

TWO MEN SHOT ON MAIN STREET OF CITY

Accidental Discharge Wounds L. E. Shute and A. J. Roberts

GUN IN HANDS OF RAY TAYLOR

Shot From the gun Severs Artery in the Side of Shute's Head

Just at noon, Tuesday, Ray Taylor, of this city, who had just returned from a hunting trip after China pheasants, attempted to eject the shells from his shotgun, when one of the cartridges was discharged. He was standing at a side door of the Tualatin hotel, at the time, and the load of No. 7 bird shot struck L. E. Shute, of East Hillsboro, and A. J. Roberts, of West Union, who were conversing in front of the Main Street livery stable. Shute received about 50 shots, not all of which penetrated his body, and Roberts was shot through the cartilage of the nose. One of the shot went through Shute's right ear and plowed through the side of the head, severing a small artery, causing him to bleed profusely. Another shot entered his leg. Shute threw up his hands, and staggered toward the livery stable, when assistance was rendered by bystanders, and he was taken to Dr. F. A. Bailey's office, where many of the shots were extracted and the wound on the head dressed. After being shot, Shute vomited freely, and the Dr. is not sure that some of the shot did not enter the abdominal cavity. Shute is at his home, and at last accounts was suffering considerable pain. Some of the shot which entered his legs went too deep to be extracted, but Dr. Bailey thinks his patient will get along all right, unless blood poisoning should set in. Roberts is all right. Had the men been facing the gun, the result might have been more serious. Taylor had a pump gun, and the shells had become wedged, and it was while trying to get the shell out, that the accident occurred. Taylor regrets the result of the accident, but there is a strong sentiment of censure over the matter, the majority sentiment being that the gun should have been pointed in some other direction, than toward a business street.

MESSINGER-VOSE

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Messinger, of Laurel, Sunday, September 27, 1908, at High Noon, when their daughter, Anna, was united in marriage with Mr. R. A. Vose, of Multnomah county, Rev. Benham, of Portland, officiating. The house was beautifully decorated with evergreens and cut flowers. The bride wore a gown of white silk, and carried a bouquet of white carnations, the veil being held in place by a wreath of orange blossoms. She was attended by Miss Mildred Vose, of Beaverton, and Mr. Clarence McCoy, of Hood River, acted as best man. The wedding march was played by Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Yergan, of Laurel. After the ceremony, the company departed for a splendid lunch. The happy young couple departed that evening for their future home at Cleone, Oregon, where the groom holds a position as principal in the Cleone schools. Mr. and Mrs. Vose were the recipients of many useful and valuable presents.

Mr. Schulmerich thinks the time is now ripe for such an organization, and calls upon all persons who may be interested, to be present on the above named date. The Argus heartily seconds the call.

Fred Stoffer, of Bethany, aged 17, while going through the woods near his father's place, last Sunday, was suddenly struck with a hail of fine shot, two of the pellets striking between the left eyebrow and nose, the left ear and throat, and other parts of the body. Young Stoffer did not see the man who fired the shot, but thinks it was a Portland shot, but he thinks it was a Portland shot, but he thinks it was a Portland shot, but he thinks it was a Portland shot.

I. D. Chappell, the Hillsboro turfman, returned home yesterday, for a day or two. His racers, Iowa Boy, Bushnell King, Bamford Boy and Dr. Ullman are at Puyallup, Wash., this week, where Mr. Chappell expects to take some of the racing on every event on the programme in class. Iowa Boy on this occasion stepped a half mile in 1:02 1/2, which is considered a good performance. About two weeks of performing yet remain, when the Chappell string will be returned to Hillsboro, for the winter. Mr. Chappell will clean up about $5,000, this season.

GANG HORSE THIEVES IN THREE COUNTIES

Washington, Yamhill and Tillamook Are Thus Infested

DR. F. A. BAILEY MARE RECOVERED

An Italian is in Jail Accused of Stealing Mare and Buggy

It has been suspected for some time by the authorities, that there is an organized gang of horse thieves operating in Washington, Yamhill and Tillamook counties. Within the year several horses have been stolen in this county, Yamhill and Tillamook counties, seem also to have had their share of such robberies. Some time ago, a mare belonging to Dr. F. A. Bailey, and a buggy and harness owned by Mr. VanLum, who lives on the Dr.'s farm, west of town, were stolen, and for several weeks nothing was heard of the animal. The other day, Mr. Linn, who lives on a part of the old W. R. Jackson place, northeast of town, found the Bailey mare wandering about on the right of way of the Oregon Electric, and returned her to the owner. The buggy has not yet been accounted for. An Italian, named Orino, employed on the Oregon Electric is now in the county jail, and suspicion points to him as being the guilty party, although he says he can prove an alibi.

LIEUT. JOHN STACK

Lieutenant John Stack, a pioneer of Oregon and California, died Sept. 16, 1908, at Fern Leaf Fruit Farm, near Hillsboro, Washington county, Oregon, where he was visiting his daughter, Mrs. R. S. Alexander. He was born in Waterford county, Ireland, May 4, 1831, and came to America in 1851, and after spending four years in Vermont, went to Wisconsin, and at the second call for volunteers, he enlisted in Company I, 20th Wisconsin Infantry, serving until the close of the war. Lieutenant Stack took part in twenty-nine battles, the principal ones being the siege of Vicksburg and the battle of Mobile Bay. He was mustered out at Madison, August, 1865. Shortly afterwards he removed with his family to Edgar Springs, Missouri, where he served as postmaster and justice of the peace. After five years, he returned to Wisconsin, remaining until 1875, going thence to California, and later to Oregon. He was a resident of Baker City for sixteen years, where he was a member of Joe Hooker Post, No. 12, being chaplain of that body at the time of his departure to California in 1891. He was a resident of San Francisco at the time of the great earthquake and fire, returning to Oregon in May, 1908, remaining at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. R. S. Alexander, until the time of his death. Mr. Stack was ill but two days, and passed away quietly in the presence of his wife and several members of the family. The funeral was held in Portland at the Cathedral, Rev. Father DeLoraine officiating. Members of Geo. Wright Post No. 1, acted as pall bearers, and interment was at Mt. Calvary cemetery.

