of the Best Apple Sections in the State

A Nehalem man came to Portland one day this week, with 35 bushels of the finest Gravenstein apples seen in that market this year. The man who brought them in, is E. E. Nickerson, of Vernonia, and he said that hundreds of bushels of the best apples in Oregon annually go to waste in that section of the state, or are fed to hogs, for lack of market facilities, as the roads in winter prevent hauling to the outside markets. Many of these apples would bring ten cents each at retail in Portland. This condition of affairs, Mr. Nickerson says, will disappear when the P. R. & N. from Hillsboro to Tillamook, is completed, as the survey of the new line is within 2 miles of his home. Nickerson says that the fame of Hood River will fade away like frost before a sunny day, when the Nehalem people once get a chance to send their beautiful fruit to the outside world.

The base ball game scheduled for last Sunday, between Cornelius and Hillsboro, was not played, the Cornelius boys failing to materialize at this place.

"The Little Prospector," which was put on at the Crescent Theatre, Monday night, was a good clean show, and people generally got the worth of their money.

W. W. Boscow finished picking in his hop yard last Saturday. He got 80,000 pounds of green hops, for which he paid to pickers, most of whom were Hillsboro folks, the sum of $800. He had 15 acres.

We are agents for the Deering and Osborne harvesting machinery, and have a complete line on hand, received direct from the factory.—Schulmerich Bros.

Saturday was a big day with Hillsboro men, as the hop pickers were in evidence from all parts of the county. They were about the healthiest looking lot of people imaginable, and tan and rosy cheeks were fine substitutes for cosmetics. There's nothing like it.

The Oregon State Fair, at Salem last week was a record breaker in point of attendance, and the speed contests were the best in the history of the Fair and aroused even more enthusiasm than when pools were sold. The twelve new stables which housed the splendid live stock exhibits, were visited by many thousands, there being as many ladies as men present.

CORNELIUS MILL MEN SAY IT IS RUINOUS

Sawmill Men Say Freight Tariff is to the Bad

CAN NOT SHIP TO THE EAST

Says Weak Mills Will go Down and Stronger will Survive

The Nicolai-Neppach Company, interested in the Cornelius sawmill, avers that the freight tariff on lumber to the east is practically prohibitive, and that the small mills, which are adapted to cutting for the eastern orders, must fall before the stronger institutions. In a recent letter to the Timberman, A. Neppach, the manager, writes:

Portland, Ore., Sept. 13, 1907. The Timberman: As per your request to have us set forth our views of the effect of the increase of the Eastern rail rate on lumber, we will say that we consider the same absolutely prohibitive on all mills in this city and state the result will be a matter of accumulation and depression. It means that we will have to sell lumber for either foreign shipment or within the borders of this state. Nine-tenths of the mills are not adapted for foreign shipment. It means that the weak will have to go down before the strong, and that three-quarters of the great industry in the lumber business will have to quit or go to the wall.

FALL MILLINERY

The ladies are cordially invited to call on Miss Coleman, Cornelius, for their Fall Millinery. She carries a new and up-to-date line, including ladies' shawls and fascinators. Remember the place.

In regard to the matter of the complaint filed against Frank Kelsay, of this place last week by County Fruit Inspector Harris, the Argus committed an unintentional error in saying that Mr. Kelsay was arrested, as he voluntarily sought the Deputy Prosecuting Attorney, as soon as he was informed of the matter, and offered to pay a fine, if required, but the case was not prosecuted, that officer being convinced that Mr. Kelsay had not consciously violated the law. Mr. Kelsay, like many other farmers is not a fruit pest expert, and says he was unable to discover anything on his apples that would cause them to be considered unmarketable under the law. No one who knows Frank Kelsay, would for a moment believe that he could be induced to do anything that he thought was not right.

When a man begins to ornament portions of his vest front with particles of food at the table, which fail to reach his mouth, in transit; when he no longer primps before the mirror to see whether his collar button shows between the tie and the collar; when for a $50 bill, he couldn't tell whether the lady with whom he held a gabfest on the street, wore a green, blue, yellow or red dress; when he blindly gropes about the house, looking for the glasses that already repose on his nose, it is all significant of the fact that he is no longer a spring chicken.

The leading newspaper men of the United States have strongly petitioned President Roosevelt to attack the paper trust, which is oppressing every newspaper in the country by reason of excessive and unwarranted prices. All the newspapers in this county have been forced to raise the price of subscription, and other papers in the state have already raised their rates or are about to do so. The movement is general all over the United States. The writer remembers when the price of country papers in Oregon was $2.50 a year.

Prof. Edward Kirkwood, a graduate of Pacific University, who has been at the head of the botanical department of Syracuse University, has been sent to South America, as an expert, by a large Eastern rubber concern. Kirkwood was born in this state.
