NEW DEPOT GOES ON FIRST STREET

Negotiations Pending for Part of R. H. Greer Property

MATTER UP TO EASTERN DIRECTORS

Best situated by Council, Long & Imbrie of this City

The site of the new Hillsboro Oregon Electric depot is as good as settled. It will comprise 263 feet on the south side of the R. H. Greer property on First and Washington streets, and an additional tract on Washington, for which negotiations are pending with the heirs of the late Congressman Tongue, will, when effected, give the Company a tract fronting on Washington west from First, a distance of 318 feet, which will comprise all the frontage on Washington to the P. R. & N. tract. Mr. Greer still retains enough of his tract to make room for his residence, which will be moved north about 75 feet.

The location of the depot building on First and Washington will have a tendency to bring business in that direction. The court house will always be the center of business in Hillsboro. And now, that the Tongue tracts are accessible, by reason of the Electric line passing through them, the residence part of the city will extend more to the west. It is said that the Electric Company will build a modern and commodious depot structure, just as soon as the directors in the East can pass upon the deal, which will be soon.

Frightened at the incoming train late Saturday afternoon, a livery team, attached to one of the hotel buses, dashed through a narrow space between two freight cars, and started on a mad run up town, leaving the vehicle and a portion of the harness at the depot. One of the crazy animals was knocked down with a stick by Edmond Cornelius, near the postoffice, and the other near the postoffice, and the other near the postoffice. People on the streets were in some danger of being run over by the excited brutes. The principal damage was to the harness.

NO ACTION TAKEN ON THE SYKES BID

Council Powerless to Grant the Franchise Asked

MATTER IS UP TO THE PEOPLE

Will Come up at the Municipal Election in December

The city council met Thursday night, and opened the bid of F. G. Sykes, of Portland, who offered $25,000 for the city water and light plant, provided the council will give a 25 year franchise. No action was taken on the bid for the reason that the council could not deliver the plant to a purchaser on the above terms, without first receiving sanction from the people of the city, a majority of whose votes will be necessary to enable the council to extend the franchise to a period of 25 years. Sixty days notice must be given, prior to the annual city election, before the matter can be voted on. The requisite notice will be given, and then it will be up to the people to say whether they will empower the council. The charter, as at present constituted, does not give the required authority.

The frost played havoc with the crops at the Bagley ranch, north of town, where experiments with summer irrigation were being conducted under the supervision of the Department of Agriculture's agent, A. P. Stover. The corn and various other crops were practically ruined by the frost, and in the case of the corn, when another two weeks would have matured it. Geo. R. Bagley, who is one of the owners of the ranch, feels very much aggrieved over this uncalculated prank of the weather. He wanted to see how big "Jumbo" pumpkins would grow on irrigated land, but the experiment will have to be carried over to next season.

SHALL STOCK RUN IN THE MOUNTAINS?

Precinct Elections to be Held in Buxton, Gales, Mountain

ATTORNEY GENERAL GIVES OPINION

But Clerk Bailey Will Put Question on the Ballots in Washington County

Several precincts in this county want to be allowed to vote on the question of stock running at large, separately. At the general election, a majority of the legal voters decided that all stock must not be allowed to run at large. This worked a great damage to sparsely settled districts, where the mountain ranges are close, and no damage would ensue from cattle grazing upon large areas of vacant land. Recently, Clerk Bailey wrote to the Attorney General of the state asking for an opinion as to the legality of placing the question, as petitioned for by the several precincts, on the November ballots. The Attorney General decided that it could not legally be done. Mr. Bailey, however, claims he has enough precedents to warrant him in going ahead and putting the question on the ballots, and will do so. He says Judge Moore's decision, which claims a presidential election is not a special election, entitles him to proceed as at the June election. Four years ago, this county voted on the prohibition question at the presidential election, which is another precedent, cited by Mr. Bailey.

Judge Goodin, of Hillsboro, in answering the invitation to attend the good roads meeting at Tillamook held Sept. 4, had the following to say concerning the good roads movement in this county:

"The subject of good roads is the paramount issue with us in Washington county and at no time before has the popular demand for first class macadam roads been so great with us. "The good roads meetings throughout the state should demand of our legislature an appropriation to aid the counties in this permanent road building and to place the work under state supervision. "In regard to the road by way of Wilson river from this county to Tillamook I can assure you that this county will cooperate with you in any improvements necessary."—Tillamook Herald.

There is ground for the belief that Hillsboro will be in the baseball game next season. Already, there is considerable talk about organizing a league to be composed of clubs from Washington, Yamhill and Multnomah counties. The main thing needed here is a good ground, and enough money to fence and improve it, and last, but not least, a man of "ginger" and experience to manage the local club. Fans here believe they have found the man to manage the club in the person of E. L. Moore, of the Hillsboro Steam Laundry, if he can be induced to take hold. He has had experience in handling clubs in the East, and is himself a good player. The Argus hopes to see Hillsboro on the baseball map next season, good and strong.

The body of August Larouge, one of the boys who was drowned in the Nehalem, last fall, while on a hunting trip, was found this week near the mouth of Salmonberry. The body of young Mellis, his companion, was found about 6 months ago. The two boys left Portland a year ago, this fall, and it is supposed that they undertook to ride down the river in a boat which upset and caused them to drown. A dog, which accompanied them appeared at the home of one of the boys some weeks after they left Portland. The finding of Larouge's body clears up the mystery of their disappearance.

We open our own oysters, therefore, they are always fresh. Give us your orders at Palmateer's confectionery.

SEWERAGE PROBLEM SOLVED BY SEPTIC TANK

Scientifically Constructed, the Appliance Cares for all Household Waste, Preventing Danger to Health or Offensive Odor

The above diagram illustrates the most approved type of Septic Tank. A problem that has long confronted those desiring to install modern plumbing in localities without an adequate sewerage system has been how best to dispose of household waste without danger to health. Science has come to the rescue and, by employing the destructive agents provided by nature herself, has solved the problem. It has long been known that under favorable conditions certain bacteria will destroy the offensive elements contained in household waste, leaving a residue chemically pure, which may be easily disposed of. Experience has proven the above type of tank best suited to the purpose, in that it prevents disturbance of the bacteria, which is essential to enable them to properly perform their work. Many tanks of other types have proven failures because their construction was such as to permit the entrance of air and light. When built of cement, unless the material is of the best, surface water will seep into the tank, and this with the constant flush of water from the house will prevent the bacteria from performing their work. In the tank shown above the three-chamber device prevents this disturbance, and being constructed of the best quality of tile, leakage is impossible.

Parties contemplating building or wishing to install modern plumbing in residences already erected are invited to investigate. Estimates cheerfully furnished.
