

PREMATURE BLAST INJURES W. PORTUGUE

Is Hurlled in the Air a Distance of Fifteen Feet

FACE AND HANDS BADLY MANGLED

Physician Thinks Portogue Will Get Well

Wm. Portogue, who handles the explosives at the Tom Goodin rock quarry, at Cedar Mill, met with an accident Monday evening, which, under ordinary circumstances, would have killed him outright. He had drilled a hole about six feet deep into the quarry, and was tamping the fourth stick of powder when a premature blast occurred, hoisting the man, together with a large piece of rock upon which he was standing, at least 15 feet in the air. Portogue came down in a heap, but without a broken limb, and without even losing consciousness. He arose and walked some distance, to the surprise of Mr. Goodin and others who saw the accident and hastened to his assistance. Dr. Tamsieie was phoned for, and found that Portogue's eyes were badly hurt, and his face and hands badly lacerated by pieces of rock. His wounds were dressed, and the doctor thinks he will get well, provided he recovers from the shock of the explosion. Dr. Tamsieie says Portogue has plenty of nerve. The worst injury is to the man's eyes. The rock upon which he stood was lifted into the air with him, which fact probably saved his life.

WM. BAGLEY SR. BADLY HURT

Wm. Bagley Sr. was severely hurt, at his ranch north of Hillsboro, last Sunday evening. He was standing near the door of his barn, while one of the men employed about the place drove some horses out. One of the animals, a big draft horse, ran against Mr. Bagley, throwing him down and stepping upon his chest as it passed over him. Mr. Bagley was assisted to the house, and Dr. Tamsieie summoned, who found his patient suffering from hemorrhage of the lungs and throat. The only thing to be feared in the case is pneumonia, but if that does not develop, Mr. Bagley will get along all right. His many friends hope for his speedy recovery.

BEAVERTON LOCAL INSTITUTE

A local institute was held at Beaverton, last Saturday, under the direction of County Superintendent Case, which was well attended. Prof. Stanley, of the Portland schools, was invited to talk on the subject of "How to Read." In order to more forcibly illustrate the matter, Prof. Stanley asked one of his teachers, Miss Warden, to take six of her pupils along to give a practical demonstration. One of the children selected, a little Russian girl, was found by the janitor of the Highland school, early Saturday morning, fast asleep on the doorstep of the building, where she had been all night, in order that she might not miss the excursion to Beaverton. She was very poorly clad in an old red calico dress, and the fact of her all-night wait on the school house steps in her determination not to miss the event, made her the center of attraction. The child is only six years old, and her parents cannot read English, hence did not understand the message sent them, asking that the child might go on the trip. The program of the institute at the morning session included "Primary Reading," by Miss Warden; "Arithmetic," by Professor Ball, of Couch school, Portland. In the afternoon, Prof. Stanley talked on "Grammar." Prof. F. F. Ball demonstrated "Methods of Teaching." "Spelling" was the subject discussed by Miss E. A. Downing, of Progress school. Prof. Y. C. Yenney gave an interesting talk on "School Sanitation."

FRED LARSON DIES IN NEIGHBOR'S SHED

Had Been Drinking Heavily for Several Days

LEAVES A FAMILY IN NORWAY

Coroner Brown Held an Inquest Tuesday Night

Fred Larson, a Swede, was found dead in the woodshed of a neighbor, named S. Hogan, on Tuesday afternoon, near Sherwood. Mrs. Hogan first noticed Larson lying in the woodshed about 9 o'clock, and knowing that he had been drinking for some time, and paid little attention to the matter. Leaving the premises, she returned at about 11 o'clock, and found Larson dead. She notified the neighbors, who related the matter to Coroner Brown, who went down to Sherwood Tuesday evening, and held an inquest. The inquest developed the fact that Larson had been drinking heavily for some days, and the jury returned a verdict that "he came to his death from natural causes, as a result of the excessive use of alcohol and tobacco." Larson was in the habit of going to Hogan's for milk. He was a native of Sweden, and aged 53 years, and had lived in the vicinity of Sherwood for about 5 years. He bought a ten acre tract near 3 years ago. He had no relatives in this country, but is said to have had a divorced wife and two daughters in Sweden. He was well liked by his neighbors, and was a hard worker.

The coroner's jury was composed of the following named persons: G. R. Adams, C. O. Larsen, C. W. Ellison, Samuel Hogan, C. E. Smith and Henry Hull.

JOS. CAMPBELL MAKES A SLOW GUN PLAY

Resists Arrest and now Faces Serious Charge

HALF CRAZED BY FAMILY TROUBLE

Drew gun on Deputy Quick one day Last Week

Joseph Campbell now occupies a cell in the county jail, with a serious charge facing him, and a possibility of others to follow. Some time ago, Campbell's wife secured a divorce from him, and the Court, among other things, awarded to the wife a sewing machine, which Deputy Emmett Quick attempted to take from the premises one day last week. Campbell ordered Quick to get out, and drew a gun on him, and the latter being unarmed, withdrew. Monday, a warrant was sworn out charging Campbell with "pointing a firearm at another," and Deputies Kane and Downs went up to arrest him. They found him at his home, on upper Galee Creek, and after knocking at the door several times, opened it and went in, where they found Campbell behind the door. He was in a bad mood, and after some conversation, made as if to draw a gun, but Kane was too quick for him and covered him with a weapon, and ordered "hands up." Downs then seized the man's gun hand, while Kane reached around and secured the gun, which was a six shooter, fully loaded. He was then handcuffed, and brought to town. On the road, he said to Kane, "I wish you had shot me." Campbell is half crazed over family trouble, and in addition to his revolver, he had on his person a pair of brass knuckles and two pocket knives. He was arraigned before Justice H. T. Bagley, Monday afternoon, for preliminary examination, and pleaded not guilty, and was remanded to jail. He was formally arraigned today, and placed under $500 bonds to answer to the next term of Circuit Court.

General Manager Guy Talbot and Chief Engineer Turner of the Oregon Electric line were in town Tuesday, and spent a portion of the day looking around town. It was learned that it is the intention of the Company to apply for a franchise to build through town, at the next meeting of the city council, which occurs next Tuesday night. It is also reported that the Company will build a brick sub-station somewhere in the eastern part of the town. It is not known what streets will be given the Company, nor which ones it really prefers. But it is rumored that both Main and Baseline streets are under consideration. The officials were in consultation with property owners in town, with a view to securing present terminal facilities, but it is not known that any definite arrangements were made. The officials say the road will be pushed to completion as fast as men and means can do it.

S. A. D. Meek and his three sons start for Champeau, Marion county, tomorrow morning, to be present at the celebration of the anniversary of the organization of the Provisional Government of Oregon Territory, which occurs Saturday. The hero of the event was Mr. Meek's father, Col. Jos. L. Meek, whose prompt action in declaring that Oregon ought to become a Territory of the United States, saved this from falling into the hands of Great Britain. Just at this time, it is fitting to remark that Mr. Meek is a candidate for election to the Oregon Legislature, on the republican ticket, and should be elected.

A Portland paper is authority for the statement that Mrs. Lucy Jory, the one-armed woman, who was recently arrested in Portland for bigamy, was married to a man named Edmondson, in Hillsboro, March 21st, 1908. A search of the records at the Court House, shows that no such marriage under the names given by the Portland paper, took place here, nor does anyone remember any "one-armed woman" who lived in this place by the name of either Jory or Edmondson, thus the Hillsboro end of the story would seem to be a fake.