The surviving members of his family are his wife, Mrs. Helen M. Stack, of San Francisco; Miss Helen M. Stack, of Baker City; Mrs. L. G. Durkee, of Sumpter; Mrs. Isador Fuchs, of near Hillsboro; Mrs. R. S. Alexander, of near Hillsboro; John Stack, of Phoenix, Arizona; E. J. Stack, of Portland; M. E. Stack, Selma, Cal.; Wm. J. Stack, London, England; and Mrs. Royal McNece, of Berkeley, Cal.

KNIFE AND AXE USED IN A BLOODY FIGHT

Wm. H. Adams Fells E. V. Galloway With an axe

GALLOWAY CUTS ADAMS' FACE

Beaverton Man is now in a Portland Hospital

E. V. Galloway, a Beaverton farmer, lies in a Portland hospital, with a deep wound across the face from a double bitted axe, in the hands of Wm. H. Adams, of near Mountaine, and Adams bears the marks of a knife wound upon his own face.

Galloway had gone to Adams' place, last Thursday afternoon, to see about renting the latter's farm, and with him was another Beaverton man, named Miller. Adams invited the men to stay all night, which they did. As the evening wore on, the men drank freely of wine, and soon Adams and his guest became involved in a quarrel about the farm. Miller, in the meantime, retired to bed. Soon afterwards, according to Adams, Galloway struck him on the face with a knife, when he seized a double-bitted axe, and dealt his opponent a blow with the weapon, felling him to the floor, and cutting a deep gash in Galloway's head. The wound extended from the right temple underneath the eye, almost severing the nose from the face, to the opposite cheek. As the old man fell to the floor, Miller got up and came out, and notified the neighbors, who sent for Dr. W. D. Wood, and Adams spent the remainder of the night at the residence of a neighbor, named Uglow.

Adams was arrested the next day by Sheriff Hancock, and lodged in the county jail. Galloway was taken to a Portland hospital, where he now lies. Adams claims that Galloway first attacked him with a pocket knife, and that he used the axe in self defense. Galloway says the story, as related by Adams, but denies that he struck the first blow. Galloway is 67 years old, and has a wife at Beaverton, and a daughter, Mrs. Nashley, in Portland. Adams is aged 55 years, and is well known in this and Columbia county, his father being a pioneer of the Nehalem valley, near Pebble Creek. Adams stoutly maintains that he acted in self defense, and aside from the contention, he regrets that the affair took place.

Adams was admitted to bail in the sum of $500, by Judge J. W. Goodin, Tuesday, and has gone back to his Mountaine ranch. The condition of the Beaverton man is said to be improving, and it is thought he will recover, unless blood poison should set in.

United States Senator C. W. Ful ton spoke at Forest Grove, last night to a crowded house, and every mention of Taft's name evoked great applause. Mrs. McEldowney, a local singer of note, rendered selections, prior to the speech.

F. C. Ballard and Edmond Cornelius have formed a co-partnership in the real estate business, in this city.

The ladies of the Christian church of Farmington will give a program and basket social on Saturday evening, October 10th. All are cordially invited to attend. Ladies please bring baskets. 28-0

Miss Wilma Waggener returned to her duties as teacher in the conservatory of music, in McMinnville college, last Sunday, after a short visit with relatives in this city. Ex-Sheriff John W. Connell last Friday bought two milking machines for his dairy ranch four miles north of this city. These are the first milking machines ever brought into the county. Washington milks more cows than any other section of like area in the Pacific Northwest, and dairymen are striving to get the cost of furnishing milk to condensers reduced as much as possible.

Republican club meets Saturday night at Court house.

Fred D. Walton, of Cornelius, who was mangled by the machinery of a wood saw, two weeks ago, is up and around. His arm was taken off just below the shoulder, soon after the accident, by Dr. Tamiesie, Dr. Wood assisting.

When in town, call and try our hot coffee and cocoa, and don't forget the lunch, at Palmateer's Confectionery.—L. J. Palmateer, prop.

The Rev. C. A. Mook, Ph. D., President of Dallas College, will preach at the United Evangelical church next Sunday, both morning and evening. All are cordially invited to hear him.

Mr. Koontz was thrown out, and received numerous bruises, besides serious injuries of the spine and shoulders. Dr. F. A. Bailey attended the injured man and thinks he will recover all right.

Last Monday evening, as Herman Glaskie, of near Bethany, was in the act of hanging up his shot gun in the kitchen, the weapon was accidentally discharged, blowing off part of his left hand. Two children, who were playfully hanging to Glaskie's coat, began to scream, and for a moment, he thought they too, had been shot, but when the smoke cleared away, he found that he alone was hurt. Mr. Glaskie is a loss to account for the accident, as the gun was not cocked, when he started to hang it up. The wounded hand was badly powder burned. Dr. Linklater attended to the injured man.

For lunches, hot and cold drinks, or a choice cocktail, call on Palmateer's confectionery.
